

Air Pollution Law Heads for Knowles' Desk

Bill Gives State
Control on Fight

MADISON (AP)—Wisconsin's new war on air pollution cleared the Legislature today.

The Senate, by a voice vote, agreed with a minor Assembly change in the measure and forwarded it to Gov. Warren P. Knowles for signature into law.

The bill grants sweeping powers to the Department of Resource Development to attack pollution on land, in the water and in the air.

The department, which already runs the war on water pollution, will be given additional powers to set rules for location and operation of junkyards, garbage dumps and incinerators.

It will have authority to hand down rules to control automobile and truck exhaust fumes if it chooses.

The change accepted by the Senate makes it mandatory for the department to classify sources of air contamination. The bill already gave the agency power to review construction plans of any public or private project that might contribute to air pollution.

The Senate had passed the measure earlier 28-4 and the Assembly approved it 97-2.

The Republican proposal carries a $229,700 price tag for the first two years with most of the money to be used for study and salaries.

Mobile Negro Hurt Slightly In Bombing

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — The home of J. L. LeFlore, 62, was shattered by an explosion early today, but the Negro leader suffered only a slight cut over his eye.

It was the third incident aimed at LeFlore.

"They never notify you when they plan something like this," he said. "I expect things like this, but I had relaxed. This caught me completely off guard."

Police Lt. Donald Riddle said the blast, which knocked the six-room frame house off its foundation and left a hole about two feet deep and three feet across, occurred about 1:20 a.m.

Police, who were hoping to obtain clues from car tracks across a nearby vacant lot, said there was a typical odor of dynamite at the scene.

LeFlore said he was sleeping in a middle bedroom on the opposite side of the house from where the explosion was set.

"If they had put it on the other side, it would have gotten me," he said.

Shot Missed

The retired postal employee said a bomb had been placed alongside his home—in which he has lived with his wife, 60, for 40 years—in 1959 but the fuse burned out. A shot was fired into the house in 1964, but it did not hit anyone, he said.

Asked why someone had bombed his home, LeFlore said, "They must be warped in their beliefs." He said there had been no incidents other than that he had filed a complaint with the Justice Department concerning the fatal shooting of a Negro man by a police officer at Jackson, Ala., about 65 miles north of Mobile.

Buffalo Police Clash With Rioting Negroes

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Police armed with tear gas and riot guns patrolled a large section of a predominantly Negro section of Buffalo today after an outbreak of fires, vandalism and looting.

Police said at least 15 persons were arrested and seven injured.

Stones and bricks were thrown at buses and automobiles, police said, and some gasoline bombs were tossed into business places.

More of Jerusalem Under Israel Control

Two Sectors

JERUSALEM (AP) — Apparently moving toward annexation of the Old City of Jerusalem, the Israeli Parliament approved legislation Monday night unifying municipal services in both sectors of the formerly divided city.

Israel wrested the Old City from Jordan during the Middle East war, and government leaders have made it clear they would not give it up. Jordan seized the Old City in the 1948 Palestine war.

The Knesset, Israel's parliament, also gave overwhelming approval to a bill promising protection to both Christian and Moslem holy sites in the Old City and in nearby Bethlehem, including the Church of the Holy Sepulchre and the Church of the Nativity, both in occupied parts of Jordan.

Three Communist members cast the only votes against the two measures.

Already Connected

The municipal law joins the water and electrical services in both sectors. A spokesman said houses in the Old City are already connected to the Israeli water system and electric services are functioning. Israel is supplying 60 per cent of the water for the Old City. The balance comes from the former Jordanian sector.

A Foreign Ministry spokesman said before the Arab-Israeli war, inhabitants of the Old City could draw water only two days a week. Now they have water 24 hours a day.

Israeli Jerusalem is preparing to furnish the Old City with education, welfare and health services which previously were handled by voluntary organizations. Postal services are about to be resumed, and a spokesman said food supplies are moving and garbage is being collected again.

"The basic purpose of the municipal fusion law," the spokesman said, "is to ensure full municipal and social services to all inhabitants of the city for which Israeli authorities are now responsible, so that there should be no social inequality and legal differences in respect to services, welfare, education, etc."

The Israeli government also planned to introduce its own currency in the Old City today to replace the Jordan dinar. The changeover does not apply to other parts of Jordan occupied by Israel.

$358 Billion Limit

Senate Approves New Debt Ceiling

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress has sent to the White House for President Johnson's signature a bill to raise the national debt limit on Saturday to $358 billion, highest ceiling in history.

The measure, which Johnson asked for and is certain to sign into law by Friday — when the current $336 billion temporary ceiling expires — would raise the limit another $7 billion to $365 billion on July 1, 1968.

The Senate cleared the legislation to the White House late Tuesday on a 60-30 vote after an afternoon of debate in which administration forces narrowly beat off several amendments. Had any of these been adopted, the bill would have been forced into conference with the House, causing uncertainty as to whether it could have gone to Johnson before Congress begins its 10-day July 4th recess Thursday.

The measure will bring an immediate $22 billion increase in the debt ceiling.

The temporary $336 billion limit expires Friday midnight. Without the bill, the ceiling would revert on Saturday to the permanent debt limit of $285 billion, established in 1959.

This would mean the government would be insolvent, since the actual debt will be an estimated $327 billion as of Saturday.

U.S., U.S.S.R.
Prepare Plan
For Geneva

UNITED STATES (AP) — The United States and the Soviet Union plan to submit to the Geneva Disarmament Conference shortly a joint proposal for a treaty to curb the spread of nuclear weapons.

When the treaty draft goes before the 17-nation disarmament group, probably within the next few days, it may still be minus a provision for safeguards against violations.

U.S.-Soviet negotiators have been unable for months to agree on the safeguards, or inspection, clause. But U.S. diplomats are hopeful of reaching Big Two accord on this soon after submitting the proposed treaty at Geneva, if not by then.

This became known today following a dinner meeting Tuesday night between Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko at the headquarters of the Soviet U.N. mission.

Last Phase

The Rusk-Gromyko session, a followup to the conferences last weekend between President Johnson and Premier Alexei N. Kosygin, apparently finished the last phase of the summitry of Glassboro, N.J., the site of the Johnson-Kosygin parleys.

Rusk had no further appointments with Gromyko scheduled. He arranged to return to Washington to report to the Senate.

Neenah Youth Killed in Crash; 2 Others Hurt

3 Companions Were Returning From Teen-Age Beer Bar

NEENAH — A 19-year-old Neenah youth was killed and his two companions critically injured Tuesday night when their car slammed into a parked station wagon on S. Commercial Street.

The victim was Steven Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Howard Smith, 126 Lawe St.

Police said the youths were returning from a teen-age beer bar in the Town of Vinland. Evidence at the scene indicated the automobile, owned and believed to have been driven by Smith, was traveling at a high rate of speed, police said.

Listed in critical condition at Theda Clark Memorial Hospital this morning were Thomas Kellogg, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Kellogg, 505 E. Wisconsin Ave., Neenah, and James Smith, 18, son of Mrs. Ray Offenbech, 621 E. Cecil St., Neenah.

Smith died instantly from severe head injuries. Winnebago County Coroner Art C. Miller said.

The accident occurred shortly before 11 p.m.

Reconstructing the accident, police said the Smith car was traveling north in the 1300 block of South Commercial Street and struck the rear of a parked station wagon owned by Earl E. Zachow, 1887 Susan Ave., Neenah, which was parked just north of 1348 South Commercial.

The station wagon was pushed about 61 feet into the rear of a parked car owned by Frederick Kuchenbecker Smith's car then skidded on the wet pavement across the street and struck a tree opposite the Eagles Club, spun around and came to rest in the middle of Commercial Street, 186 feet from the first point of impact.

James Smith and Kellogg were found on the west side of Commercial Street, about 22 feet from the point of impact with the tree.

The body of Steven Smith was found on the east side of Commercial Street, south of the Eagles Club, reportedly, under a parked car.

Hospital authorities reported James Smith and Kellogg still in critical condition this morning.

Worker Loses $1,800

The Sun Also Sets

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—For six years, Volume Dingle made a living pouring asphalt under the hot Miami sun.

He pinched his pennies and dreamed of the day when he would have a down payment on a house that would take him out of a Negro slum.

Every week, Dingle salted away $6 in a deposit box at the post office. In six years it added up to $1,800.

Dingle took the money home Monday and told a real estate company to send a man out. But the agent couldn't come until Tuesday, so Dingle put the money in a pair of old work pants and hid them in his room before going to work.

Ready to move to the new home, Dingle's wife cleaned house for the last time. She found the old pants and threw them on the trash heap.

When Dingle got home and heard what had happened, he rushed outside. The trash had been removed.

He searched the trash truck and the dump, talked to the truck driver. No pants. Authorities believe they probably were burned.

Tuesday was supposed to be moving day. For Dingle it was just another day of work, pouring asphalt under the hot sun.

Appleton Soldier Killed in Vietnam

Dies While on Combat Mission

The family of Dennis J. Adamski, 20, has been notified by the Defense Department that their son was killed in recent combat action in Vietnam.

Spec. 4 Adamski died June 20 of wounds sustained while on a mission, a family member said.

Adamski was assigned to an Army engineer unit. Further details were unavailable. He was a 1965 graduate of Appleton High School. Funeral arrangements are pending at Valley Funeral Home, Appleton.

Already Rebuffed Safety Measures

Assembly Debates Road Bill

MADISON (AP) — Gov. Warren P. Knowles' highway safety package, pelted with criticism by piqued lawmakers for weeks, was slated to meet its crucial tests today in the Assembly.

The debate on the governor's program appeared anti-climatic after the Assembly earlier had solidly rebuffed both of the key provisions in it.

The implied consent section, requiring intoxication tests for arrested drunken drivers, was rejected Monday when proposed as a substitute for a separate bill considered much weaker than recommended by the governor.

Knowles' request for a uniform minimum blood drinking age at 21 was twice trounced last week in action on another separate bill. The Assembly endorsed a measure seeking to establish minimum uniformity at 19, although several of its sponsors were uncertain if their goal would be achieved.

Knowles issued a statement on the eve of the scheduled debate that said he was "sympathetic with the sincere disagreements" among assemblymen to his broad-based approach to curbing highway deaths.

"But differences of opinion notwithstanding, the Legislature is not unaware of the strong public interest in the problem of traffic safety," the GOP governor said.

Rain Continues, Freckles Fading

Five-day Forecast — Temperature are expected to average about 5 degrees below the normal highs of 74 to 82 and normal lows of 52 to 62 Thursday through next Monday. Much cooler weather Thursday forecast at near one-half inch northwest and one-half to three-quarters of an inch southeast in frequent periods of showers Thursday through Sunday.

Appleton — Observations at 10 a.m. for the past 24 hours showed high, 79; low, 60 degrees; precipitation, .74 Barometer was 30.00 and steady; winds from east-southeast at 5 m.p.h.; humidity, 94; dew point, 57; skies cloudy.

Sun sets today at 8:42 p.m., rises tomorrow at 5:11 a.m. Moon rises tomorrow at 12:44 a.m.

"The controversy is not over the teen-agers' right to drink or the drunkards' right to drive," he said. "The point at issue is the individual Wisconsin citizen's right to live . . ."

The assemblymen have picked apart the governor's program since the Senate passed it 27-4 on May 25.

Besides their outspoken objections to the implied consent and beer age provisions, the assemblymen resented the lumping together of all of Knowles' safety programs in a single bill.

All But Concedes

Knowles all but conceded the Assembly fight to save the two proposals in a news conference Friday, when he said he saw "no way of achieving compromise" on them. But in his statement Tuesday, he said he still supported his complete plan.

"I am hopeful that the Legislature will ultimately implement a strong highway safety proposal that contains a meaningful implied consent provision and deals with uniformity of teen-age drinking," he said.

Drastic Assembly changes that the Senate would not accept probably would force the issue to be sent to a joint committee of both houses to work out a final agreement.

Police Free Men Believed to Have 'Aimed' at LBJ

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Two city employees who were arrested after one of them allegedly pointed a rifle at President Johnson's helicopter as it left here Tuesday were the victims of circumstances and have been released, police said.

The two, employees of the municipal garage, were arrested after three high school students reported seeing them standing in front of the garage with a rifle.

Secret Service agents questioned the men for several hours Tuesday and ordered their release after it was determined that one of the men had brought the gun to work so a fellow employee could repair it.

Police said it would not fire.

President Johnson was in Baltimore to address the 47th annual convention of the Junior Chamber of Commerce at the Civic Center.

650,000 Losers in Contract Dispute

Workers Won't Work, Many New Yorkers Don't Eat

By JEAN HELLER

NEW YORK (AP) — The young man and his wife sat on the wooden chairs in the sterile grey and green room and held hands. He was 22 and she was 18. They had been married four months. They were being evicted from their apartment and hadn't eaten in three days.

They were losers—two of the 650,000 persons on the city's welfare rolls.

This month many of them are losers—caught in the middle of a situation they didn't want, didn't cause and don't need.

It started 10 days ago when about 80 per cent of the Department of Welfare's case workers began refusing to do their assigned tasks in a demonstration to underscore a contract dispute with the city.

To avoid breaking a state law prohibiting strikes by public employees, they went to work but did no work, meeting in seminars instead.

A few days later, the city decided that if the case workers wanted to hold seminars, they could hold them just as well on the sidewalk, and permitted only those willing to perform "assigned work" to enter the welfare centers.

At some of the city's 33 centers, those willing to work under the specified conditions numbered only two or three of a normal staff of 100 or more. Supervisory personnel and office help were brought in to replace missing case workers.

It hasn't been enough. Welfare Department spokesmen say that the temporary setup has been sufficient to maintain at least emergency services.

Some doubt it.

"This is our third day here," the young husband said. "Each time we come about 10 in the morning and at 4 in the afternoon they give us carfare and tell us to come back tomorrow. They give us numbers to keep us in order. Today I got number 87. About 12:30 they called number 45. They haven't called another number since."

It was then 2 p.m.

"We owe 3½ weeks rent," the man said. "This morning the landlord told us he couldn't wait any more. They've got to help us today."

Outside, six members of the Social Service Employees Union marched back and forth.

"We feel awful about those people in there," said Michael McKain.

"But I'll quit before I go back in there if the city doesn't honor its promises to us," McKain declared.

The SSEU contract expired last Jan. 15. At that time, the contract dispute precipitated a three-day walkout that ended when the city said it would send the wage issue to fact-finding, open direct negotiations on "other issues" and later send still-unresolved problems to fact-finding.

Mayor John V. Lindsay has called the nonworking case workers "a small irresponsible group that caused trouble for everybody."

The city, through its director of labor relations, Herbert Haber, now says there are some issues which are "not bargainable"—demands by the union for control of what the city considers management prerogatives.

According to SSEU President Judith Mage, the city promised in January to allow fact-finders to decide what was bargainable and what was not and is therefore now going back on a promise.

One of the issues, she said, is whether the contract should provide for a fund to pay case workers full salary while they are recuperating from injuries sustained on the job. This, she said, the city has termed as unbargainable.

The union's action now threatens to spread to the city's three children's shelters, the institutions run to care for children whose mothers cannot be with them during the day.

One of the welfare recipients affected by the dispute says he couldn't care less which side is right or who will win. All he knows is that he is losing.

There was one man who had to plead with a policeman to put him on a subway free so he could ride 54 blocks to his center to sit all day and hope someone would give him money for a small dinner and train fare home.

No one did.

Another man had been waiting for a welfare check two weeks overdue. He had been living for two weeks on handouts from friends. Tuesday, he said, "I ran out of friends."

The administrators who have continued working, and the office people filling the gaps, are distressed by the dispute.

"What are you going to do?" one working administrator said. "My people aren't striking for money. They're out fighting for protection when they have to go into slum areas on field calls. They deserve the protection."

But 650,000 people also deserve to eat and sleep with a roof over their heads.

"This isn't a clear-cut issue. It's just a tragedy."

Kaukauna School District Delays Change; Ask Study

Seek Ways to Correct Budgeting Problems, Rural Representation

KAUKAUNA — A resolution to form a unified school district rather than continue with the present joint city district was tabled by the Kaukauna Council and representatives of other governmental units in the district at a special meeting Tuesday night, thus delaying any change in the present system for at least one year.

The vote was 11-2 to table the proposal for continued study. All townships and Little Chute were represented plus seven of the 10 city aldermen. Towns recording votes were Harrison, Buchanan, Woodville, Holland and Kaukauna.

Supt. Julian Bichler explained the advantages of the unified district, stressing the possibility of establishing a school budget to coincide with the school year.

Chilton Police Backed by Commission

Earlier Petition Had Requested Strict Traffic Control

CHILTON — The police and fire commission, after an executive session Tuesday, announced that it had resolved the recent complaints made against the police department.

Spokesman for the commission, City Atty. William Engler Jr., said the commission also voted unanimously to commend the department for "generally doing an outstanding job of maintaining law and order in the community." The department has the commission's solid support, it was indicated.

Criticized in Petition
The department was criticized at a recent city council meeting when W. Main Street residents, in a petition, complained of lack of traffic control on that stretch of the street which also is U.S. 151.

At the ensuing council session, Police Chief Dan Albedyll defended the police work and explained what had been done by way of checking speeding in the area.

He also said that if held to an arrest quota he would resign. At that time the council called for a meeting of the police and fire commission to air the issue.

Boys Tell Police They Were Beaten

Two 15-year-old Appleton boys, reported to police about 10:55 p.m. Monday that two older youths had attacked them in the 900 block of N. Superior St.

The boys said they were riding their bicycles when two boys about 20 years old got out of a station wagon and started to beat them.

They said a neighbor came out and chased the attackers away. When the car in which the two older youths were riding appeared again, the boys ran from the scene and called police.

Sherwood Man Fined $25 for Bad Check

Fred O. Wells, Sherwood, was fined $25 and costs or 12 days in jail Tuesday afternoon by Outagamie County Judge Gustave Keller for passing a worthless check.

Wells, who was not present, was represented by an attorney. He entered a plea of no contest and informed the court that restitution had been made for the $15 check which Wells cashed Feb. 6 at a northside Appleton hardware store.

Trial Set for Man on Unsafe Backing Charge

Trial has been set for 2 p.m. Sept. 21 for Daniel H. Boone, 27, 407 N. Oneida St., on a charge of unsafe backing.

Boone appeared Tuesday in Outagamie County Court, Branch 2, where he pleaded innocent. Bond was set at $40.

The Appleton man was stopped by Outagamie County sheriff's authorities June 16 on U. S. 10 in the Town of Dale.

rather than estimating the final months of a year. The board of education currently has the problem of working in two budget years while state department and auditing records are kept on the basis of a school year, he said.

He pointed out how deficits in the budget arose when expenditures ran higher than anticipated. He gave as an example this year's budget which estimated three more teachers would be needed. Transfers and new students coming into the district increased elementary enrollment by 156 more than was anticipated and at least seven and possibly 10 new teachers might be needed, he indicated.

Not Included
Salaries for these additional teachers are not included in the budget, thus a deficit could arise unless revenues are higher than anticipated to help offset the difference.

Town chairmen and some aldermen questioned the change which would not give them a voice in the budget although they could be represented at an annual budget hearing. Ald. Russell Dix, (4th), questioned whether the school board members would not expect added pay because of increased duties, but was told the salary was set by state law.

Ald. Richard Gerrits favored the change, indicating men of intelligence and integrity sat on the board of education, men dedicated to education, working for the welfare of the youngsters. He felt the change would make the school district more competitive for hiring teachers and permit better school operation.

State Report
Dix questioned whether the school board members would always be of such high calibre, but Gerrits asked what assurance there was that aldermen would be of the same calibre.

Municipal officials had been sent copies of a state Department of Public Instruction report compiled in 1961 showing the differences in school districts to permit advance study.

Favorable action was needed by July 1 to make the change effective in the 1967-68 school year. Officials were told all school building plans or bonding under a unified system would

Friday Is Deadline for Cashing Postal Savings

The Appleton Post Office is in the final stages of closing out its postal savings accounts before turning them over to the United States Treasury Department. Postmaster Francis Sumnitch announced Tuesday.

Currently, the Appleton Post Office has 22 deposits amounting to $8,943 in U.S. Postal Savings certificates. "Unless depositors cash their certificates at Appleton Post Office by Friday, payment will have to be sought from the Treasury Department," Sumnitch said.

At one time the local deposits were in excess of $1 million. Sumnitch urged depositors to close out accounts and invest their savings in United States Savings Bonds or the new Freedom Shares which now pay 4.74 per cent interest.

The Postal Savings system was discontinued by Congress March 28, 1966. As of April 27 of that year no more deposits were accepted.

require a referendum vote of the people, which often was harder to get approved than a council vote.

When outlying supervisors questioned representation on the board they were advised this was being studied although state law indicated school board members are elected at large. Anyone in the district may run for the school board, but since the city has the bulk of registered voters, persons from outside areas have little chance running against a city resident.

In the last election, two seats on the board were open. Lone candidates were city residents, so the entire 7-man board is composed of city residents. The board has been studying ways of getting rural representation for many months and under a unified system feels it could take action, but at present the matter is in the hands of the city officials, according to Bichler.

Summer Music Lessons Set for Village Pupils

KIMBERLY — Children in grades five through seven wishing summer band instruction are to contact Jerry Kaehr, band instructor in the public school system, for a lesson appointment, according to Kaehr.

Lessons for all children of the Combined Locks area will be given in the Janssen Elementary School music room. The director can be contacted any morning at the Kimberly Senior High School office where registrations will be accepted or additional information supplied.

Lessons are scheduled to start July 5 and will be continued for two weeks.

Two Found Guilty of Non-Support Charges

A Kaukauna and an Appleton man were sentenced to 3 months in jail each with possible Huber Law privileges Tuesday by Outagamie County Judge Gustave J. Keller after each was found guilty of non-support.

Earl Rudloff, 1428 W. Eighth St., pleaded no contest to the charge that he had failed to support his divorced wife, Linda Rudloff.

Thomas Breunig, 24, route 2, Kaukauna, pleaded guilty to the charge brought by his wife Marie.

"Certificates whose anniversary dates have been reached since last April 26 have earned their final interest payment," Sumnitch said.

Holders of certificates may arrange to redeem them simply by applying at the post office where the certificates were issued. The postmaster will provide the necessary forms and assist in cashing the certificates until Friday.

All transactions can be handled by mail and certificates issued to persons now deceased can be cashed by legal heirs in accordance with state laws.

After July 1, through June 30, 1968, holders of certificates will have to seek payment from the Treasury Department through the depository post office. After 14 days in jail Tuesday for that, payment will be made directly by the Treasury Department after it receives proper claims.

Kimberly Will Hire Assistant At High School

Principal's Aide To Eventually Head Elementary Addition

KIMBERLY — The board of education Monday night approved a new administrative position in the school district by authorizing Ray Hamann, superintendent of schools, to hire an assistant for the high school principal.

The assistant principal will relieve Darrell Larson of some administrative duties and at the same time begin working on the elementary curriculum, as it is felt he ultimately will serve as principal of the new elementary school being planned for construction at the western limits of the community.

Allows Time
Construction of the facility is expected in about two years and board members felt this would give adequate time for a new man to get acquainted with the school system and complete a review of curriculum. Assistance also is needed at the high school for the coming year when the new nine-period day is introduced, Hamann said.

The board approved salary increases, effective July 1, ranging from 5 to 10 per cent and averaging 7 per cent for the six clerks and three library clerks in the district. At the same time the board approved a classification system and pay-index code for clerks.

Although several of the clerk designations are not filled, they were included in anticipation of needs as the district continues to grow. The first bracket calls for elementary, senior high, junior high, library and teacher-clerks.

Second classification is junior and senior high principals' and elementary supervisors' secretaries and a data processing clerk. Third classification includes superintendent's secretary, business manager's secretary, bookkeeper and payroll clerk.

Salary Range
Salary range for the first group is from $2,882 to a high of $4,253 after five years; second group, $2,981 with a high of $4,580 after six years and the third group, $3,225 to a high of $5,689 after seven years.

The board also increased accumulative sick leave from 60 to 75 days for clerks and made the day before Christmas a holiday. A study on a central telephone switchboard for the school district was presented to Myron Huth, business manager, but action was delayed for one year when board members felt some changes in the system would make such a central board more feasible.

Approval was given to the formation of a third basketball squad and volleyball team at the high school. These groups would not compete in a regular conference, but would play teams from the Fox Valley area. Addition of the teams will permit more boys to participate in competition.

Six bids for light bulbs were received and low bid accepted from Verd-A-Ray Corp. with a price of $783. High bid was $943. Low bids were also accepted on 50 general supply items. Four firms shared in bids totaling $1,406.

8 Area Students Selected to Attend UW Music Clinic

Five high school students from Hortonville, two from Appleton and one from Kimberly were selected to attend the senior high school summer music clinic at the University of Wisconsin.

Selected from Hortonville were Bonnette Jack, route 1; Kathy Leitzke, route 1; David Riggles, route 1; Dolores Steffen, 539 N. Nash St., and Rebecca Ziegler, 203 N. Mill St. Appleton students include John Kurka, 1816 E. Pauline St., and Jerry Warning, route 1. The Kimberly student is Carol Lenz, 519 Margaret St.

The sessions are organized to give students experience in large and small music organizations with specialized training on individual instruments and voice along with classes in music. Students study fundamentals of music, music appreciation and conducting.

Universities Set Dates for School Year

Calendars List Registrations, Summer Sessions

Dates important to some 50,000 students and their parents have been announced by the nine Wisconsin State Universities, the board of regents office in Madison reports.

The official university calendars for the 1967-68 school year show that classes will start Sept. 6 at Whitewater, Sept. 7 at River Falls, Platteville, Stout (Menomonie) and at the branch campuses at Rice Lake and Richland Center, Sept. 8 at Superior, and Sept. 11 at Eau Claire, La Crosse, Oshkosh and Stevens Point.

A registration period will precede start of classes at each campus.

Thanksgiving recess will be from Nov. 22 or 23 to Nov. 26.

The Christmas and spring recess schedules are as follows:

Other Dates

Old-Fashioned Cures

Prove Wishful Thinking

BY JOSEPH MOLNER, M.D.
 Dear Dr. Molner: What is the best remedy for bladder trouble? Is there such a thing as "the old-fashioned treatments" our ancestors used and lived by? — V.M.E.

ing medicine men) were used for lack of anything that would really help. A lot of patent medicines were alcohol with some herbs to make them smell and taste like medicine. If a man could swallow enough of the mess, he could acquire enough rosy alcoholic glow to make him think he felt better, temporarily. Other nostrums didn't even do that. They just tasted bad.

The only sensible way to use medicine is to find out exactly what is wrong and then use a drug which specifically will correct it. Antibiotics for infections, insulin or other medication for diabetes, anticonvulsants for convulsive disorders, thyroid extracts for a slow thyroid gland, and so on.

These days it is rare if we don't have a dozen or more important discoveries (drugs, treatments or operations) in any single year, yet by the old trial-and-error methods of the past, it took centuries to sort out the handful of useful remedies, the few things like belladonna, digitalis, opium, ipecac and so on, from the welter of totally useless concoctions.

So now let's answer your appeal for a "remedy for bladder trouble." If the trouble is cystocele, surgery can repair it. If it is a tumor or polyps, they can be removed. If infection, antibiotics. Or the "bladder trouble" may really be diabetes.

causing frequency, or prostate disease, interfering with flow. No old-fashioned nostrums will correct any of them. But using the right treatment will. So far as that goes, the average person has scant way of knowing whether his "bladder trouble" is really that or is a kidney disturbance. I strongly recommend that you stop dreaming about home remedies and learn something about the way the kidneys and bladder actually work, and what types of trouble you should look out for. My booklet, "Your Kidneys: Facts You Need to Know About Them," will give you an intelligent background on how to protect yourself. Send 25 cents in coin and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Dr. Molner in care of this newspaper.

Short of cancer or overwhelming destruction of the kidneys by infection, most urinary disorders will yield to proper treatment — and so will the very serious ailments if diagnosed soon enough.

Dear Dr. Molner: Is it safe to use a magnifying glass for very fine print? We are an old couple who can read larger print without difficulty using our regular glasses. — B. C.

No reason why you shouldn't use a glass. Note to G. O.: Herpes zoster is another name for the common but most unpleasant ailment, shingles. From your description, I am not at all sure that is your trouble; have your doctor diagnose it.

wishful thinking. People dream of getting rich in a lottery, or having a rich uncle die, or inventing some gadget that will make a fortune.

We all know it isn't likely to happen and that the surer way to success is to work instead of wishing. But we still daydream some of the time.

The same thing applies to health. We like to kid ourselves into thinking maybe grandma really had a secret remedy that would cure bunions, boils and galloping consumption. We really know better, though.

2 Men Charged In Connection With Shooting

Men Gave Beer to Minor Shot During Seymour Incident

Two Green Bay men have been charged with procuring and furnishing beer to minors in connection with a vandalism-shooting incident Monday which resulted in a gunshot wound to a 17-year-old rural West De Pere youth.

Wayne J. Williquette, 18, and Robert Williquette, 24, pleaded guilty to the charges in Outagamie County Court Branch 2 late Tuesday afternoon and each was fined $100 and costs or 48 days in jail.

Condition Fair

Another youth involved in the incident, Robert Manders, 17, route 2, West De Pere is in St. Vincent Hospital, Green Bay, in fair condition.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Manders suffered a gunshot wound in the abdomen during an incident at the Gerald Nagel home, route 1, Seymour, about 1:30 a.m. Monday.

Wayne Williquette also was fined $100 and costs or 48 days in jail on a charge of criminal damage to property, resulting from the breaking of two glass windows at the Nagel home.

Involve Minors

Four minors were involved in the drinking charges, including Manders.

Nagel, 24, told Outagamie County Sheriff's authorities that he and his family were awakened about 1:30 a.m. Monday by a noise on the roof and saw vandalism being caused in the front yard.

When the youths causing the damage returned to the Nagel home, Nagel reportedly came out of the house with a .22 caliber rifle and shouted to the fleeing youths to stop.

He told authorities he fired one shot, and thought it was low. Investigators later discovered Manders was getting in the rear seat when he was struck in the side.

K-C Electrician Dies Of Heart Attack At Kimberly Mill

Edward J. Heimann, 54, 205 E. Pershing St., died unexpectedly about 2:30 p.m. Tuesday while at work at the Kimberly Mill of Kimberly-Clark Corp. Coroner Bernard Kemps, who investigated, said the death was due to a heart attack. Heimann had been employed as an electrician for Kimberly-Clark for 28 years.

Survivors are the widow, a daughter, two sons, his mother, a sister and two brothers.

Funeral services will be at 10:30 a.m. Thursday at St. Theresa Catholic Church. Friends may call at the Wichmann Funeral Home after 4 p.m. today.

Chief Anticipates Needs

Expansions to Require Additional Fire Stations

Fire Chief Roland Kuehl warned Tuesday that if Appleton continues to expand at its present rate it will require additional fire stations and more equipment.

His position was stated during a meeting of the public safety committee at the city hall.

Future Building
The committee was discussing future capital improvement projects and noted a new fire station is tentatively listed for 1968 on the city's northwest side.

However, Kuehl said if certain proposed annexations take place within the next few years there will be a need for a station and facilities on the far southeast side.

In reply to an inquiry by Ald. John Ayers (12th), committee chairman, Chief Kuehl said Appleton's present fire protection program is adequate.

1960 Rating
Kuehl qualified his statement by indicating the last time the department's overall protection coverage was analyzed and rated by the insurance underwriters board was in 1960.

"If the insurance board starts

Police Investigate $109 Sugar and Spice Theft

LITTLE CHUTE — Police are investigating the theft of a money bag containing $89 in cash and two $10 checks from the Sugar and Spice Bakery, 1028 Depot St.

John Burke, owner, reported the loss took place sometime Monday night or early Tuesday morning. He told police a side door to the business place was left unlocked. The night baker had called in sick, and there were no employees in the plant, Burke said.

Mr. and Mrs. William Farnum and Dr. S. F. Darling, center, are honored for their years of service to Outagamie Equity Co-Op at Appleton. The Farnums will be retiring and Darling has headed the co-op for 30 years. All were feted in a special dinner-program by the co-op at the VFW Club. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Move to Dissolve City's Land Acquisition Committee Fails

However, Group Asked to File Written Reports on Final Action

A move by three southside Appleton aldermen to have the city's land acquisition committee dissolved failed to get support from the board of public works Tuesday.

The board recommended the committee continue to function as in the past but file a written report when final action is to be taken on accepting or rejecting a land offer.

The resolution to abolish the committee, which is under board jurisdiction, was authored by Alds. James Bethke (9th), Arthur Hoolihan (11th) and Glenn Thompson (13th).

Written Report

During discussion, Bethke and others challenged their position with the understanding a written report on the committee's future recommendations would be filed. Most of the time in the past it has made oral recommendations to the board of public works.

The resolution, which failed to get board support, called for reverting back to an old policy by which appraisals were obtained on property the city intended to purchase for public use, with the board of public works having the sole responsibility of handling negotiations.

The final outcome of Tuesday's deliberations represented a vote of confidence for the land acquisition committee.

Worked Out Well

Ald. John Ayers (12th) defended the committee and said the present system "worked out well." He was extremely critical of any arrangement that would have all members of the council supplied appraisals and

High Speed Chase Ends With Crash

A 17-year-old DePere youth crashed broadside into a car on E. Glendale Avenue about 5:15 p.m. Tuesday to end a high-speed chase.

The youth's car struck a 1967 model stationwagon driven by Michael F. Johnson, 19, 1237 E. Marquette St., which was heading east on Glendale at the time of the accident.

The right side of the Johnson car and the front of the DePere teen-ager's vehicle were damaged. There were no injuries to either of the drivers or to Greg Hayes, 1307 E. Glendale Ave., a passenger in the Johnson vehicle.

The DePere youth was being chased north on N. Clark Street by Darrell Berglund of the Appleton Police Department at the time of the accident.

Berglund reported that he started following the youth after the car made a turn onto N. Morrison Street from E. Wisconsin Avenue going south at a high rate of speed.

The chase continued through the north side, with Berglund turning on his siren and flashing red light. He reported reaching speeds of 50 miles per hour in the chase.

Dump Truck Backfires, Starts Carburetor Blaze

A truck fire caused when the vehicle backfired and set the carburetor and rubber hose ablaze was extinguished by Appleton fireman about 1 p.m. Tuesday.

The 1956 model dump truck was driven by Ervin Richards, who reported the fire while the vehicle was at 215 W. Spring St. It is owned by J. O. Johnson, 700 Valley Road, Menasha.

Firemen put out the fire with a carbon dioxide extinguisher.

Circulate Petitions Giving Support to Shorewood Site

In an evident effort to get Fox Valley names before the legislature as being in favor of the Shorewood site for the new University of Wisconsin-Green Bay, petitioners have been going door-to-door to some homes in the north Appleton area and Kaukauna.

The petition which residents are pressured to sign "before the legislative session closes this Friday," reads: "We the undersigned residents of Outagamie County wish to go on record against any delay in construction of the new University of Wisconsin-Green Bay at the Shorewood site."

Kaukauna residents reported that two Green Bay men circulating the petitions Tuesday stressed the importance of no delay in construction.

Delay Minimized
However, an Appleton woman, approached by a De Pere man, reportedly from St. Norbert's, said she received the impression the delay would be minimized and that the legislature would get the feeling signers were 100 per cent behind the Shorewood site.

Some Kaukauna citizens interviewed said they signed the petition, not knowing what it was all about or because they were eager to get back to work and did not wish to listen to discussion on the topic.

George Greenwood, secretary of the Kaukauna Chamber of Commerce confirmed that the petitions were circulated in that area.

G. K. Willecke, informed by the Appleton Chamber of Commerce that petitions were being circulated here, said he felt this was another emotional effort to undermine the status of the Fox Valley student-interest.

"Wording Ignores Facts"
He said the wording of the petition ignores the facts of the case, and "probably will be used to put pressure on the legislators to vote against the Rogers Bill."

Willecke, chairman of the joint Fox Cities Chamber of Commerce educational committee, added, "We are also in favor of no delay, but certainly not regarding the Shorewood site. He said in view of the petition, the facts should be reiterated, which he said were:

—The Shorewood site was not carefully evaluated and chosen as was implied.
—It violates the criteria which everyone, including Green Bay and the Fox Cities, approved.
—There is a suit pending now that the committee acted illegally, and any delay in that suit has been brought about by the defendants, not by the Fox Cities.

—There is no effort here, as has been charged, to move the site to Appleton or Outagamie County.
—The whole question here is, in summary, simply whether a questionable or even illegal action by a legislatively-appointed committee should go unchallenged."

Willecke indicated that delay could be completely eliminated if the site is moved to the Larsen Farm location, "Then the immediate construction would have the support of the entire Fox Valley," he added.

Process Server Urged for County

Establishing Full-Time Post Could Solve Spice Controversy

The long controversy over the salary of Outagamie County time investigator to replace Undersheriff Calvin Spice may be nearing an end.

The law enforcement committee of the county board hampered out a dual proposal, Tuesday which would give the county its first full-time process server and relieve Spice of those duties so his time could be more devoted to being an investigator for Sheriff Norbert Marx.

The proposal still must clear the personnel subcommittee of the board's executive committee before reaching the board floor during the July session.

Salary Increased
In keeping with the new responsibilities, Spice's contract salary would be increased to $7,600 per year.

The proposal removes the undersheriff position from its current Civil Service classification and places it on a contract basis. A new contract would be required with each new undersheriff after his appointment by the sheriff. The contract would stipulate duties, hour and wages.

Supv. Eugene Kloes (Appleton 5th) contended that in emergencies the server could be deputized by the sheriff and pressed into investigative service. "I can't see where the case load demands another investigator other than the undersheriff's duties as such," he said.

Committee secretary John Schreiter, (Appleton 7th) noted it cost the county about $15,000 last year for the service. In his figure he included the undersheriff's salary, car mileage, paper work and additional salary paid off duty patrolmen to serve papers.

Appleton C of C Board Elects Three More Officers

Additional officers of the board of directors, Appleton Area Chamber of Commerce, were named Tuesday.

Patrick Coughlin, Appleton attorney, was chosen president; elect; Dr. Curtis Tarr, president of Lawrence University, second vice president; and Marilyn Olson, Outagamie County Bank, treasurer.

Oscar Boldt was previously elected president and Delmar Drumm, secretary.

Welfare-Ordinance Members Okay Foundation of Authority To Study Need in Appleton

Proponents of federally-subsidized, low-income housing for the elderly scored another victory in Appleton Tuesday night when the council's welfare-ordinance committee okayed creation of a housing authority.

The committee's action was actually an affirmative of a previous recommendation made to the common council but referred back for more study.

Strong opposition to a housing authority, and participation in any federal-aid program, came from members of the Appleton Board of Realtors, who contended private enterprise would provide housing for elderly if a need was shown.

However, the realtors themselves came under fire amid claims that senior citizens in Appleton have attempted to generate interest in their need for low-income housing for about six years, with no reaction from real estate men until now.

About 25 persons attended the meeting conducted by Ald. Richard Huisman (2nd), committee chairman, in the city council chambers.

The controversy between advocates of housing for the elderly, and realtors, at this point centers on what should come first — a study, or formation of a housing authority which would conduct a study and pinpoint the community's needs.

George Hibner, Madison, a member of the State Commission on Aging, explained the requirements which must be met before a community can undertake a low-income public housing project for the elderly.

Relates Need
Hibner said there is a need for such facilities in Appleton, indicating 300 single-bedroom units could easily attain full occupancy.

The realtors said they were not against housing for the elderly but did take a stand against the federal government's role.

However, Hibner stressed that every action taken by a housing authority also would have to be approved by the common council, including any and all applications. He said the city would not become involved in any expenses of operating a housing project.

Form Authorities
Hibner pointed to the fact that several cities in the region, including Neenah, Menasha and Kaukauna already have housing authorities, while several others in the Fox Valley have, or are in the process of, forming them.

Among the latest reportedly are Fond du Lac and Oshkosh, where low income housing for senior citizens is being studied by municipal housing authorities.

Hibner explained once a housing authority can substantiate its need for a project — several communities are building modern high-rise low-rental units with La Crosse setting the pace — the financing is underwritten by the federal government.

A housing authority bond for 40 years at 3 per cent interest is underwritten by the federal government, with the income occupancy requirements set locally. Hibner said $35 to $40 a month rent is charged the elderly.

Appleton Man Bound Over on Morals Charge
Charles Roberts, 21, 1121 N. Drew St., was bound over to Circuit Court late Tuesday afternoon on a charge of taking indecent liberties with a 10-year-old girl.

Roberts is free on $2,500 bond. He appeared in Outagamie County Court Branch 2.

The charge was brought following investigation by Appleton and Outagamie County authorities, who allege the offense occurred June 17 in the Town of Grand Chute.

Homemade 'Mortar' Taken From Boy, 14
An instrument resembling a homemade mortar is being held by Appleton police after it was taken from a 14-year-old boy about 3:45 p.m. Tuesday.

Police reported that the instrument consisted of a lead pipe capped on one end. The youth had been stuffing the pipe with toilet paper and matches and then lighting the material, ejecting smoke from the end of the pipe.

The youth and his mother were advised of the city ordinance concerning firearms.

Summer Program Grand Chute Planning Recreation for Children

A summer recreation program for children of the Town named by the town board, of Grand Chute has been initiated under the auspices of the principal at Einstein Junior High School, Ronald Knorr, and Mrs. Robert Andrews.

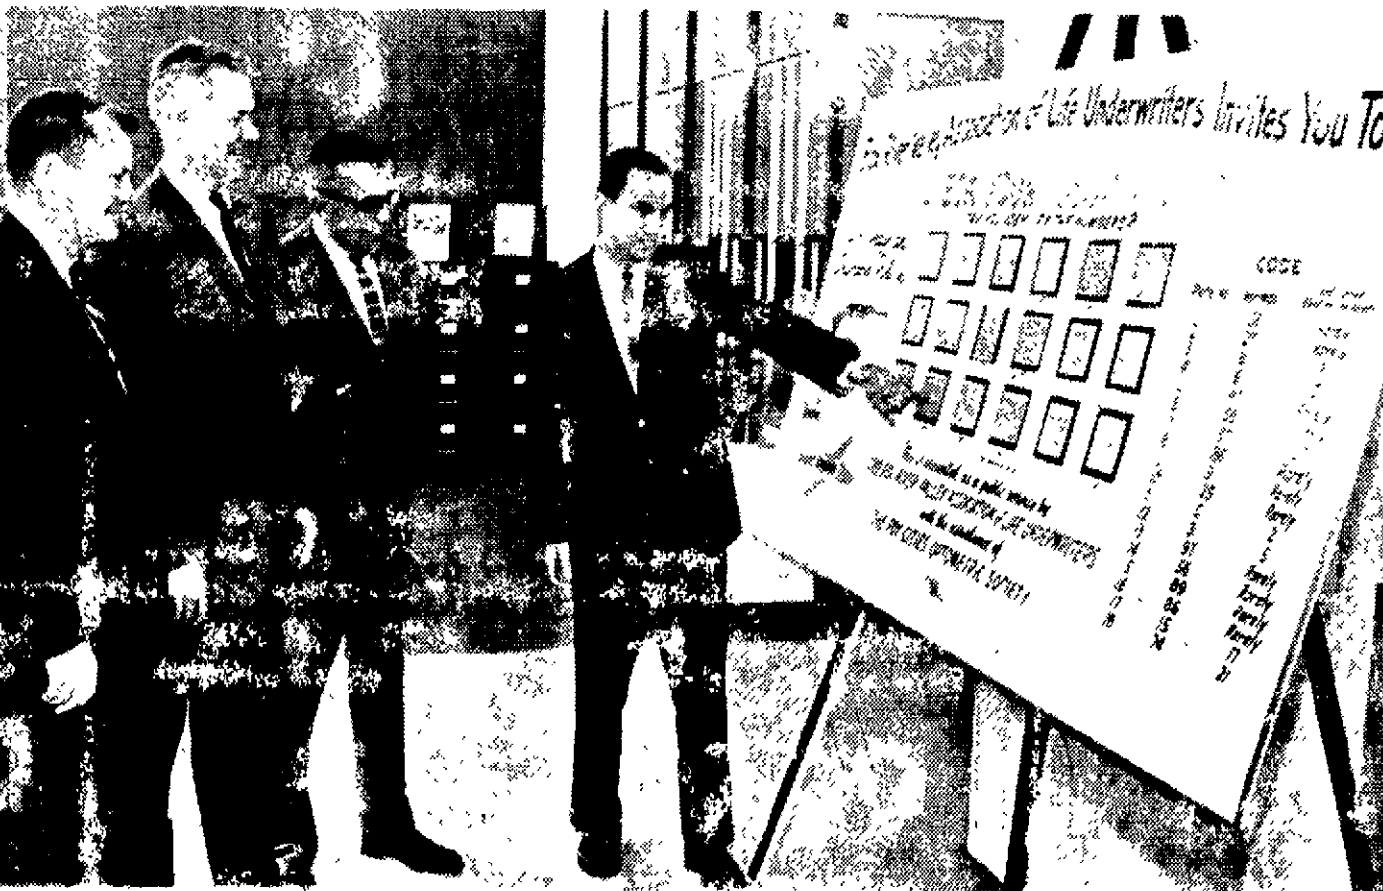

Mervin Shaffer, a teacher at Badger School, has been named director of the five-week program in July and August.

Activities will begin July 17 at 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Thursday until Aug. 18, and entering charges. The charges involve several break-ins at cottages in northern Oconto County, according to Sheriff Rupert Haave.

Remanded into the custody of the sheriff after failing to post bond of $500 each were Keith Ronau, 20, 1000 E. North St., and Robert Krueger, 19, 1312 Casaloma Drive. Both pleaded guilty when they were arraigned in Municipal Court Tuesday.

Some of the items taken, including guns, blankets, and quilts, have been recovered, the sheriff said.

The program is being supervised by the sheriff.

Winnebago Board Hesitates On Roadway Right-of-Way

Looming Costs Hamper Approval Of Planners' Request for Action

OSHKOSH — County supervisors, faced with staggering sums of money for expressway construction and acquisition of rights-of-way in Winnebago County, were reluctant to take the first step in reserving the land for the Tri-County Expressway Tuesday.

After a two-hour lively discussion on the long-range project which is centered mostly in the Town of Menasha, the board referred the matter to the special bridge committee.

Town of Menasha Chairman Roland Kamp, who with members of the highway committee form the bridge committee, asked for action on the proposal, outlined by the Fox Valley Regional Planning Commission, before budget time this fall.

Several board members felt the expressway system, which calls for two bridges within Winnebago County, was too elaborate and costly for one county to bear.

The portion of the 32-mile expressway which lies in Winnebago County will cost in excess of $15.9 million, according to P. L. Janssen, state highway engineer. The costs of rights of way, located entirely about 1,000 feet north of Ninth Street and the other on the extreme northern end of the county. He said no priority had been given to either bridge in the plans.

Franchett said County Trunk BB would be used as a frontage road. He explained the FVRPC had developed the plans on a practical basis without much consideration to political boundaries. "In the end it is less expensive to locate the highway on a new right-of-way," he said.

Franchett said the first step was the acquisition of property to reserve the land for the expressway system. He said funds for purchasing the rights-of-way could come from the federal government through the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD).

Grants are made to cover interest on the loans, preliminary fees and relocation payments, Franchett said. However, he noted the project would have to be initiated within five years and it must be in accord with a comprehensive plan for the area. "We meet this qualification," the planner said.

Market Sags in Early Trading

Development Plan Contract Wins Okay

Key Issue Changes Mostly Fractional; Pattern Mixed

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market moved sluggishly in moderately active trading early this afternoon.

The margin of advances over declines among individual issues narrowed.

Changes of key issues were mostly fractional. The market was mixed, generally following the pattern of Tuesday when a small loss was suffered.

It seemed to be resisting the influence of talk of an income tax boost by Johnson administration leaders and the continuing troublesome situation in the Middle East. Brokers had mentioned these factors as likely causes of nervousness and caution.

The Associated Press 60-stock average at noon was off a minimal 1 at 324 3/4 with industrials off 1, rails unchanged and utilities off 1.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials at noon was off 0.75 at 868 64.

Among the most actively traded stocks, gains of a point or so were registered by Diners Club, Scientific Data, Northwest Airlines and Universal American.

Xerox fell more than 8 points and IBM dropped more than 4.

Among the rails, Chicago & North Western gained 2 points and New York Central was up more than 1.

Occidental Petroleum, Uniroyal, Owens Illinois and Pfizer lost more than a point.

Motors were listless with General Motors, Ford and Chrysler down minor fractions.

Prices advanced on the American Stock Exchange. Gains of a point or more were made by leading stocks.

A captain in the Air Force during World War II, his wife, Patricia, and three daughters are moving from Palatine, Ill. to Neenah this week.

Development Plan Contract Wins Okay

MENASHA — In an act described by a redevelopment commissioner as proof of "faith in the city of Menasha," the common council Tuesday authorized signing a contract for resuming master planning studies.

Aldermen gave Mayor Kenneth Holmes and City Clerk Harry Kind permission Monday to sign a contract with the state Department of Resource Development and Victor Gruen Associates under terms of a federal planning grant.

The action followed assurances by spokesmen for the Menasha Redevelopment Authority (MRA) that a fund drive among local industries could raise enough money to pay Gruen $11,320 as the local one-third of the fee, even though the contract will make the city itself legally responsible for the payment.

Commission president Ralph McClone vowed the money "not only can, but will" be raised in time.

Chamber Drive

The funds are to be raised by a drive coordinated by a Chamber of Commerce committee, which is also guiding a drive for Neenah planning funds.

If the drive fell short of its goal, the city would be required to make up the difference.

Motorcade Kicks Off Paperland Festival Events

This year's Fourth of July festivities will be "kicked off" with a motorcade going through the Neenah and Menasha downtown areas.

The Venetian queens and their attendants, along with representatives of the Paper Industry, Chamber of Commerce, mayors of Neenah and Menasha, Boys' Sports, and the Jaycees, will take part in the motorcade.

The group will leave from the Left Guard in Menasha, and will return there after going through the Twin Cities.

Not Told Beforehand Board Holds Up Payment on Higher Expressway Expense

OSHKOSH — The Fox Valley Regional Planning Commission will have to wait awhile for its money from Winnebago County, as supervisors refused to pay another $7,500 toward expressway planning "until we get some answers."

The county board had allocated $6,500 in the fall of 1964 for preliminary engineering for the Tri-County system. Tuesday, the supervisors were faced with another bill of $7,500 to cover the completion of the work.

The action to table the resolution for the additional monies came after Eugene Franchett, executive director of the FVRPC, and P. L. Janssen, state highway engineer, presented the completed outline of the expressway.

The resolution stated that the costs of initial engineering, field surveys, right-of-way plats and other work had

Foundry Names Vice President

Clare M. Powers To be in Charge of Sales, Marketing

NEENAH — Clare M. Powers will become vice president of sales and marketing of Neenah Foundry Company, effective immediately, according to an announcement made today by president E. W. Aylward.

This is a new position in which Powers will direct and coordinate all of the sales and marketing activities of the company, both industrial and construction.

Powers, 46, is being transferred from the Chicago sales office of the company. He joined the sales staff in 1952, was elected assistant treasurer in 1956, assistant vice president in 1959, vice president in 1960, director in 1962 and vice president in charge of the Chicago office in 1965.

Powers was born in Webster City, Iowa, is a graduate of Drake University 1947 and was

Menasha Man Fined $50 on Speeding Count

John Hanamann, 18, 925 Ninth St., Menasha, was fined $50 and costs or 24 days in the Outagamie County jail Tuesday for speeding when he appeared before Judge Gustave J. Keller.

Hanamann was stopped by Outagamie County sheriff's authorities at 7:45 p.m. June 18 on U. S. 47 in the Village of Black Creek.

Authorities said Hanamann traveled 46 miles per hour in 25 m.p.h. zone and then 80 m.p.h. in a 65 m.p.h. zone.

Trial Date Changed For Black Creek Man On Two Morals Counts

A new trial date has been set for Donald Immel, 35, route 2, Black Creek, on two morals charges.

Immel appeared Tuesday afternoon in Outagamie County Court Branch 2, where trial date was changed from July 5 to 9 a.m. Nov. 1.

Immel has pleaded innocent to one charge and innocent by reason of insanity to the other.

Is it square
patriotic?

If it is...
then, by golly, we're square.
Because we're proud of our American heritage... grateful for the free enterprise system that has afforded us the privilege of serving the American people for more than a century.

The United States is today, and has been since its founding, the land of opportunity.

We've been first-hand witnesses to this fact for a long time.
In our business, we've seen good, sound competition grow and prosper.
We welcome it.
It keeps us on our toes.

As July 4th approaches, we want to go on record as saying:
"We're proud of being Americans."

As we said:

Wear Glasses Purchase to Get Further Study

School Board Says Pupils Shouldn't Pay Costs Themselves

A request from the industrial arts committee to establish a policy on pupil purchase of safety glasses to be used when operating machines was turned back for further study by the school board Monday.

Though a policy on wearing safety glasses when operating a machine in the industrial arts department was strongly supported by the board, a number of the members registered dissatisfaction with the request that pupils themselves purchase the glasses.

Presently, it was explained by Armin Gerhardt, coordinator of vocational education, the school purchases cheap plastic glasses for 50 cents each which scratch easily and often are not worn by the students because vision is blurred.

The suggested glasses, which would be purchased by the student himself, would cost about $3 with basic prescription glasses coming to about $7.90.

"The boys would purchase them in seventh grade, when industrial arts classes are required, and would be able to use them all through high school as well as after," Gerhardt said.

"In this way," he added, "they will also take better care of them and the glasses will last longer."

It was made clear by some of the board members that they were not opposed to the policy of enforcement but of the cost to the student.

"There are so many things to buy that education is getting less free each day," commented Kenneth Sager.

Asked if there have been any accidents in the past, Gerhardt said that none were registered but "if one child loses his sight, the board can count on paying out about $60,000."

The board approved the purchase of blazers for the music department of Appleton High School-East.

This question was brought before the board at the last session, when it was referred for further study to the school equipment committee, headed by Mrs. Helen Heil.

Mrs. Heil said that the matter had been studied and it was decided that the 200 blazers would be let out for bid and the rest of the uniform, including slacks and skirts, be purchased as the budget allows.

The board also accepted the 1967 class gift from AHS-West, which includes blazers for the staff on the athletic department and some furniture for the guidance and counseling departments, as budget permits.

Mrs. Heil, Ronald Roberts and Charles Buchanan were named to a by-laws committee, which will report at the annual July meeting.

In other matters concerning personnel, three resignations were accepted. Leaving the system will be Austin Boncher, vocal music instructor at Einstein Junior High; Mrs. DeLories Todd, speech therapist, and Duane Doersch, instructor at Twin Willows.

Thirteen new contracts were approved, seven on the elementary and four on secondary levels and two for resource.

Motorcyclist 'It's Squad Car' Ending Chase

Appleton Youth Injured in Attempt To Flee Police

A high speed chase through Kimberly and Appleton ended early Tuesday when a motorcycle driven by a 19-year-old rural Appleton youth crashed into a squad car set up as a road block.

Francis H. Vandenberg, 526 Camellia Lane, route 4, Appleton, was in St. Elizabeth Hospital this noon being X-rayed for a possible broken jaw received in the incident.

That injury, plus numerous cuts and abrasions, occurred when the youth's motorcycle hit the squad car of Detective Leo J. Bosch, 1822 S. Walden Ave., of the Appleton Police Department, which Bosch had set up as a road block at the intersection of E. Newberry and S. Weimer Streets about 1:50 a.m. today.

Flees from Kimberly

Police reported that Vandenberg was fleeing from Kimberly police as he headed east on Newberry. Losing control of his vehicle, he started skidding about 50 feet from the police car, which had a siren and flashing red light operating.

The Kimberly youth apparently was knocked off the cycle by the impact of the collision with the car. He was found underneath the car. His motorcycle continued through the intersection, striking and scratching a utility pole and coming to rest on the terrace between the sidewalk and the street.

Vandenberg was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Kimberly police reported that Vandenberg had been stopped Monday night because part of the license plate on his motorcycle was missing, causing the number to be incomplete.

Given Warning

He was given a warning, but reportedly became belligerent and was chased by police. Kimberly officers radioed ahead for assistance when Vandenberg was sighted heading toward Appleton.

Vandenberg's 1966 motorcycle was damaged on the right and left sides. It was impounded by police.

Sturgeon Bay Man Fined for Using Siren

Thomas Joskey, Sturgeon Bay, was fined $50 and costs or 24 days in jail this morning after he pleaded guilty in Outagamie County Court Branch 2 of using an illegal warning device.

Joskey was stopped by Outagamie County sheriff's authorities about 9 p.m. Saturday on State 54 in the Town of Osborn for using a siren.

Patriotic Picnic

Lillian Mackesy POST-CRESCENT FOOD EDITOR

Americans will be found "in the pursuit of happiness" this July 4th at campsites, at cottages, in picnic areas of parks, on boats and on beaches. Many of them even will be in their own backyards and by way of the good old American freedom of choice.

One thing is certain, no matter where they are there'll be the need for food and probably lots of it. A holiday seems to perk up the appetite and the spirit just by coming along and this is the day to go All-American and prepare a picnic. Plenty of good food and drink, a grassy slope or a patch of backyard is all that's needed for a lazy day of fresh air and fun.

Planning a Fourth of July menu is not difficult . . . just plan All-American and pick out a huge, thumping good watermelon, meat for hamburgers, frankfurters for those who prefer these American "hot dogs" . . . lemonade or iced tea, and never forget the potato salad and hard-boiled eggs. The eggs may be served as is in the shell, heaped high in an earthen bowl . . . or they may be deviled or even pickled in beet juice.

Two recipes today are something new in the way of potato salad. One is called Firecracker Potato Salad and has packaged seasoning mix usually used for Sloppy Joes as its base. Prepared with prepared yellow mustard, it becomes something special. The other one combines sour cream in the potato mixture.

The sour cream potato salad goes well with cold meats . . . another popular American food. There's nothing more refreshing than a table loaded with platters of cold meats, each platter centered with a heaping mound of salad, cottage cheese or an equivalent. It takes only minutes to arrange platters such as these and sometimes they are called family party potluck.

An assortment of flavorful, sliced luncheon meats kept cooling in the refrigerator is an excellent way to prepare for unexpected guests. They may be zipped out in seconds, arranged around some kind of salad and whisked off to the table.

Suggested are such meats as salami and cervelat, dry and hearty . . . pickle and pimiento loaf always so attractive . . . New England sausage . . . bologna . . . thin slices of tongue . . . pepper loaf . . . square, round or soft for spreading such as liver sausage or braunschweiler.

Other suggestions include a tangy green bean salad called Green Beans Vinaigrette. This may be prepared ahead of time and refrigerated until ready to use. Then there are plump, juicy frankfurters enjoyed by all children. Also, prepare for the day with a bagful of frozen burgers ready-to-cook and then make them into Red-White-and-Blue Burgers to fit the occasion. A pair of two-ounce burgers are used in each sandwich . . . the red is the tomato slice . . . the white is the onion slice . . . the blue comes from the crumbled blue cheese.

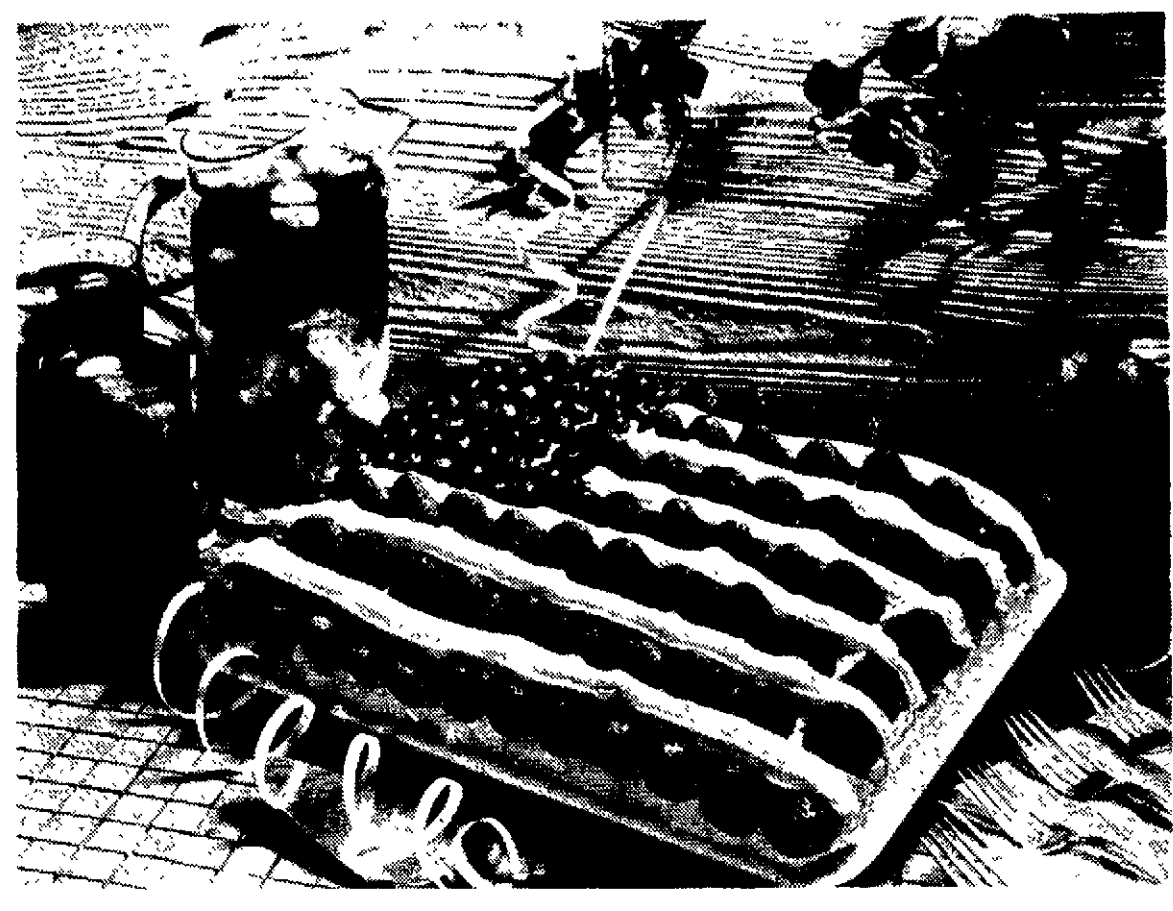

For a picnic away from home, tote the franks, beef burgers, cheeses and washed lettuce in plastic bags in an insulated cooler. Slice the onions and tomatoes at home, pack separately the same way and place in the cooler. The sandwich can be assembled at the picnic grounds as the franks and burgers cook.

Just for the fun of it, make the dessert a real red-white-blue affair. A Flag Cake can have colorful stars and stripes fashioned from berries, frosting and blueberries.

DANISH CELEBRATION

On Independence Day, serve a topical dessert that's really something to send up rockets about. A Flag Cake has 50 creamy stars on a field of blueberries and 13 stripes of red Strawberries and white frosting. There's an old Colonial secret added to the frosting . . . and the pitcher of refreshment too, if desired . . . it's a touch of liquor to give it a bit of spirit.

Franks and Burgers certainly are All-American and above they are fixed up a little with a patriotic touch. This is the way to serve Red, White and Blue Burgers and Cheese-Striped Franks on Independence Day.

The Dansk Torte at the right has a creamy cheese base accented with Danish blue cheese and a contrasting sweet cherry topping. In the stemmed glass is the American version of Denmark's famous fruit juice pudding, Red Pudding with Cream.

Typically American is the picnic food shown below, with such good things as grilled hamburgers, potato salad, rolls and watermelon. Add to these pickles, sliced tomatoes and a delightful new recipe for Green Beans Vinaigrette. The result is a Star Spangled meal.

Polio Victim's Strength Comes From 'Yes, I Can'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The strongest phrase in the life of Emma Flores, who was crippled by polio when she was 11, is "Yes, I can."

She can earn a college degree in languages. She can write, despite being unable to use her arms—she holds the pencil in her toes.

She can travel, so long as she takes along a portable respirator. And she can continue her studies—as long as she has a group of girl friends who care.

Now, at 22, the pretty brunette has completed her studies at Immaculate Heart College and hopes to do graduate work at the University of California at Los Angeles.

Credits Friends
Credit for her success, she says, belongs to her friends, who helped her dress every day, carried her books, fed her each mouthful of food and put her to bed at night.

"I just walk into the cafeteria not knowing from one meal to the next who's going to help me," said Emma. "But somebody always does. I don't worry about it."

As for her ability to use her feet, she says: "I have a ball. I learned to paint, with watercolors, and when I want the colors to run together, I have to hold up the paper and shake it with both feet. It's a riot."

'Gets Around'
Emma gets around, too. Last winter, during the semester break, she flew unescorted to visit a friend in New York. This summer, she said, she hopes to bring her anthropology class notes to life by visiting Mexico's hot, tropical Yucatan Peninsula.

Emma is a native of Mexicali, Mexico, a community just south of the California-Mexico border, where her parents still live.

After she was stricken by infantile paralysis, doctors told her father, Armando, that Emma would be bedridden the rest of her life. He refused to accept it.

In a persistent, difficult campaign, he worked to help his daughter overcome the handicap. She was treated by the Sister Kenny Foundation and later admitted to Rancho Los Amigos, a Los Angeles County rehabilitation center.

At the center she underwent operations to fuse her spine, began to get around in a wheelchair, later began the use of braces, and finally began to walk.

And at graduation ceremonies last Saturday, while other students were receiving gifts, Emma gave one—a carefully constructed, colorful scrap book she had put together for a friend, Sandy McIntyre of Newport Beach, "the girl who helped me the most."

The book ends like this: "Thank You for life, thank You for grace, thank You, Lord, thank You."

Prodding Unlikely To Speed Congress In Action on Surtax

Martin, Ackley Both Urge Quick Adoption of 6 Per Cent Charge

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite prodding this week from two influential administration figures, Congress is unlikely to begin considering until late summer the income tax surcharge President Johnson proposed six months ago.

Chairman William McCleskey Martin Jr. of the Federal Reserve Board renewed Monday the call for a surcharge, saying he would support a steeper increase than the proposed 6 percent if needed to combat inflation.

Then on Tuesday, Chairman Gardner Ackley of Johnson's Council of Economic Advisers again urged congressional consideration of the surcharge, saying no figure lower than 6 percent would do the job.

No Time

But the congressional timetable appears to rule out hearings at least until August, even if Johnson were to send to Capitol Hill legislation spelling out his tax proposals—which he has not done.

There were indications Johnson, who originally asked for an increase effective Saturday, might be happy to have one six months later.

The House Ways and Means Committee, where all tax legislation must originate, is nowhere near finished with its consideration of a complex bill to amend the Social Security System and related programs such as medicare. The House begins a 10-day July 4 recess Thursday, as does the Senate.

D. Mills, D-Ark., has said the committee may have a Social Security bill ready in July, but other committee members speculate about dates like August 15. Another week or 10 days would be required for House consideration and passage, and the committee would not take up another major measure during this period.

Hearings on a tax increase, if any are held, are likely to be prolonged. Although the administration would like to confine the issue to a simple yes or no on an increase in personal and corporate income taxes, spokesmen for a variety of views will be pressing for a chance to voice them.

Ackley, appearing Tuesday before the Senate-House Economic Committee, ran into demands that the administration consider closing loopholes in present tax laws to increase its revenues, rather than seeking an across the board raise.

Oil Depletion

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., committee chairman, said it would be refreshing if the administration proposed a reduction in the oil depletion allowance, a perennial target of tax change advocates, but one which has withstood all attacks.

Rep. Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis., said the imposition of capital gains taxes on estates and tightening of tax-exempt provisions on the yield of municipal bonds would yield $3.5 billion a year. The remainder of the administration goal of $5 billion could be achieved readily by other forms of tightening and without a general increase, he said.

House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan and GOP congressmen have said they will not support a tax increase unless the budget first has been cut substantially.

VFW Asks to be Put on Tax Rolls

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — The Veterans of Foreign Wars Washington department has asked that its headquarters building here, which has a tax exempt status, be placed on the county tax rolls.

The VFW wrote the assessor, Allen Morgan, it was the group's opinion "that in view of the continual rise in costs of maintaining our local government, we as a patriotic organization should do our part."

Morgan said the taxes will amount to between $2,000 and $2,500.

Conservation, Water Split

Committee Working On Kellett Bill Dispute

MADISON (AP)—The Kellett bill to streamline the structure of state government has been shipped to a compromise committee to try to heal the deep dispute over control of the conservation and water merger.

The Assembly voted 77-18 to reinforce its demand for a merger on equal terms Tuesday night only two hours after the Senate had lined up 19-10 to give the majority control to conservation.

The committee will try to solve in three days a vexing issue that has kept the legislature perplexed for six months.

With the lawmakers driving toward a windup of their initial 1967 session by Friday night, the Senate-Assembly split could endanger the entire Kellett Bill to repack about 90 state agencies into 28 major departments and boards.

Finish Details

Both houses have passed the omnibus bill, but agreement on the details of the mid-1968 conservation merger must be reached before the measure is sent to the governor for his signature.

The Senate spent the entire afternoon Tuesday in its latest floor fight over the Kellett Bill before renewing its insistence that the present Conservation Commission be given control of the new Natural Resources Board.

The Assembly needed less than 10 minutes to reject the Senate stance and repeat its demand for a marriage of equality.

The Kellett Bill calls for a July 1, 1968, merger of the Conservation Department, which guides outdoor recreation programs, and the Resource Development Department, which already runs the war on water pollution and will handle the new assault on air pollution.

Talks Limited

The compromise talks were limited by the two houses to the makeup of the Natural Resources Board and a second disagreement over powers to be retained by the Board of Health in a new Department of Health and Social Services.

The Senate proposal called for five of the eight members of the Natural Resources Board to be chosen from the present Conservation Commission.

The Assembly plan provided for a nine-man board, with three members each from the Conservation Commission, the Resource Development Board and the public at large.

180,000 Pounds of Bombs Dropped

B52s Batter Provinces Where New Communist Strength Threatens

SAIGON (AP) — B52 bombers unloaded a rain of bombs today on Communist positions in two provinces where U.S. ground troops face threatening enemy buildups.

The bombers plastered 180,000 pounds of bombs on Red infiltration routes in Quang Tri Province adjoining the demilitarized zone—where a heavy Red rocket and mortar barrage killed nine Marines and wounded 125 Tuesday—and unleashed a similar attack in the highlands of Kontum Province where infiltrating Red troops recently decimated an American paratroop company.

Ground fighting reported by U.S. military headquarters also centered in the DMZ and highland areas.

A sweeping force of more than 300 U.S. paratroops from the 173rd Airborne Brigade jumped about 50 patrolling Reds early today. In a sharp skirmish in the jungles of Kontum Province the paratroopers killed six North Vietnamese and took one prisoner. Two Americans were killed and eight wounded.

In Quang Tri, around the isolated western flank outpost of Khe Sanh, U.S. Marines kept up continual patrols to thwart Communist assaults. Ten Marines were killed in clashes Tuesday and 27 were wounded, but the Leathernecks said they killed 28 North Vietnamese regulars.

Despite cloudy weather over most of North Vietnam, American pilots flew 126 strike missions Tuesday with no reported losses. Two Communist MIG17s were sighted but made no effort to fight.

The major effort was again directed at the northeast and northwest rail lines connecting Hanoi to Red China.

U.S. headquarters reported that part of an ammunition dump in Quang Ngai Province blew up this morning, wounding two American soldiers. A white phosphorous shell somehow exploded and the blistering heat set off more ammunition, but the spokesman said the overall damage to the dump was light.

Red China claimed that the flight of a U.S. jet over China's Hainan Island Tuesday "was far from being an accidental occurrence" as the U.S. Air Force said.

The Peking People's Daily said the U.S. Air Force F4C Phantom, which was shot down by Communist MIGs, had been sent "to stage a provocation against China." The plane's two crewmen parachuted and were rescued.

2 GIs Killed In Training Maneuvers

FT. SILL, Okla. (AP) — Rifle fire killed two GIs and wounded a third Tuesday as a mock ambush turned into the real thing at this Army training center in southwest Oklahoma.

An Army spokesman said live ammunition apparently became mixed with dummy bullets, although no live shells were to have been used.

Killed were Pfc. James D. Conway, 19, a Vietnam veteran, and Sgt. Refugio Hernandez, 38. Spec. 5 Billy G. Evans, 28, Kirklind, Ind., was shot in the hips. He was in satisfactory condition.

Conway is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lee Conway, Oklahoma City. Hernandez' wife, Frances, lives in Lawton. Hernandez was a native of Albuquerque, N. M.

Conway, Hernandez and Evans, members of the 593rd Engineers Co., were riding in a truck when they were shot by an aggressor force hidden in a wooded area.

Violent Reaction

"It's well known that police officers react violently to the murder of a police officer," he said. "All they did was arrange for an officer to be sent out to Tenth Street, and when Officer Tippit arrived there he was murdered, with no other reason than that."

"After he was murdered," Garrison continued, "Oswald was pointed to, sitting in the back of the Texas Theater where he'd been told to wait, obviously." He said the apparent plan was that the police would come and avenge the death of a fellow officer.

"But the Dallas police, apparently, at least the arresting officers, had more humanity in them than the planners had in mind. And this is the first point at which the plan did not work completely," Garrison said.

"So Oswald was not killed there. He was arrested. This left a problem, because if Lee Oswald stayed alive long enough obviously he would name names and talk about this thing that he'd been drawn into. It was necessary to kill him."

"That's where Jack Ruby comes into the picture?" Wallace asked, referring to the night club operator who subsequently shot Oswald as he was about to be transferred from the Dallas city jail.

"That's right. It was necessary for one of the people involved to kill him," said Garrison.

Administrative Pay Increases Again Refused

Finance Committee Reconsidered Ruling At Knowles' Request

MADISON (AP)— Legislators refused for a second time today to boost the pay scale for top state administrative officials.

The legislature's Joint Finance Committee voted 11-2 to leave salaries in the present range of $8,400 to $22,500 a year.

The vote also blocked a pay raise for state senators and assemblymen to $9,000 a year. The salaries are to be reviewed again when the lawmakers return for the fall session Oct. 2.

Gov. Warren P. Knowles had asked the committee to reconsider its 11-3 vote last week turning down recommendations by the State Personnel Board for a new pay scale ranging from $9,000 to $26,000 a year.

The pay plan is now divided into five categories. The committee said any decision on raising the salary ceilings should be delayed until the full legislature acts this fall on a pending measure to divide the pay into seven brackets.

The finance committee's vote today included provisions for normal pay raises for state department and agency heads within the present scale.

Veto Power

Knowles, who has the power of veto over the decision, had asked the co-chairmen of the committee at an hour-long private meeting Tuesday to reconsider the original vote. He was expected to accept the action today.

Assemblyman Merrill Stalbaum, R - Waterford, argued that the finance committee should "stand pat."

Assemblyman David Martin, R-Neenah, noted the pending bill to rearrange the pay brackets and said that issue should be decided first. The bill includes the same proposals to increase the range to $9,000 to $26,000 a year.

The committee decision for a delay erased the possibility of immediate pay raises for administrative officials in the new fiscal period starting Saturday.

It also postponed action on possible pay hikes for legislators, whose salaries are tied by law to the lowest level of the celebrating July 4 in an annual gesture of friendship and goodwill. It all started 56 years ago when a group of Danish-Americans gave Rebild National Park to their home country and presented there an American Independence Day celebration. Events that precede the annual July 4 Rebild Festival in Denmark include a week of torchlight parades, regattas, fireworks and concerts . . . and, of course, good food with a dessert of red, white and blue. To return the compliment would be nice . . . so serve the Dansk Torte or the American version of Rodgrod med Flode . . . Red Pudding with Cream.

FIRECRACKER POTATO SALAD

- 1 envelope Mix for Sloppy Joes
- 1/4 cup water
- 3 tablespoons Prepared Yellow Mustard
- 1 1/4 cups mayonnaise
- 1/2 cup sweet pickle relish
- 6 cups cubed cooked potatoes
- 1 cup diced celery
- 6 hard-cooked eggs
- Lettuce leaves

Combine seasoning mix and water in large bowl; let stand a few minutes for water to be absorbed. Add mustard, mayonnaise, pickle relish, potatoes, celery and four of the eggs, diced. Toss gently; cover and chill for several hours.

Line a bowl with crisp lettuce leaves; fill bowl with potato salad; garnish with remaining two eggs. Recipe makes eight servings.

GREEN BEANS VINAIGRETTE

- 2 cans (1 lb. each) whole green beans
- 1/2 cup cider vinegar
- 1/4 cup water
- 2 tablespoons salad oil
- 1 tablespoon Instant Mince Onion
- 2 teaspoons Worcestershire Sauce
- 1 teaspoon mixed Seasoning salt

Drain beans; combine remaining ingredients; pour mixture over beans. Chill for several hours or overnight. Drain and serve. Recipe makes eight servings.

FLAG CAKE

- 1 cup butter
- 1 1/4 cups sugar
- 5 eggs, beaten
- 1/4 cup bourbon
- 2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup butter
- 2 cups confectioners sugar
- 1 egg yolk
- 1 1/2 tablespoons milk
- 1/4 cup bourbon
- 2 pints uniform strawberries, hulled
- 1 pint blueberries

Cream the butter, gradually beat in the sugar and beat until light and creamy. Beat in eggs and bourbon. Gently fold in flour and salt. Turn batter into a greased and floured 13 x 9 x 2-inch cake pan. Bake in a 350-degree oven one to one and one-fourth hours, until the cake tests done. Cool on a rack.

To make frosting: Cream butter, gradually beat in sugar and egg. Beat well. Add milk and bourbon, combine well. Chill until mixture will hold its shape.

Spread the top and sides of the cake with two-thirds of the frosting mixture. In the upper left-hand corner, mark off a rectangle four-inches long by three-inches deep, for the field of stars.

Use flag as a guide, placing blueberries on the field, leaving 50 white spaces for "stars." Align seven rows of strawberries for stripes. Pipe remaining icing in bands between the berries. Chill the cake until serving time.

CHEESE-STRIPED FRANKS

- 10 frank
- 4 slices Cheddar cheese, cut into 1/2-inch strips
- 1/4 cup chili sauce
- 10 frank buns, split and toasted

Split frank lengthwise, but not clear through. Insert two

Miss Croy Engaged to M. E. Kassler

DELRAY BEACH, FLA. — The engagement of Miss Jamie Towle Croy to Michael Eric Kassler, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Max Kassler, Cedarhurst, N. Y., has been announced by her father. The bride elect is the daughter of Leo E. Croy, Delray Beach, and the late Mrs. Croy. Miss Croy was graduated from the University of Wisconsin, Madison, and received her master's degree from Columbia University, New York City, where she is a candidate for the Ph. D. degree.

The bridegroom-elect attended Curtis Institute of Music, Philadelphia, Pa., and received his A. B. degree cum laude in mathematics from Harvard College, Mass. He holds M.F.A. and Ph. D. degrees in theoretical musicology from Princeton University, Princeton, N. J. Mr. Kassler was recently appointed to the faculty of the Summer Institute in Compositional Studies sponsored by the American Society of University Composers.

A July 7 wedding is planned.

Auxiliary to Help At VFW Picnic

KAUKAUNA — Mrs. Ellen Streich has been named general chairman of the ice cream concession and fish pond at the Veterans of Foreign Wars picnic set for July 14-16 at the Lawe Street grounds.

Auxiliary members assisting Mrs. Streich are Mrs. Arthur Kerry and Mrs. Gerald Arhildussen.

strips of cheese in the pocket of each frank. Spoon one tablespoon of chili sauce between the cheese strips. Grill split side up five minutes until cheese melts and becomes bubbly. Serve in toasted bun.

RED, WHITE AND BLUE BURGERS

- 10 frozen beef burgers
- Salt and pepper
- 5 hamburger buns, split and toasted
- Lettuce
- 2 medium tomatoes, sliced
- 2 medium onions, sliced
- 2 packages (4 ounces each) blue cheese

Pan-fry or grill frozen beef burgers one to two minutes per side. Season.

Place lettuce on bottom half of toasted bun. Add tomato slice, beef burger patty, onion slice, and another beef burger patty. Sprinkle with crumbled blue cheese and cover with toasted bun half. Serve hot.

DANSK TORTE

- 4 ounces Danish Blue Cheese
- 4 ounces cream cheese
- 1/4 cup sugar
- 1 egg
- 1/2 cup milk
- Juice of 1/2 lemon
- (Almond Pastry)
- 1 1/2 cups flour
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 cup ground or finely chopped almonds
- 1/2 cup shortening
- Ice water

(Topping)
1 can Cherry Pie Filling
Juice of 1/2 lemon
4 tablespoons finely crumbled Danish Blue Cheese

1/2 cup heavy cream
Softened Danish Blue and cream cheese at room temperature; mash together, blending well. Add sugar. Beat egg lightly; beat into cheese. Gradually add milk; beat until smooth. Add lemon juice.

For pastry, toss flour, salt and almonds together; cut in shortening until mixture is crumbly. Add five to six tablespoons ice water, just enough to make a dough. Chill. Roll out into a rectangle six inches wide and 10 inches long. Cut a rectangle of heavy-duty aluminum foil the same size. Lay the dough on the foil and turn up the sides to make a one-inch deep pastry shell.

Fill the prepared shell with the cheese mixture; bake in a 450-degree oven for five minutes; reduce heat to 350 degrees. Continue baking about 25 minutes, until pastry is browned and cheese custard is set. Cool. Season cherry pie filling to taste with lemon juice. Spread on torte. Sprinkle with Danish Blue crumbles and garnish with a border of whipped cream. Recipe makes eight to 10 servings.

RED FRUIT PUDDING WITH DANISH BLUE CREAM

- 2 packages (10 oz. each) frozen raspberries

- 2 cups water
- 1/4 cup sugar
- Pinch salt
- 1/4 cup cornstarch
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice

Put berries in saucepan with water. Bring to a boil and simmer five minutes. Force through a sieve and discard seeds. Mix sugar, salt and cornstarch in a small saucepan; gradually stir in the raspberry puree and cook, stirring constantly, until pudding is smooth and thick. Stir in lemon juice. Cool slightly; pour into glass compote to chill. Whip cream stiff, fold in crumbled Danish Blue. Garnish pudding with cream. Recipe makes four servings.

SOUR CREAM POTATO SALAD

- 5 cups cooked diced potatoes
- 1/2 cup finely diced cucumber
- 1 tablespoon finely diced onion
- 1 teaspoon celery seed
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 6 eggs, hard-cooked
- 1/4 cup dairy sour cream
- 1/4 cup salad dressing
- 2 tablespoons vinegar
- 1 teaspoon prepared mustard

Toss together lightly the potatoes, cucumber, onion and seasonings. Remove yolks from eggs. Chop egg whites and add to potato mixture. Press egg yolks through a sieve and combine with sour cream, salad

Bride Says Vows in Heirloom Gown

Sentiment reigned Saturday when Miss Mary Vande Hey, mother's gown, but the embroidered daughter of the Leonard Vande Hey, 1021 Washington St., Little Chute, was married. For the ceremony in which she exchanged vows with James Beschta of the Fox Valley Golf Club, the bride wore her grandmother's wedding gown. Worn with the dress were the late Mrs. Anton Nelessen's lavalier and bracelet. Mrs. Nelessen had saved and worn the gown 55 years ago. Since then it has been carefully stored. Your Problems
Funeral Sympathies Too Often Grossly Off-Target, Ann Says

BY ANN LANDERS
DEAR ANN LANDERS: I just read the letter from the boy whose father died. He wrote to tell you the stupid things people said to his mother at the funeral. I hope some of those ignorant folks will pay attention to his letter and to mine, as well.

Recently we lost our adorable four-year-old daughter. She was retarded, but it didn't matter to us. We loved her just the same. I can count on one hand the people who said, "I am sorry" — and let it go at that. Almost every person said, "She is better off —" or "It's really a blessing —" or "now you won't have to worry anymore." One woman suggested that now I would have more free time and could join the garden club. Please, Ann, tell your readers if they attend the funeral of a retarded or a handicapped child, it isn't necessary to remind the parents that their child was different from other children. A simple "I'm sorry" is enough. — Temple Texas

Dear Temple: Here is your letter and I can add nothing except my thanks to you for writing it. I do hope you understand that these people meant to say something supportive and comforting, but, unfortunately, their remarks were grossly off target.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am sitting home alone watching TV, while my husband is at a party. It is quite an affair I am sure, but he forgot to tell me about it until 5:30 tonight when he telephoned to ask me to make sure his suit was ready and his shoes were shined. Of course it was too late for me to get my hair fixed and find a baby-sitter for the children. This is not the first time he has pulled this stunt and it probably won't be the last. I am a nice looking girl and can carry on a good conversation. If my husband is ashamed of me I can't figure out the reason. I guess he has a better time at parties when he can behave like a bachelor. Will you please tell me what to do about this humiliating situation? — Sub-basement Blues

Dear Sub: Party invitations are usually sent to the house, addressed to Mr. and Mrs. or if it's a phone invitation, one wife calls the other. I am mystified as to why you learn of these parties at the last moment.

Hunt up some sitters who can be called on short notice and don't be so fussy about your hair. The next time he pulls this cutie, get yourself ready and go with him.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Please say something to people who talk instead of eat. Six of us go out for dinner together a couple times a week. One woman in the group starts to talk the minute the food arrives and she doesn't touch her plate until everyone else has finished. Then we all have to wait for her to eat her main course before

Billboard Proclaims Anniversary

CHANDLER, Ariz. (AP) — Mrs. Henry L. Dunn almost drove through a stop sign a block from her home when she saw the anniversary gift from her husband who is in the Army in Vietnam.

It was a 10-by-25 foot billboard stating:

"Wanda. Happy 12th anniversary. I love you, Lee."

Capt. Dunn had written to a sign company in nearby Mesa ordering the sign, and the company insisted on doing the work free of charge.

Company officials called Mrs. Dunn on Friday to tell her the anniversary gift was ready but didn't say what it was. Dunn had written his wife saying he planned something different for their anniversary, but gave no details.

we can get our dessert. She is, unfortunately, a very slow eater. Sometimes we have to wait as long as 30 minutes.

This habit of hers always makes us late for the theater or the card game or whatever we have planned. If you have a cure, please pass it on. — X. Asperated

Dear X.: If no one has told this woman to stop talking and to start eating, someone should. Since you are the one who wrote, I suggest that you be the one to tell her.

An Accurate Defense Will Tighten Play

BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD

American hopes ran high a few weeks ago at the halfway point in the match for the world championship. After 64 hands of a 128-hand match, Italy led North America by 162 to 159 international match points. The 64th hand, shown today, did much to reduce the Italian lead.

In the Roman system, Walter Avarelli's opening bid of one club showed a minimum bid with balanced distribution. Giorgio Belladonna's jump to two spades showed strong spades with a hand roughly worth an opening bid. North's rebid of three diamonds showed good point count but poor support for spades, after which Belladonna proceeded to game in his good suit.

Norman Kay, a Philadelphia stockbroker for 50 weeks of the year, led the singleton ace of diamonds, hoping to get a diamond ruff later. Edgar Kaplan, of New York's famous Card School, won the second trick with the ace of hearts and had to make a key decision. Should he return a diamond or sit tight and wait for his diamond trick to develop later?

Spectators Watch

More than 500 bridge enthusiasts, watching the match on an electric board in the ballroom of the Americana Hotel in Miami Beach, saw that the diamond trick would not develop if Kaplan sat tight. South would discard a diamond on dummy's queen of hearts and another on the king of clubs.

cards, as the kibitzers could, but finally he worked it all out in his mind and returned a low diamond. That defeated the contract, since Kay ruffed and got another trump trick later with his king.

The hand was good for 12 international match points, since at the first table Toronto experts Eric Murray and Sammy Kehela had bid the North-South cards to three notrump, which Murray had made with an overtrick.

Daily Question

Partner opens with one heart and the next player bids one spade. You hold: S 5 4 H A 9 4 2 D Q 6 3 C 9 7 6 4. What do you say?

Answer: Bid two hearts. This may be your only cheap chance to show your support for hearts. If you pass and the next player bids two spades, you will have a worse problem at your next turn.

London Subways Deal Cold Blow To Miniskirts

By EDDY GILMORE
LONDON (AP) — Miniskirted girls riding London subways are finding new seats unbearable on their bare skin.

"It's a terrible shock to sit down on one of those seats early in the morning," explained one girl.

Railway Review, official magazine of the National Union of Railwaymen, says "London Transport is receiving a number of complaints" about fiber-glass seats on the Inner Circle line.

Test Reaction
The London subway is operated by London Transport. A spokesman said: "We shall bear in mind the views of the miniskirted young ladies. Of course, we have some people who like these seats better than the old ones. The fiber-glass seats are experimental, and we are waiting for the public's reaction."

Most London dollys wear body stockings or tights beneath their minis in autumn, winter and spring. With the warmer days, they've returned to ordinary stockings. This leaves a patch of bare flesh between stocking top and panty bottom. This is the area that's causing the trouble.

The Railway review said the seats were shaped to accommodate the body but admitted that early in the morning they can be cold. The magazine said other passengers find the seats too hard.

Giesen Family Has Reunion

NEW HOLSTEIN — The first reunion of the Giesen family was an all-day picnic Sunday at the New Holstein Park. Five generations were present. Mrs. Nell Hoffman, Neenah, who is 87, was the oldest member. Scott Rogers, nine-week-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Rogers, Neenah, was the youngest.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Giesen, Mrs. Chris Wilkens and Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Giesen had charge of the reunion. The committee for the 1968 reunion is composed of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Schultz, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Giesen and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wilkens.

Families at the reunion were from Kiel, New Holstein, Chilton, Hilbert, Brothertown, Stockbridge, Neenah, Menasha, Stevensville, Appleton, Sheboygan and Port Wayne, Ind.

Fanciful Approach

Some good cooks like to add celery seed to a seafood cocktail sauce made with chili sauce or catchup, lemon juice and horseradish.

Marketing Memo

Cheaper Meats Take To Outdoor Cookery

Food shopping this week might as well include supplies for the extended holiday weekend, suggests Rosemary Stare, consumer marketing specialist at the University of Wisconsin. It's also a good idea to buy enough "extras" for unexpected guests.

When planning an outdoor meal, economize by selecting less expensive cuts of meat to replace the usual fast-cooking, more tender steak cuts—usually more expensive in the summer because of increased demand.

Ground meats such as beef, lamb, pork or veal are usually low in cost all year round and are easy to prepare for outdoor cooking. For quick and thorough cooking don't make patties too thick, Mrs. Stare reminds.

Frankfurters are a favorite with young people and are convenient to pack, transport, cook and serve. Current prices are at moderate levels. Broilers rise slightly in price during summer months, but are still a good low-cost meat for grilling.

The flavor can be varied by using different types of basting while cooking.

Turkeys for Cook-Outs

More people are beginning to use turkey for cook-outs, such as the small, four to six-pound fryer-roaster or turkey quarters. Turkey pieces such as legs, wings, or wings with breast are other grill possibilities. Mrs. Stare suggests you allow longer cooking time since turkey is thicker than most other meats.

Fish is another taste treat when grilled over charcoal. Various types of fresh and frozen fish are available at most markets and if there's a fisherman in your family you have a ready-made source of supply.

Imaginative Dash

Next time you serve raisin sauce with smoked tongue, you might enjoy adding slivers of crystallized or preserved ginger to the sauce.

As soon as those muffins come out of the oven, tip them slightly in the muffin-pan wells. Serve right away!

Ever add a little peppermint extract to chocolate sauce? Delicious on chocolate or vanilla ice cream!

Other inexpensive meats for outdoor cooking include cubes of beef or lamb marinated for kabobs; breast of veal or lamb with barbecue sauce; smoked pork (such as ham or picnic) for the rotisserie-type grill; and even chuck steaks can be elegant when marinated before cooking over coals.

Dilled Cauliflower New Pickle Product
OCONTO — Flavor cured Hot Dill Cauliflower is being introduced nationally in one-quarter jars by a pickle plant here after six months of successful market testing.

Produced by a special formula, the new product is processed from bright, northern-grown cauliflower seasoned with selected spices and red peppers. It is ideal as an hors d'oeuvre, a condiment or in combination with other vegetables as well as in the company of various snacks.

Don't ask.

Pope Revives Deacon Rank

Married Men Will be Accepted to Fill Shortage of Priests

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI Tuesday revived the permanent rank of ordained deacon in the Roman Catholic Church for both married and single men to help meet a shortage of priests.

In a document titled "Sacrum Diaconatus Ordinum"—the Sacred Order of the Diaconate, the pontiff carried out another major recommendation of the 1962-65 Vatican Ecumenical Council. It urged creation of permanent deacons to help in areas where priests are scarce.

The document was issued four days after a papal encyclical reaffirming the requirement that priests be celibate and rejecting demands that they be allowed to marry.

The deacons will be ordained ministers who can preach and confer some sacraments but not say mass or hear confession, which only priests can do.

Those eligible for the permanent diaconate will be married men at least 35 years old, provided they have the consent of their wives, and single men at least 25 years old who must remain single after becoming deacons.

Home Reading Games Actually Teach Children Varied Skills

BY LESLIE J. NASON, ED. D.
University of Southern California

It takes a lot of practice at home for a child to learn to talk well and easily. School with its large classes is not the place.

Acquiring such skills can be made a game.

Children enjoy retelling stories read by their mothers. They will repeat the same tale many times, adding detail in the process. Mother sets up the game so that the child must pay attention in order to repeat the story.

A child's attention span can be increased gradually as the stories become longer and more complex. His ability to follow and describe a sequence of events can be developed. Before he enters first grade he should be able to use at least 250 to 300 words in telling a story.

What To Do

In this game, the mother has an excellent opportunity to bring in several other bits of training. By moving her finger from left to right across the pages as she reads, she makes it clear that the sound and the word are identified with the printed symbols on the page. She continually accents the left to right idea, which is important. She may actually speak of it as left to right occasionally, the same as she does in talking of shoes.

Mother should listen keenly for any hearing or speech difficulty and get help if need be right at the start.

James was lucky in this respect.

During his pre-school years his mother had made a point to listen each day to something that James would describe—whether something he had seen on a trip to the store or a story that had been read to him. He was allowed to tell the story in his own words.

His mother was careful to listen. She listened to know whether he had understood the words and make them his own, using them correctly.

The Lost Schoolyear

Just as she gave her attention when he talked, she insisted that he give his attention as he listened. She encouraged him to talk in complete sentences.

Thus he could contribute to a class discussion because he had held discussions previously with his mother and father. He did well not only in kindergarten but in later grades.

On the other hand, Mack had little opportunity to discuss things at home. On entering first grade he was not fluent. His sentences were short and he used no more than 100 words in telling any story. He spoke in a babyish way, and very slowly.

Even though he stayed an extra year in the first grade, he is still more than a year below reading level in the third grade. He fails to recognize words on the page even after he has learned the same words from word cards. He seems satisfied with less than accurate understanding of words and accurate hearing and speaking the words.

Frank Robinson, Chisox' Al Weis Hurt, Horlen Blanks Orioles for 9th Victory

Boston Rookie Posts First Win In Majors, Stops Twins, 3-2

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Carl Yastrzemski, still groggy from the effects of a persistent head cold, is the healthiest member of the American League's Big Three.

Yastrzemski had the snuffles today after returning to the Boston Red Sox' lineup in Tuesday night's 3-2 victory over Minnesota. But Al Kaline and Frank Robinson, the other two-thirds of the AL All-Star outfield, were far less fortunate.

Kaline, Detroit's injury-prone superstar, all but knocked himself out of the July 11 classic when he broke his right hand in a rare fit of temper during the slumping Tigers' 8-1 loss to Cleveland.

And Robinson, Baltimore's non-pareil slugger, was nursing a giant-size headache after suffering a slight concussion in a baseline collision with Chicago second baseman Al Weis as the first-place White Sox trimmed the Orioles 5-0.

Out for Season

Weis, however, was the unluckiest of all. He's out for the season with torn ligaments in his left knee.

In Tuesday night's other AL games the Washington Senators drubbed California 9-4 and the New York Yankees edged Kansas City 2-1 after losing their doubleheader opener 10-2.

McDowell scattered eight hits and Chico Salmon drove in four runs with two doubles and a homer as the Indians extended Detroit's losing string to four games.

Robinson and Weis were injured when the Baltimore star slid into second base, breaking up a double play in the fourth inning. Robinson lay unconscious for five minutes. Both players then were sent to Baltimore's Sinai Hospital for X-rays.

Hospitalized Overnight

Robinson suffered a concussion and contusions over his left eyebrow. He had trouble recalling the collision and was hospitalized overnight as a precautionary measure. He will be held out of the Orioles' line-ups for at least two days.

Weis was to fly back to Chicago today for immediate surgery. His injuries were diagnosed as a torn medial collateral ligament and a torn anterior cruciate ligament, both in the left knee.

"This takes away the taste of victory," Manager Eddie Stanley said after Joe Horlen, 9-1, had checked the Orioles on five hits. "I'd rather lose five games and have Weis."

Rookie Gary Waslewski posted his first victory in the majors, collaborating with reliever John Wyatt on a four-hitter as the Red Sox slipped past the Twins. Yastrzemski played 5 1/2

Doubleheaders Will be Piling Up

Cubs Need More Pitchers

BY JOE MOOSHIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Cubs aren't exactly in tears because their seven-game winning streak was snapped by Philadelphia Tuesday, but they are crying for help.

Under ordinary conditions a team like the Cubs, which finished last in 1966 and is currently in contention for the pennant, would be happy with the situation.

But this isn't so. The Cubs' first goal was to finish out of the cellar, a feat they should have no difficulty accomplishing.

Far From Assured

Next was a first division finish, something which is far from assured in the tough National League race.

Now the Cubs are serious about challenging for the pennant and since this has become their objective, they need help. Manager Leo Durocher dismisses the setting of any goals.

"All we want to do is keep winning," says Durocher, "Where we finish will take care of itself. Sure, we need help. I could use another outfielder, another catcher and a lot of pitching."

Pitching is the main problem outside of finding someone who can give Iron Man Randy Hundley some catching help. Hundley has caught every inning of every game after sitting out the first three contests of the season with spring training injuries.

Keep Going

"I can't ask that boy to keep going but if I go up to him and tell him to sit out a game, he'll hit me with a bat," says Durocher.

Cool weather has helped Hundley continue his Iron Man chore, but he and Durocher both know it can't go on, especially when the weather gets hot and the doubleheaders pile up.

"We've been lucky with our pitching," says Durocher, "but we know it can't keep up. I can't keep dipping into the bullpen for help everyday."

Leo not only has had to dip into the bullpen for relief help but recently he started a couple of relief pitchers in a doubleheader and both Bill Hands and Joe Niekro turned in surprising complete-game triumphs.

Need Pitching

"We can't look to other teams for help," says Vice President John Holland. "But we've got a flock of doubleheaders coming after the All-Star break and we need more pitching."

The Cubs had to go to veteran Curt Simmons Tuesday and Don Lick reached him for a three-run homer in the third inning.

Cards, Reds, Cubs Lose; Al Kaline Fractures Hand

Tiger Star Breaks Bone On Bat Rack

BY BILL HALLS
Associated Press Writer

DETROIT (AP) — All-Star outfielder Al Kaline, who never attended or played in a World Series Game, might have killed the slumping Detroit Tigers' chances for an American League pennant Tuesday night when he smashed his right hand on the bat rack in a rare fit of temper.

The 32-year-old rightfielder, who poled 242 of a possible 247 votes from AL players to lead the All-Star voting, fractured the hand and probably won't be able to play in the July 11th game at Anaheim. He will be lost to the team for two or three weeks.

"We haven't thrown in the towel yet," said Tigers Manager Mayo Smith, obviously disturbed as Detroit lost its fourth straight game, an 8-1 decision to Sam McDowell of the Cleveland Indians.

14th Loss in 19 Games

The loss was Detroit's 14th in its last 19 games and left them 5 1/2 games behind league-leading Chicago and only one half game ahead of the surging Boston Red Sox.

When Joe Sparma faces Cleveland's John O'Donoghue tonight, Smith most likely will use light-hitting Mickey Stanley in center field, switching Jim Northrup to right, with Willie Horton, who has a slight calf injury, in left.

The injury to Kaline was coupled with news of severe chest colds to pitchers Hank Aguirre, Fred Gladding and Johnny Podres, plus a hip injury suffered by Earl Wilson, 8-7, who started against Cleveland Tuesday.

"Kaline suffered a fractured

Closing His Eyes while running, Ron Clarke of Australia set a world record in the 2-mile event in competition, near Stockholm, Sweden. Clarke, holder of six world records, covered the distance in 8:19.8. The previous mark was 8:22.6 held by Michael Jazy of France. (AP Wirephoto)

Ron Clarke Sets New 2-Mile Mark

Durable Australian Establishes World Record of 8:19.8 in Meet

VAESTERAAS, Sweden (AP) — Clarke now holds six world records. In addition to the two-mile track star, set a world mile and 5,000 meters, he holds record of 8:19.8 here Tuesday the three-mile at 12:50.4, the six night. Now he plans to attempt mile at 26:47.0, the 10,000 to break his world mark of 27:39.4 and the 10 mile at 3:16.6 for the 5,000 meters at 47:12.8.

He also used to hold the world records for the 20,000 meters and the one-hour run.

Clarke, a lean 29-year-old Aussie who was the first to crack the 28-minute barrier for the 10,000 meters and the 13-minute barrier for the three miles, was surprised after he learned of his record time in the two mile.

"Really?" he exulted. "It's fantastic. Of course I tried for a new world record, but I did not beat a hole-in-one, Monday at think I could manage it after the Forest Hill Country Club. Some stomach ache earlier in Mike O'Hara's No. 6 iron shot the day." He blew kisses to the crowd of 5,000 and started a triumphant jog around the on the par three, 160-yard 16th track.

Clarke's remarkable last lap of 59.8 seconds enabled him to playing with O'Hara, also used break the listed world mark of a No. 6 iron and put his tee shot 8:22.6 set by Michael Jazy of in the cup. However, he scored France in 1965. He finished far a par three because he had taken ahead of Lars Bergqvist, the en a two stroke penalty when runnerup timed in 8:56.5.

Braves Roll To 13-5 Win Over Astros

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Before the game, the Pittsburgh Pirates put on an act for Walter Matthau and Jack Lemmon. During the game, they put on an act worthy of Abbott and Costello.

The first act proved more profitable. At least several of the Pirates earned $100 each for it. They didn't get anything for the second act except a lot of confusion and a 5-2 loss to the New York Mets.

In the pre-game festivities, the Pirates and Mets acted out a triple play for a scene in the movie, "The Odd Couple," which stars Matthau as a sloppy sports writer and Lemmon as his roommate who is obsessed with cleanliness.

In the scene, Bill Mazeroski—subbing for Roberto Clemente who rejected the $100 role—hits into the triple play.

In the game, the bizarre festivities centered around the part of the Pirate line-up that followed Mazeroski, the No. 5 hitter in the batting order.

In less than National League games San Francisco blanked St. Louis 6-0, Atlanta clobbered Houston 13-5, Los Angeles whipped Cincinnati 9-0 and Philadelphia stopped Chicago 4-2.

The odd incident in the Pirate-Met game came in the third inning after Jose Pagan cut the New York lead to 5-2 with a two-run double. As Jim Pagliarone stepped into the batter's box, Mets Manager Wes Westrum emerged from the dugout.

"That man batted out of turn," Westrum told plate umpire Al Barlick.

"He did?" Barlick asked, somewhat surprised.

"Yes," Westrum coolly replied.

Indeed Pagan had batted out of turn. So had Gene Alley, who preceded Pagan with the second out in the inning.

Mollowed Scoreboard

As the puzzle became unraveled, the participants learned that in the official line-up handed Barlick and Westrum before the game, Pagan was listed as the sixth batter and Alley the seventh. But in the line-up listed on the scoreboard, Alley was No. 6 and Pagan No. 7.

And, unfortunately for the Pirates, they were following the scoreboard even though the correct

One of Few Public Layouts Pros
See; Palmer, Nicklaus Favored

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
MONTREAL (AP) — The Canadian Open Golf Championship, carrying a beamed up value of $200,000 and increased prestige, begins Thursday with Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus the co-favorites.

The site is the Montreal Municipal Course, 6,800-yard, par 71 layout and one of the very few municipal courses the pros see on their regular tour.

It has been refurbished and toughened for the tournament but remains flat and waterless and should pose few problems for the elite field.

"The course seems to be in good shape, but it could be better," said Jim Ferrier, a former PGA champ, long-time campaigner in this tournament and the last man to win consecutive Canadian titles, in 1950-51.

Some Bare Spots
"There are still some bare spots on the greens, but they shouldn't cause any major problems. The biggest problems are going to be those little ridges and gullies," he said.

Ferrier was one of a handful of the top names to play a practice round Tuesday, with most of the major touring pros just checking in.

Among the late arrivals were Palmer, who claimed his first professional title in the Canadian Open in 1955; Billy Casper and Julius Bosos, each a two-time former U.S. Open champ; Nicklaus, the current U.S. Open king, and Ken Nagel, the former British Open champ.

Casper, Bosos and young Frank Beard also rank as top challengers for the $30,000 first prize, with Nagel and Gary Player of South Africa heading the non-American foreign field. Don Massengale is the defending champion.

Al Balding and George Knudson are the major threats in a field of 26 Canadians. Balding, coming back from a shoulder operation, has been very impressive in recent outings. Knudson is the current Canadian top individual champion.

The field of 156 will cut to the low 70 and ties for the final two rounds Saturday and Sunday. If a playoff is necessary it will be over 18 holes Monday.

The final two rounds are scheduled for national television coverage in the United States and Canada. CBS-TV and CBC-TV will televise the matches 4-6 p.m. EDT, both Saturday and Sunday.

Schiter Doubles
Home Winning Run
In 11th Inning

MARION — Tom Schiter doubled home Bruce West in the bottom of the 11th inning to give the Marion American Legion team a 5-4 victory over New London Tuesday night.

Schiter's hit, his third of the game, came after West had walked and stole second.

It broke up a pitching duel between New London's Don Berglund and Marion's Dave Dahlman, who each hurled the distance.

Marion held a 4-3 edge going into the top of the ninth, but Jim Crane's single, Greg Wing's double and a sacrifice fly by John Kaepernick tied the game.

Ron Zimdars led Marion with three hits in four at bats including a homer and a double. He also had three RBI's for the game.

Dahlman struck out 14, walked four and allowed five hits in pitching the win for Marion. Berglund fanned nine batters and walked five.

With the victory, Marion ran its record to 5-1 while New London is now 1-4.

Voelz Twirls No-Hitter in Appleton BRL

Lance Voelz fashioned a no-hit, no-run game and struck out 14 as Jenkel Oil defeated Arrow Moving, 3-0, in the Appleton Babe Ruth League Tuesday.

Losing hurler Dwight Mueller yielded only two hits, but one was a 2-run triple by Steve Horn. Mueller fanned 10.

In a game Monday Fox Tractor's Pat Wickesburg and Arrow Moving's Paul Bowman both hurled 5-hit ball, but Fox Tractor matched its hits with runs for a 5-3 victory.

Wickesburg struck out eight and Bowman fanned 10. The two pitchers also paced their respective teams in hitting. Wickesburg had a double and Bowman a pair of hits.

Four Fox Cities Softball Teams In Tournament

LUXEMBURG — Green Bay's 616 Club, currently going after its second softball title in a Kaukauna tournament will reach for its fourth in succession Monday when play opens in the 19th Annual Luxembourg Softball Tournament.

The meet, sponsored by the local American Legion Post, gets underway with three games Monday night and will continue each night through Saturday.

Among the 18 teams entered will be four from the Fox Cities. Kaukauna will be represented by two clubs—Bob & Mary's Bar and the Schouten Oilers. Bleier's Bar of Appleton and Neenah Merchants are also included.

Three games are scheduled

Angler Hooks Bear, Nearly Loses Fishing Outfit, Gets Souvenir

ELY, Minn. (AP) — Fisherman Frank Kosir tried his luck in Brown's Lake and hooked a medium-sized black bear.

The Ely angler and two companions went up for a closer look in their motor-powered boat when they saw the bruin swimming.

Kosir, in the excitement, forgot about his rod and reel, and a trailing hook snagged the bear's fur.

The animal headed for land, nearly getting away with Kosir's $50 fishing outfit. But the hook jerked loose and Kosir got his trophy: a tuft of bear hair.

Takes Lead Among Active Players

'Slams' So Rare Aaron Can't Recall Last One

By RON SPEER
Associated Press Sports Writer
ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Hank Aaron has hit more grand-slam homers than any other active major leaguer, but the four-run blasts come so rare even for the Atlanta slugger that he couldn't remember when he hit his 10th.

"I don't remember whether I hit one last year or not," Aaron said after his bases-loaded clout ignited the Braves' 13-5 conquest of Houston Tuesday night.

The third-inning shot, 423 feet into the center field stands, was the 11th grand-slam of Aaron's career, breaking him out of a tie for the active player's lead with Ernie Banks of the Chicago Cubs.

Aaron added a two-run shot in the eighth inning, giving him the National League lead in homers with 20 for the season.

"I think maybe I hit a grand-slam against Pittsburgh last year, but I'm not sure," Aaron said. "I don't keep up with those things."

Come in Streaks
A check of the records showed that the 10th four-run blow by Aaron was June 8, 1966, against the New York Mets, when he also hit a two-run homer.

"Homers come like that, in streaks," said Aaron, who probably will be named to the National League All-Star team for the 13th straight year.

"You don't get very many chances for grand-slam homers, that's why even the good hitters have so few in their career," Aaron said. "I imagine I only come up four or five times a season with the bases loaded."

Told that he still has less than half of the all-time high of 23 set by the late Lou Gehrig of the New York Yankees, Aaron said "I'll never catch him. There's no way I could get that many. There just isn't enough opportunities."

Aaron's two homers and an infield single boosted his batting average to .327 and gave him 53 runs batted in, one behind Houston's Jim Wynn.

Waupaca '9' Tips W-F in Legion Action

WAUPACA — Waupaca pushed across single runs in the first, third and fourth innings to score a 3-0 triumph over the Weyawega-Fremont American Legion team Tuesday in a game shortened to five innings by rain.

Ken Tappa allowed just two hits—a pair of fifth inning singles and struck out five to gain the victory. Chuck Koehler also had five strikeouts in a losing cause.

Waupaca's first run came home when Bob Solberg was safe on an error, stole second and crossed the plate on Al Thompson's double. Thompson scored again in the third on Dan Stocker's foul fly out.

Solberg doubled in Terry Martin for Waupaca's final marker in the fourth.

The winners are now 4-2 in Valley Legion play while W-F stands 1-4.

Bowling Clinic Set by Recreation Department

Youngsters from the fifth grade and up are invited to participate in a free bowling clinic at 10 a.m. Thursday at Hahn's Lanes, sponsored by the Appleton Recreation Department.

Fundamentals of the game will be explained by qualified instructors.

Miami, Denver Involved in 7-Player Trade

Gilchrist, Wilson to Broncos; Dolphins Get Abner Haynes

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Seven players went into an American Football League dice cup Tuesday, and when they stopped rolling Miami acquired three and four were traded to Denver, including the controversial full-back Cookie Gilchrist.

The Dolphins gave Denver offensive guard Ernie Park, defensive end Earl Faison, second-year quarterback George Wilson Jr., and a high 1968 draft choice plus the garrulous Gilchrist.

In return Miami got running back Abner Haynes, linebacker Jerry Hopkins and defensive end Dan Larose.

Gilchrist resigned from the Broncos last year in a huff over disagreements with management. The Broncos then traded him to Miami in midseason.

Traded by Saban

Gilchrist came to Denver from Buffalo — and was traded to the Broncos by then Buffalo coach Lou Saban, now head coach and general manager at Denver.

Saban said he expects no trouble from the often troublesome Cookie — "Cookie will have a job to do, and it will be his responsibility to do it."

In Miami, Wilson's father, the Dolphin coach, said he thinks the trade will give his son "more of an opportunity to show himself as a quarterback at Denver without being under the handicap of having his dad as his coach."

Saban said young Wilson is "a gutty fellow, the scrambling type who ran the ball 27 times for 137 yards last year, and will be given every opportunity to be our No. 1 quarterback in what will be a wide-open battle between a half dozen candidates."

Kaline Breaks Bone in Hand

metacarpal (bone behind the little finger) in his right hand," said team physician Dr. Russell Wright. "He will be out two or three weeks."

Severe Bruise

He said Wilson, injured while covering home plate in the second inning following a wild pitch, suffered a severe bruise on his right hip and right knee. "But I think he'll be able to pitch," said Wright.

McDowell, who hasn't won since May 30th, boosted his record to 4-6, striking out nine, including Kaline twice.

Kaline, an All-Star selection 13 straight years, injured his hand in the sixth inning when he slammed his bat into the bat rack after striking out.

He had a six-game hitting streak going against McDowell and had gone 8 for 18 before going hitless in three trips against the fireballing southpaw, driving in eight runs. Three of the hits were homers.

The loss undoubtedly leaves Detroit, which has lost 14 of its last 19 games, in deep trouble with a three-game showdown series with Chicago coming up Friday.

Finest Start

Kaline was off to his finest start in 14 major league seasons, leading the team in batting at 328 RBIs with 53 and homers with 15.

Kaline, at 20 youngest player ever to win the American League batting title, has a history of severe injuries.

In 1962, with Detroit battling the New York Yankees for the pennant, he suffered a dislocated shoulder making a game saving catch in Yankee Stadium and was lost for 50 key games.

He was out a dozen games in 1959 with a fractured cheek bone, lost 28 games in 1965 with a bad foot and a rib injury, and underwent surgery in October 1965 for a chronic foot malformation.

Buckpasser Syndicated for $4.8 Million

NEW YORK (AP) — Buckpasser, the 1966 thoroughbred Horse of the Year, has been syndicated for a record $4.8 million for stud duty in 1968.

Ogden Phipps, owner of the famed 4-year-old colt who has won more than $1.3 million, said 16 of 32 shares had been sold to prominent owners and breeders for $150,000 per share. Phipps said he was retaining the other 16 shares, or half interest.

The syndication will not become effective until the son of Tom Fool-Busanda passes a fertility test. He is scheduled to stand at the Claiborne farm of Arthur "Bull" Hancock in Lexington, Ky.

The previous record for a syndicated stallion was the $2.6 million for Harbor View Farm's Raise A Native last February.

innings after missing Monday night's game because of his heavy cold.

Tony Conigliaro clubbed a two-run homer off Joser Dean Chance in the first inning and the Red Sox added a run in the seventh on singles by Jerry Adair, Bob Tillman and Reggie Smith. Tony Oliva homered for Minnesota in the second inning and singled across another run in the ninth against Wyatt.

Ken McMullen's three-run homer and a pair of bases-empty blasts by rookie Mike Epstein powered the Senators' 17-hit attack against the Angels. Paul Casanova had a single, double and triple for Washington as the AL tailenders ended right-hander Jim McGlothlin's winning string at five.

Jim "Catfish" Hunter pitched a three-hitter and Danny Cater drove in four runs with a single and double as the A's snapped New York's four-game victory streak in the opener at Kansas City.

The Yankees rebounded behind the five-hit pitching of Joe Verbanic and three relievers to gain a split. Horace Clarke and Dick Howser stroked run-scoring singles and left-hander Steve Hamilton stopped a KC comeback with 11 innings of clutch relief.

rect, official line-up was posted in their dugout.

How did the scoreboard happen to be wrong? It seems a Pirate broadcaster asked Walker before the game for his line-up, and Walker reeled off—as it turned out, incorrectly—a batting order with Pagan following Alley.

"There were six million people asking me for my line-up," Walker said afterward. "I'll never give it out that way again."

The broadcaster, in the course of conversation, relayed the line-up to the man responsible for putting it on the scoreboard. So there it was.

Met coach Sheriff Robinson caught the discrepancy, but Westrum let it go through the first two innings when the reversal of Alley and Pagan did the Mets no harm.

The turn of events enabled the Mets to hold onto the victory behind a four-run first-inning outburst, capped by Ron Swoboda's three-run homer.

Tames Cardinals

Mike McCormick scattered seven hits as San Francisco cooled off St. Louis, at least temporarily. Hal Lanier struck the big blow, a two-run double with the bases loaded in the fifth inning.

Hank Aaron smashed his 19th and 20th homers, a grand slam and a two-run blast, for Atlanta. Houston starter Wade Blasingame, a Brave until recently, walked three men before Aaron connected in the third.

Don Sutton set down Cincinnati on two hits and received solid support from batterymate John Roseboro, who drove in four runs with a pair of doubles.

The Phillies snapped Chicago's winning streak at seven games. Don Lock's three-run homer in the third did the heavy damage to the Cubs, and Rick Wise stymied them on three hits before needing relief help from Dick Hall in the seventh.

LaFollette Sees Need for Public Relations; Outlines Legislation

LAND O' LAKES—Atty. Gen. Bronson LaFollette, in a whirlwind visit to the Wisconsin Sheriffs and Deputy Sheriffs Association convening at the Gateway here Tuesday afternoon talked of three problem areas in law enforcement and then told lawmen what he intends to do to remedy some of them.

LaFollette cited community relations, technological advancements and "police professionalization."

LaFollette, whose airline flight was delayed by bad weather, was unable to stay for a discussion period with conference delegates many of whom were anxious to question him regarding his recent ruling on police compacts for emergency situations—such as college campus riots.

LaFollette said that police-community relations is the most important and difficult area of police work. "It calls for more patience, more discretion and more understanding, than criminal investigation and apprehension ever could," he said.

The attorney general said that a policeman's job is frequently that of an "amateur psychologist and social worker. How he performs this role will be the single most important factor in your officers' relation with the community," LaFollette told lawmen.

Speaking of technological advancements, LaFollette said that as criminals become more mobile and sophisticated, police are forced to keep a step ahead.

It was primarily in this area that LaFollette cited his problem solutions. He proposed a state-wide crime information center tied to a national system. Such a central identification and information center would gather data on crime and criminal suspects from Wisconsin law enforcement agencies.

LaFollette explained that federal and state funds could be used at no direct cost to the county.

Only four states are without such a system, he said, and Wisconsin is one. Legislation backing a state-wide crime information center will be introduced in the fall session of the legislature, he said.

Abolish Charge

He also proposed abolishing the $17.50 charge per manhour for the services of a state crime laboratory and that the county have these services without charge. LaFollette said that his office also has drafted legislation repealing the section of the statute authorizing the charges. He indicated that the cost and delay, now a prime criticism of the state crime laboratory, would be ended if the laboratory is placed under the control of his office, as is proposed under the Kellett reorganization bill.

LaFollette hinted that more proposals concerning law enforcement will be forthcoming although he didn't elaborate.

LaFollette said he views the policeman as a professional. His office has drafted legislation which would require the state to reimburse local units of government for one-half the salaries paid to law enforcement officers.

LaFollette was critical of salaries paid Wisconsin policemen, saying that the average salary including that of supervisory personnel such as police chiefs and sheriffs, is $5,900. His proposed legislation would set a $6,000 individual minimum before the municipality could receive half reimbursement by the state. Maximum reimbursement would be $6,000 per policeman, LaFollette said.

The proposal will be put to the legislature in the fall. He said passage of the bill would increase the number of police applicants and result in a smaller turnover in experienced personnel.

Morals Charges Denied by Omro Man, 22

WAUPACA — Joel R. Grossman, 22, 336 E. Main St., Omro, pleaded innocent of three morals charges and waived a preliminary hearing Tuesday when he appeared in Waupaca County Court.

Grossman, who has retained Waupaca attorney Edward Hartso represent him, was arrested Sunday at Fremont and charged with taking indecent liberties with a minor, possession of lewd and obscene pictures and indecent exposure. The alleged incident involved a 7-year-old Ohio girl, according to sheriff's department authorities.

Arraigned Monday in Municipal Justice Court, Grossman was bound over to County Court for trial and bond was set at $2,500 by Justice George Whalen. Tuesday the bond was reduced to $1,500 by Judge Wendell McHenry with the approval of the district attorney Grossman was released after posting the bond.

Grossman will be arraigned in County Court at 10 a.m. June 30.

Passing Bad Checks Brings $25 Fine

Mrs. Bernard Lessor, 511 W. 7th St., Appleton, was fined $25 and costs or 12 days in jail Tuesday afternoon for passing worthless checks.

She pleaded guilty in Outagamie County Court Branch 2. The original complaint alleged that Mrs. Lessor had passed a $5 check at a Kaukauna food store Aug. 13, 1966.

She made restitution for that check and others for $10 and $20.

Judge Warns Sheriffs About Federal Control

Supreme Court Justice Blasts 'Colonial Approach' at Lawmakers Summer Session

LAND O' LAKES — State Supreme Court Justice-elect Robert W. Hansen, warned Tuesday night of the danger of what he indicated was increasing federal control over law enforcement.

The Milwaukee County Circuit Judge, in a banquet address to the Wisconsin Sheriffs and Deputy Sheriffs Association summer conference hit at guidelines or standards in law enforcement operating procedures which, if they are to be federally imposed, would have a "federalizing coming with a carrot in one hand and a whip in the other."

Applause Interrupts

Judge Hansen told state lawmen he hoped "when the federalizers come to Wisconsin offering aid in exchange for federal control," that the sheriffs and local governments will tell them, "We don't need your aid, nor want your control."

The judge who lived up to his reputation of "speaking off the cuff," often had his talk interrupted by applause from the 300 conference delegates and their wives.

Several times Judge Hansen referred to, and frequently criticized, the recently-published national crime commission report. One aspect of the report, he indicated, urged that law enforcement personnel in supervisory capacities have a minimum of a baccalaureate degree. His reply had strong support.

"There will be more good police officers come out of the rice paddies of Vietnam than will be graduated from classes on law or sociology at our universities."

Kill Promotions

He said the commission recommendation would "lay the axe" to the concept of in-service promotions.

Judge Hansen called for less nationalization of law enforcement and more of "a partnership of equals" with participation of federal, state and local agencies in the fight against crime. He said there should be a "delineating and defining" of the roles of the three agencies in such a partnership.

"The overall emphasis on massive programs of federal action is alarming," he said, and continued, "The fight against crime will not be won from the nation's capital, but from that partnership of equals."

"If decisions are to be made at the federal level, ratified at the state level and merely implemented at the local level, we will have a new tops-down colonial approach that will not work," he said.

Judge Optimistic

The judge, although admitting there have been mounting attacks on law enforcement in the past decade, was optimistic about the future. He compared the present "phase" of disrespect for law and order, "especially in the larger cities," with frontier and mining-camp days and said "the tide for respect for law and order is coming in."

He said people don't want to continue to live in fear and added, "This chaos will not be permanent."

The likelihood of apprehension and prosecution remains the single greatest deterrent to crime, Judge Hansen said. He added that respect for law and cooperation with police has to be bred largely in the home, church and school.

Tax Increase Could Bring More Troubles

Reaction Against Measure Could Reduce Revenue

AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — A tax surcharge, which the head of the Federal Reserve Board suggested this week is the main need of the economy, could turn out to mean more economic headaches—and less revenue than is hoped for.

This is a tricky measure. Experts as the tax technicians may be in this era of the manipulated economy, they cannot foresee all the consequences of the tax plan. This probably explains the hesitancy in putting the plan into action.

It was first proposed by the administration early this year as a six per cent surcharge on all corporate and personal income taxes—in effect a tax on your taxes. The reasoning behind the proposal was that a vigorous 1967 economy would need a restraining influence.

Inflation Threat
It is being advocated now—by William McChesney Martin, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board—as a revenue builder that might help offset a deficit in government financing and lessen the threat of inflation.

But the 1967 economy has not been as strong as anticipated, even though Martin referred to "the recovery under way." A surtax could shrink the tax base by slowing business. And if the base shrinks, so will the revenue produced from it.

Problems such as this are what lead to recurring opinions that the Johnson administration has few options. The needle on the compass points to some unpleasant weather in any direction.

Other Policies
As Martin indicated, the big problem is the government's big deficit, estimated at somewhere between $13.5 billion and $29.2 billion and which, in some ways, is a contradiction to other federal policies.

For example, both the Johnson administration and the Federal Reserve have been using all their efforts this year to make credit more easily available and at lower rates. The reason: to prod the economy.

However, not all interest rates have gone down. Long-term rates—the charges on loans for periods of many years—actually have risen, and now some business loans are being made at record-high charges.

Easy Money
The fear now is that these high interest rates may develop also in consumer loans and in the home-mortgage market. This would abort completely the Federal Reserve's easy-money policy, which already has been less than successful.

As Martin indicated, the contradictory behavior of interest rates is based on a fear of the big government deficit, a deficit that means the government will have to borrow money.

When the government goes into the market for huge sums of money, it can cause additional upward pressure on interest rates. Some corporate treasurers, therefore, are borrowing now in advance of requirements to avoid a future shortage or higher rates.

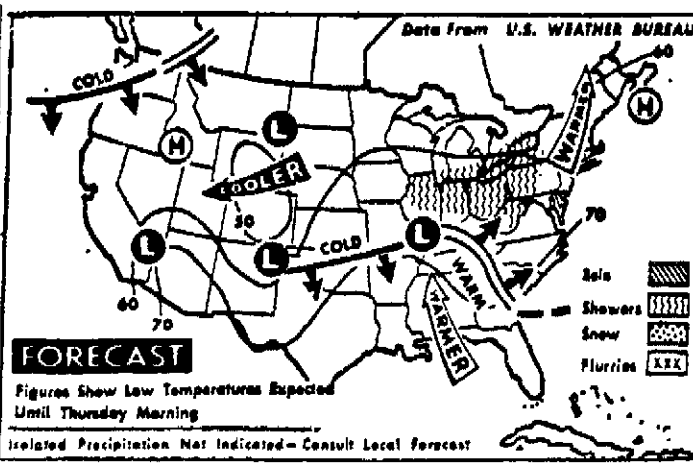

One solution would be to spur the economy to new heights once again, lifting production, consumption, and incomes. Revenue then also would be higher.

Plans Announced
Another would be to cut spending, a solution that seems to have possibilities chiefly among Republicans and Vietnam doves. But this option is not one the administration can do very much about gracefully now that its budget plans have been announced.

It could cut domestic spending, but that would be contrary to several goals. And it could not cut spending on the Vietnam war without a turnaround in its military philosophy.

The alternatives open are not at all pleasant, for none of them offers clear sailing without a few squalls to begin with. Nevertheless, as Martin indicated, a course must be chosen.

In advocating prompt action, Martin perhaps has in mind the experience of last year when, despite constant prodding, the administration failed to use fiscal measures, such as taxes, to cool an overheated economy.

Showers and Thunderstorms are forecast tonight in the Great Lakes and Ohio Valley. It will be warmer along the central Pacific coast, New England, lower Great Lakes region, the lower Ohio Valley and the Carolinas. (AP Wirephoto Map)

Shareholders Pass Merger

3-Way Union Would Form One of Largest Firms in Country

OSHKOSH — Shareowners of all three companies Tuesday approved of the North American Aviation, Inc., Rockwell-Standard Corp., and Draper Corp. merger to form a broadly diversified new company, North American Rockwell Corp.

Special meetings were held in Los Angeles for North American Aviation's shareowners; in Pittsburgh for Rockwell-Standard's shareowners, and in Portland, Maine, for Draper's Shareowners.

Rockwell-Standard Operates a large plant in Oshkosh, which is the city's largest employer and taxpayer.

North American Rockwell will manufacture products for over a dozen major markets — space, electronics, atomic energy, oceanography, aircraft, trucks, buses, passenger cars, farm machinery, construction equipment, textile machinery, filters, gears and other industrial products.

At the Rockwell-Standard meeting, which came after the other two, shareowners listened in on an amplified three-city telephone hook-up in which the three companies' presidents exchanged reports of favorable votes.

The three-way merger would create one of the 20 largest industrial firms in the nation, based on the companies' combined 1966 sales of $2.7 billion. North American Rockwell will have 116,000 employees working in 77 plants in 33 states and Canada and approximately 100,000 shareowners. Assets total $1.1 billion.

Right of Israel to Exist Must be Accepted

The continued Russian insistence that Israel was the sole cause of the war in the Middle East, that it must withdraw to its original borders and pay for the destruction may be only an attempt to save face for the Soviet Union. But it is not likely to bring peace to the Middle East. In fact such action would almost be certain to insure a continuation of the conflict and another outbreak some years in the future when the Arabs once more felt strong enough to risk war.

There is little doubt but that Israel fired the first shot in the war, except of course for the periodic terroristic raids mostly by Syrian extremists or members of the Palestinian Liberation Army. But it is equally obvious that Israel had little alternative if it were to survive. Great Britain, France and the United States had hemmed and hawed and it seemed clear they would not force open the Gulf of Aqaba to Israeli ships or innocent passage or find a way to prevent the raids. The major cause of the continued threat to peace in the Middle East is the refusal of the Arab nations to accept the existence of Israel. The Soviet Union has for its political purposes aided and abetted this refusal perhaps primarily in an effort to put the United States on the spot and to woo the Arab states so as to control the oil in the Middle East.

Dedicated Public Servants

Three Appleton public servants with a combined record adding up to more than a century's service to this community are deserving of the heartfelt thanks of all people of all walks of life who benefitted from their dedication to duty.

We are referring to Dr. William Gallaher, who recently retired as head of the Water Department but has been retained as a part-time consultant to the local utility; Dr. Carl Neidhold, longtime member and former president of the Board of Health; and Kurt Koletzke, recently retired member of the Fire and Police Commission. Each has served more than 30 years in public office.

Appleton has been fortunate in having the services of these men over a period of Soviet leaders must recognize the disastrous result of this policy since the Arab states were so overwhelmingly defeated by the Israeli forces. So while it may be necessary for Kossygin to continue the myth that it was all Israel's fault and that Israel was a front for the old forces of colonialism or even Nazism for the time being, a rational approach in the long run must concede Israel's right to exist and to survive.

Without Soviet backing, many Arab leaders eventually might come to accept Israel King Hussein was close to that point and the President of Morocco so stated some months ago. But the agitation of the extremists, Nasser's need to take the minds of his people off their hunger and his failures to improve the economy, and the subtle Russian backing meant that all the Arab leaders had to go along or risk their own positions. The major exception is the King of Saudi Arabia who paid only lip service to the pressure on Israel. In some ways this increases the problem for the United States which has sought to back such more conservative leaders.

The first requirement for a Middle Eastern solution is the acceptance of Israel's existence. Any retreat by Israeli troops must be accompanied by assurances of this acceptance which also means the international character of the Suez and the Gulf of Aqaba.

many decades. The Common Council and Mayor George Buckley made this clear with the recent presentation of public service plaques to Dr. Neidhold and Koletzke.

Dr. Gallaher has been feted at testimonials and will receive his plaque soon. In the meantime, the Water Commission has heeded the suggestion of the mayor and others that Dr. Gallaher continue to be an official advisor to the city as it embarks on a major water expansion program, thus taking advantage of his comprehensive knowledge and abilities.

Dr. Gallaher is one of the leading authorities on water in the country today. A grateful community salutes Dr. Gallaher and others like him who have been dedicated in carrying out the responsibilities of their public positions.

Code of Ethics Needed Now More Than Ever

From the viewpoint of restoring the people's confidence in the personal conduct of senators, the Senate has just begun its assignment with its censure vote of Connecticut Sen. Thomas Dodd.

The Senate's topic of debate was the individual case of Sen. Dodd and the specific charges against him. But as is true in the House problem of the conduct while in office of Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, the main concern of the electorate is having the Dodd case followed up with a Senate demonstration that it means business about formulating a code of ethics for senators and about having a Senate committee to enforce the code.

While the Dodd censure debate had the unfortunate circumstance of Louisiana Sen. Russell Long being the self-appointed defense counsel, the debate left a basis for uneasiness despite the one-sided final roll call on the censure on the main count of Sen. Dodd's having used $116,000 from political testimonial dinners for private purposes. Even though most of the words came from the bombastic Sen. Long who represents a state with free-wheeling political rules, there were too many inferences that Sen. Dodd was just caught in a web of events which well might entrap other senators if there were a way for the public to gain the truth.

And the Senate's vote of 51 to 45 on the secondary charge of Sen. Dodd having billed both the government and private concerns for several trips seemed to reflect the type of reasoning which worries the public.

Sen. Dodd himself said this was the most serious charge from the moral standpoint because it accused him of taking money from the government. But the majority Senate view seemed to be that Sen. Dodd had been made to suffer enough from his censure on the first count, that, after all, there was not much money involved compared to the $116,000 from the testimonial dinners, and that the double billing would never have become known had it not been for some unfaithful employes in Sen. Dodd's office. None of these reasons support letting the record say that the Senate does not disapprove of the senator collecting travel expenses from both the government and private concerns for the same trips.

As is true in the Powell matter, the Senate committee's findings should receive careful examination from the Internal Revenue Service for possible back tax claims on funds used for personal purposes.

The Dodd censure has helped restore public confidence in Congress. But both the Senate and the House should act promptly in ratifying a detailed code of ethics and in agreeing to supervision of the code by a ranking committee. Failure to do so will only contribute to an increase in the damaging attitude that Sen. Dodd and Rep. Powell just happened to represent cases which Congress could not overlook because of a public documenting of the evidence.

Looking Backward

Strollers Enjoy Fine Weather

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for June 29, 1867.

OUT WALKING — On almost every fine evening, especially Sundays, crowds of strollers, generally young ladies and gentlemen, throng the Second Ward Bridge, enjoying the scenery, the air or each other's company.

The crib work above the barrel factory also is a favorite place for the young folks, promenading to the music of their own pleasant thoughts, accompanied by the murmur of the river rolling along.

The hard-worked man, also with his wife and young ones takes this time, about his only leisure, for a short ramble in the evening or Sunday afternoon, forgetting the cares of life in the present peace and quiet.

Thus be it ever.

25 YEARS AGO

Wednesday, June 24, 1942.

N.A. Calder, Menasha High School coach, left that afternoon for Milwaukee for assignment to duty in the Vocational Officer Corps of the United States Army. Calder enlisted in World War I after graduation from Menasha

High School in 1918 and he was leaving the same school for military service again.

Robert Krause American Legion Post at Seymour elected Joe Hein Jr. commander, Steve Marsh, first vice commander; Forrest Huth, second vice commander; Jim Swann, adjutant; Arthur H. Otto, finance officer; Frank Tubbs, chaplain; E. F. Boyden, service officer; Albert Rudie, sergeant-at-arms, and E. L. McBain, publicity officer.

The Rev. James M. Johnson sang his first solemn high mass at his home parish, St. Mary in Bear Creek. As the Holy Name guard of honor and the priest approached the church in a procession, the church choir, under the direction of Mrs. Frank Flanagan, sang the "Veni Creator."

10 YEARS AGO

Wednesday, June 26, 1957.

Mrs. Ruth Murray, Oshkosh, was chosen vice chairman of the Republican State Committee.

Passing beginners' swim tests under Mickey McGuire, Appleton YMCA physical director, were Salley Schroeder, Karin Hovde, Nancy Jayne, Nancy Ashman, Diane Ashman, Linda Beebe and Susan Miller.

Passing the minnow test were Richard Hardt, Richard Jernegan, Ronald Brinkman, Daniel Frederickson, Jane Salzman, Linda Rogers, Sharon Kositzke, Kathleen Dale and Debbie Veltter.

White Stocking Shows Bootblacks Know Where the Polish Goes

LOURENCO MARQUES, Mozambique (AP) — An immaculate white stocking is the symbol of the Lourenco Marques Bootblack Association.

Senior members of the 20-year-old private association test any would-be bootblacks' abilities before authorizing him to use the blue shirt and shorts, "official" uniform of the profession.

A Lourenco Marques bootblack charges each client 2.5 escudos (9 cents). Senior members have the exclusive concession of the more crowded cafes while newcomers have to toil many years in "second rate" areas, making an average 20 escudos (70 U.S. cents) a day.

Soviet Foreign Policy Compromise Between Views of Two Factions

BY JOSEPH KRAFT

WASHINGTON — People who thirst for miracles are now experiencing the morning after the Glassboro spree. But for those who view summit meetings as a part of a complicated political process there is no hangover.

On the contrary, the Glassboro meetings shape up as necessary steps in the long, slow business of nursing the spread of nuclear weapons. But they have been obliged to underwrite heavy expenses for air defense and for military assistance to North Vietnam and the Arab states of the Middle East.

Israel's lightning victory over the Arab states apparently had a dramatic impact on the world of the Soviet leaders. It seems to have created a climate of shock, favorable to the party bosses with their elaborate suspicions and ready-made postures of ideological hostility. And their hand was further strengthened by bleats from the Chinese, and demands from the Near East and elsewhere for Soviet support of the Arab states.

This climate of shock found full expression at a meeting of the party's Central Committee in Moscow last week. The committee adopted a harsh resolution attacking Israel for "aggression in the Middle East." It also adopted a 50th anniversary statement emphasizing the struggle "against imperialism" as the "pivot of world politics."

At the same time the man from the party secretariat recently named to be head of the secret police, Yuri Andropov, was raised to be a candidate member of the ruling presidium — the first time the top cop has been in that body since the elimination of Lavrenti Beria back in 1950.

In this situation, the modernizers were obviously on the defensive. The best they could do was to play for time, trying to sort things out while putting off major decisions until a calmer period. Measured against that background, the Kosygin trip and especially the visits with the President at Glassboro were not a failure.

STANCE HARDENED

To be sure, Mr. Kosygin's stance on the Middle East and Vietnam hardened between his opening statement to the General Assembly and his press conference last Sunday night. But that evolution seems only to have kept pace with the evolution of opinion in Moscow as expressed at the Central Committee meeting. Nothing that might have been gained was lost.

On the other hand, Mr. Kosygin's prestige has undoubtedly been increased. And he goes home better equipped to argue the case of the modernizers in many ways.

He has learned first-hand of the President's disposition to be conciliatory in Vietnam. He has also learned — and at his press conference he expressed the point with a clarity suggestive of sympathy — that the United States would not support withdrawal of Israeli troops until other issues in the Middle East had also been arranged. And he and the President have put new force behind the negotiations, now handed over to Sec. of State Dean Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, for a non-proliferation treaty.

Eventual agreement on the treaty, as on Vietnam and the Middle East, still awaits future decision. But the door has been kept open. Would it be open if the President had rebuffed Mr. Kosygin and refused to see him? For my part, I doubt it.

Potomac Fever— by Jack Wilson

Egypt is complaining because a lot of soldiers died when the Israelis made them walk home across the desert. Boy, talk about sore losers!

Reports from Damascus say some Syrians still refuse to believe they lost the war. One thing about an Arab, he's too smart to believe anything an Arab tells him.

England gave us the miniskirt. Germany produced the minibus — and leave it to Israel to come up with the miniwar.

Now it comes out why Nasser didn't use those deadly rockets against Israel — the Russians didn't send him any matches.

The Navy has accepted the resignation of an officer who belongs to the Birch society. There was some feeling that he might not be seaworthy — had a bad list to starboard.

Wisconsin Report

Deliberate Schedule Of Tarr Committee Is Understandable

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — The schedule of meetings and he arings announced by the Tarr committee on state-local tax sharing arrangements will appear tedious and excessively slow to some of the impatient men in the city halls who have been demanding immediate state action to relieve their financial woes.

But precisely such a preliminary work schedule was expected by informed observers of state affairs. It is, indeed, necessary and inevitable if a serious and responsible report that has a chance of public acceptance is intended.

Some of the members of the study commission are experts, as a result of previous exposure to the subject, or as professionals in the field of public finance.

But most of the citizens members are having their first close contact with the subject. Half a year at least of hard study will be needed for the orientation that will be indispensable for intelligent conclusions and recommendations to the Legislature. If that appears to be a pretext for inaction, a subterfuge or an evasion, it cannot be helped. The alternative would be a hasty grab-bag of propositions that would stand no chance whatever of serious consideration in the Legislature, given the competing interests involved.

THE OUTLOOK

Prophecy in political affairs is the province of fools and amateurs. There is no intention here to forecast what the commission headed by President Curtis Tarr of Lawrence University will produce in the way of finance policy recommendations, perhaps 18 months hence. In any event, it would be a gratuitous disparagement of his commission, which manifestly begins its work with open minds.

Yet the basic outlines of the finance problem in Wisconsin government are so plain that it seems likely that what close observers of the statehouse situation and the work of previous study commissions know to be the facts will be echoed in the reports of the commission when it is written.

Ostensibly the commission was inspired by the demand of the larger city mayors of Wisconsin for legislative action that would give them some respite from the rising property tax cycle in their city halls. That property tax problem will be certified. But alongside it, almost surely, will be a story of equally intense pressure for higher state spending, with obvious implications for difficulties in the financing of state services during the next decade.

PINCH IS COMING

The state tax pinch will be as severe as that of the localities. The forecast of a responsible spokesman for the Coordinating Committee for Higher Education that the state's higher education commitment alone will soon reach the mountainous total of a billion dollars per biennium (or equal to the total of the state budget of today) is one of the revealing footnotes to the story.

The complaint of the cities that has served as a kind of theme song is the allegedly unfair distribution of those taxes now shared with local governments.

So-called "tax islands" that have resulted here and there on the Wisconsin map have been cited time and again in the argument.

There is little doubt that some action will be recommended, and a good chance that the Legislature will accept, for the reform of some of the distribution schedules, such as the utility tax. That would serve the cause of equity, as the mayors see it. But it would be the merest trickle of aid, as far as their basic situation in the state as a whole is concerned. The real thrust of the mayor's lobby is the reservation of more of the state's income taxes and sales taxes for city hall expenditure and, hopefully, a freeze of the property tax burden.

PAINLESS TAX SUGGESTED

But that will run smack into the obviously rising demands of the state for revenues to sustain its own expanding services, the soaring higher education program conspicuously among them. What the committee ought to do, perhaps, is to commission some experts to devise a new and painless method of extracting tax income from the purses of the people to resolve that inevitable conflict.

Lusts of Spirit Are Worse Than of Flesh

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

One reason that the so-called moral reformers fail to interest me is that they pay far too much attention to the lusts of the flesh, and not enough to the lusts of the spirit!

Drunkness and lechery and the stultification of the senses by fast living are usually foolish and pathetic endeavors — but the real evils in this world come not from these appetites but from the lusts of the spirit.

Alexander the Great was proud of his chastity — proud that, contrary to the custom of his times, he refused to violate the wives and daughters of his captives. Yet Alexander's over-arching ambition to conquer the world was a much greater and deeper flaw than incontinence.

Hitler was a model citizen, so far as the reformers are concerned. He was sober continent, a vegetarian, and lived a Spartan personal life. But no more sick and evil man has existed in history, for the mortal sins of the spirit were his.

Men with a lust for power, with an insatiable desire for fame and glory, with a desperate need to manipulate and humiliate and harm others who get in their way, are the ones who cause all the trouble. The weak men — those who easily succumb to their physical appetites — are scarcely worth bothering about.

One reason the reformers — and so many religious leaders — have failed to alter the scheme of things is that their conception of "vice" is so narrow. They fritter away their energies in fighting alcohol and tobacco and gambling and pornography — while the real evil-doers sit in the front pews of the congregation and applaud their harangues.

In his topography of Hell, Dante (who really understood the essence of religion and morality) placed the lechers and the toppers in the milder circles of punishment, reserving the hottest places for those who sinned against the spirit — hypocrites, traitors, exploiters, the hard of heart and narrow of mind.

It is no accident that Jesus was accused by the "respectable" citizens of his day of "consorting with publicans and harlots." He was pointing out by His action that such people are often more worthy and saveable than those who called Him "Master" and secretly violated most of the basic tenets of Christ.

Physical sin merely proves that we are partly animal in origin; but spiritual sin is a repudiation and perversion of our distinctively human nature. It is this perversion that has brought mankind to the edge of catastrophe time and time again; not a thousand drunkards, wastrels of libertines can do as much damage as one bigot, one sadist — or one misguided reformer.

World's Largest Tree Also World's Fastest

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Contrary to popular belief, coast redwoods are one of the world's most prolific and fastest growing trees. While a foot or two a year is average for young-growth, some specimens have grown as much as one-half inch per day, the National Forest Products Association reports.

the barber for a haircut, the price seems to rise 50 cents. The cost of getting into the local movies has nearly doubled in one year. It's the same story for dozens of other items and you must know this, too. I think there's something wrong with the statistics."

My letter writer is 100 per cent correct in her "consumer report." What she is saying underlines the extent to which "averages" obscure what is happening to the real living costs of real families living real lives in real cities and suburbs.

Notice Increases

But while she is concentrating on the items which have jumped in price, she is ignoring the many big and little things we need and want which have risen only moderately or even declined in price.

What she is overlooking is the fact that increases in the prices of services she uses frequently have far outpaced increases in the prices of goods that actually have a much bigger weight in her market basket. She is so irritated by lots of price hikes on comparatively little services that she forgets the stable prices on comparatively major goods.

In short, an average rise of record prices are down 1.7 per cent.

To show you how dramatically varied have been the price changes for individual items in your market basket since 1957-59:

Way Up		Up Moderately		Down

In his new job, Krause will work with procedures of mechanized maintenance of engineering records.

Since August, 1964, Krause has been supervising a group that analyzes growth requirements of central office equipment and engineers the needed facilities.

Krause has been with the Wisconsin Telephone Co. for 20 years. The first nine years of his career were spent as an installer, exchange repairman and installation foreman in the South District in Milwaukee.

From 1955 to 1961 Krause was assigned to the general plant staff in Milwaukee. Krause then spent the next two years as an inspector of telephone installations.

He came to Appleton as a member of the engineering staff in January, 1963, and took over his job as supervising engineer of equipment in August, 1964.

A graduate of the Milwaukee Institute of Technology, Krause and his wife, Dorothy, have four children.

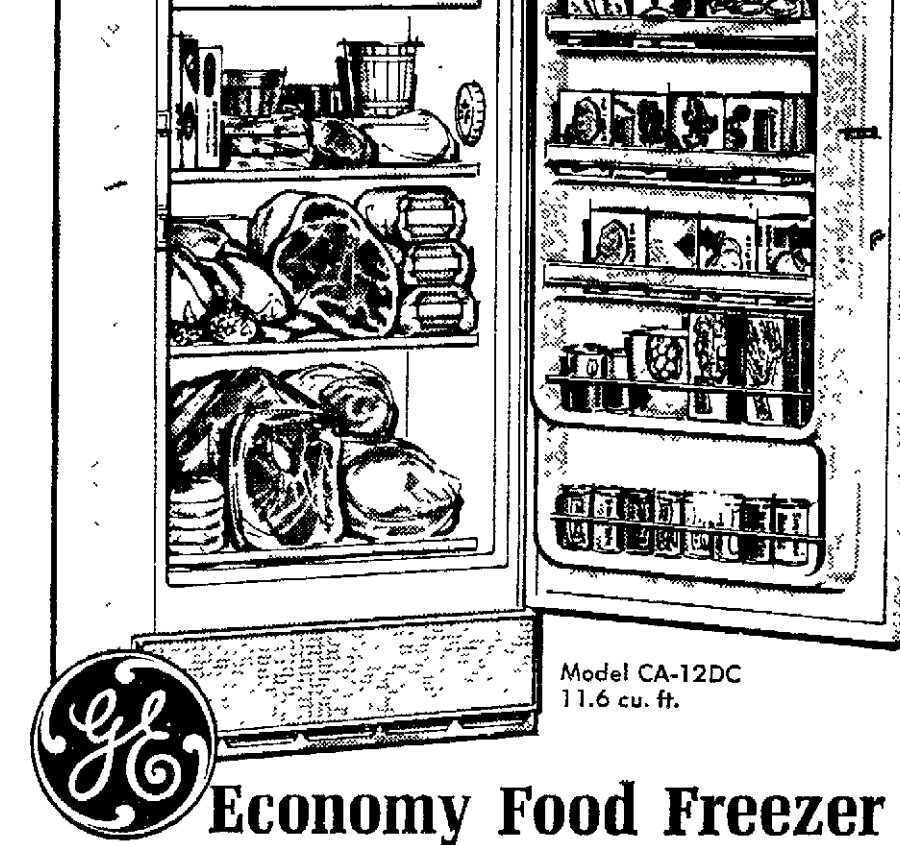

Objections to the hours must be registered at the Department of the Army, Chicago District, Corps of Engineers, 219 S. Dearborn St., Chicago, Ill. 60604 before July 10.

Proposed provisions for drawbridge service are as follows:

The drawbridges will be manned from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. daily during the navigation season. In addition, drawbridge operation will be provided from 8 a.m. to 10 a.m. provided requests are made the day prior by writing, telephone, or in person to the bridge tender. Drawbridge operation from 7 p.m. to 12 midnight will be provided if requests are made to the bridge tender prior to 7 p.m.

Regular business hours are 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. every day. Prior requests for additional drawbridge openings must include name, address, business and home telephone numbers as well as name and registration number of the boat and approximate time of drawbridge opening.

Only one request need be given for groups of boats. If, for any reason, a requested passage will not be made, or must be delayed unreasonably, prompt notice must be given to the bridge tender.

Foreign Relations Committee and the Cabinet today and to the House Foreign Affairs Committee Thursday.

Gromyko, who arrived June 17 with Kosygin, was reported considering returning to Moscow around the end of the week if the U.N. General Assembly decides to recess its emergency session on the Middle East.

Major Topics

The Middle East crisis and the proposed nuclear nonproliferation treaty were the major topics discussed by Rusk and Gromyko, who met for more than three hours. U.S. sources said Vietnam was not discussed because the deep U.S.-Soviet differences on this topic had

Kosygin, Castro Fail to Agree

Military Matters Believed to Have Been Considered

HAVANA (AP) — Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin and Prime Minister Fidel Castro have disagreed in their talks, the official Soviet news agency Tass indicated today.

Tass reported from Havana that the two leaders had "a frank exchange" of opinions Tuesday on a number of questions of mutual interest.

Use of the word "frank" in such announcements normally means disagreement. There was no mention of "identity of views" or any other phrasing indicating accord, although Tass called the talks "friendly."

Tass did not disclose subjects discussed, but the makeup of the Cuban delegation meeting with Kosygin indicated military matters were covered. Four of the nine top Cubans listed by Tass as participating in the talks were military leaders.

They were Defense Minister Raul Castro, Fidel's brother; First Deputy Defense Minister Juan Almeida, and Deputy Defense Ministers Sergio Del Valle and Guillermo Garcia.

Disagreement between Kosygin and Castro had been expected. Diplomatic sources said they believed Kosygin's chief aim was to get the Cuban leader to mute his demands for the overthrow of Latin-American governments with which the Soviet Union is seeking to trade and that Castro was certain to refuse.

Open Housing Law to Face Test in Court

MADISON (AP)— Wisconsin's 1965 open housing law will be tested in a trial Sept. 5, Circuit Judge Richard W. Bardwell said Tuesday.

Last year the Industrial Commission fined Morris Schwartz, a Madison jeweler, $200 on grounds he discriminated against a Negro in the subleasing of a home. Schwartz has appealed to circuit court.

Bardwell said he would rule on the law's constitutionality before the case goes to trial, if he is asked to.

The case is the first open housing law complaint handled by the commission and the first to have a test in court.

Lawrence C. Levy, a University of Wisconsin professor, told the commission he leased a home from Schwartz and planned to sublease to a Negro but that Schwartz said he wanted to sell the house.

Schwartz replied he had earlier plans for selling, before expiration of the lease in August 1966, and denied Levy's plan to sublease to a Negro influenced his decision.

Louis Hanson to Join Conference to Urge 'Negotiation Now'

MADISON (AP) — Former Democratic state chairman J. Louis Hanson said he will be a member of a Wisconsin delegation attending a "Negotiation Now" conference in Washington, D.C. today.

The Wisconsin group will meet with congressmen and other governmental officials to urge the United States to take new steps toward opening negotiations to end the Vietnam conflict.

been amply aired in previous talks.

While Rusk told newsmen "I cannot report there was a great deal of progress" on the Middle East issue, other American sources felt some accord had been reached.

Both big powers have long recognized Israel's existence as a state, in contrast to the Arab view. The Kremlin may therefore agree that there should be a state of peace rather than war between the Arabs and Israelis.

The Soviets also probably favor economic development for the area, though it would be difficult to reach an accord on limiting arms shipments to the Middle East.

Unrestricted Passage

Moscow probably would not stand in the way of unrestricted passage for all ships in the Middle East waterways or of programs to help Arab refugees.

But Kosygin and Gromyko stood fast on Soviet demands for withdrawal of Israeli forces to prewar boundaries before a settlement can be negotiated. Since the United States favors linking a withdrawal with a settlement, the main argument is over the sequence of moves toward a solution.

Recent hints of a softening of the Arab stand against any negotiations before an Israeli troop pullback are, in the U.S. view, improving chances for a settlement.

On the nonproliferation treaty, both of the nuclear superpowers have long pursued parallel policies against giving nuclear weapons to nations that don't have them. Johnson and Kosygin agreed on the importance of such a pact, whose wording the Big Two have been negotiating for months.

Have Own System

The difficulty over the inspection provision is less between the Soviet Union and the United States than between the Western European powers and the Soviets, the U.S. sources said.

The West European Common Market countries have their own system under Euratom, their joint atomic energy agency, to insure that nuclear fuel is not diverted to military use. They do not want to give up their safeguards system, while Moscow says European atomic plants along with those elsewhere should come under the inspection system of the International Atomic Energy Agency.

The nonproliferation treaty would bar non-nuclear signers forever from acquiring atomic arms—and the have-not nations at the Geneva meeting have been pressing the conference cochairmen, the United States and the Soviet Union, for their proposed wording.

U.N. Still Far From Agreeing On Resolution

Debate Continues On Settlement of Middle East Peace

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The emergency session of the U.N. General Assembly, nearing the end of its general debate on the Middle East crisis, remained far from agreement today on its best course to ease the bitter Arab-Israeli conflict.

"Everything is very much in a melting pot—nothing is crystallized yet," said one Asian diplomat close to the search for a resolution that could attract wide support among the 122 U.N. members.

Eleven nations were on the speakers' list for today's meetings, including Foreign Minister J.M.A.H. Luns of the Netherlands and Foreign Minister Georges Hakim of Lebanon. Fifteen nations are to present their views Thursday.

Ends Friday

The general debate is scheduled to end Friday. A U.N. spokesman said assembly President Abdul Rahman Pazhwak of Afghanistan hopes to obtain agreement then on a deadline for submission of new resolutions.

The assembly has before it three resolutions—from the United States, the Soviet Union and Albania. None is given a chance of obtaining, in its present form, the two-thirds vote necessary for approval.

The assembly is expected to recess after the general debate ends, for perhaps as long as a week, while the private consultations continue.

U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk said Tuesday that "a good many delegations think well of our resolution." But he added that "a lot of consultations" are still going on and it is not yet clear what form the final resolution would take.

Although there is wide agreement on the necessity for withdrawal of Israeli troops from Arab territory, some diplomats discerned a trend toward greater cognizance of Israel's security requirements than was apparent a week ago.

Growing Awareness

As one delegate put it, there is a growing awareness of the "need for withdrawal of troops and withdrawal of danger."

The Israelis have made clear they do not intend to pull back their troops without ironclad assurances that the threat to their nation is ended. They have called for direct negotiations with the Arabs on the issues that divide them, including recognition of Israel's statehood.

Diplomatic sources report the Arabs are still talking tough, in private as well as in public.

"They still say their aim is the destruction of Israel," one diplomat reported, "and they won't end their state of belligerency even if Israel withdraws its troops."

Youths Refuse Induction in Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Officers at the Armed Forces Induction Center said Tuesday the case of Eugene J. Shermeister Jr. of Sheboygan, who refused induction into the armed forces, would be returned to the Selective Service Administration for determination.

Shermeister, a 23-year-old garbage collector, was sent home.

The officers said he had signed a statement asserting he was a conscientious objector. He had sought deferment on that claim earlier but was overruled by his local draft board.

Shermeister submitted to induction until he was asked to step forward and take the oath.

"I stepped back," he said. Denis Strobe-Jackson, 21, also of Sheboygan, decided to go along with Shermeister Tuesday although he said he had planned to seek an exemption for medical reasons.

Ted Kennedy to Speak At Fund-Raising Dinner

MADISON (AP) — Sen. Edward (Ted) Kennedy, D-Mass., will be the main speaker at the state Democratic Party's Jefferson-Jackson day dinner in Milwaukee Oct. 8, party chairman Richard Cudahy reported today.

The dinner will raise funds for the 1968 political campaign.

Hussein Asks U.S. Help for Jordan

BY ENDRE MARTON

WASHINGTON (AP) — King Hussein of Jordan is expected to ask President Johnson to help bail out his battered nation—No. 1 loser in the Arab-Israeli war—when the two talk at the White House today.

U.S. officials said Hussein's expected appeal for help will meet with sympathy from the President. But they said Israeli occupation of some of Jordan's most valuable territory makes unclear what action the United States could take.

Behind administration sympathy for Hussein and his nation is the king's long-time stance as the most pro-Western head of state in the Arab world. There also is recognition that Jordan needs speedy assistance in easing the burden of daily increasing numbers of refugees from land now held by the Israelis.

International Problem

Officials note, however, that the refugee problem is international in scope and has been handled most effectively by the U.N. Relief and Work Agency, financed to a great extent by the United States.

Hussein, officials feel, does not come to Washington to speak for all the Arabs. He accomplished this part of his mission when he addressed the U.N. General Assembly Monday.

On the main problem, how to settle the Arab-Israel dispute and prevent new hostilities, there is little Johnson and Hussein can do immediately, officials believe.

Grounds for Assassination

Hussein must be very careful not to detach himself to the slightest degree from the rigid Arab policy line, American experts say. His grandfather, King Abdallah, was assassinated in 1948 when it was only rumored that he was ready to negotiate peace with Israel.

Hussein, then a young man, was at his grandfather's side and saw the assassination.

But Hussein has a prime opportunity to talk about bilateral issues such as economic and military aid to his country.

All aid to belligerent countries was suspended, or put in the "under review" category—a State Department euphemism for suspension—when the war broke out.

Last Saturday the State Department announced resumption of aid to countries which did not break diplomatic relations with the United States. Jordan is one of them.

Israeli Territory

A major problem, officials said, is that most U.S. aid projects in Jordan are in the Israeli-occupied territory west of the Jordan River.

These include a jet airstrip, two major teachers colleges, an agricultural school, and several road and well-building projects. In addition, several small industries have been set up in Jerusalem with American aid.

Now all this is in Israeli hands, together with 9 of Jordan's 11 major cities and most of the country's fertile land in the Jordan River Valley. Moreover U.S. experts privately say they believe Israel will not return about half the area, roughly west of the old Damascus road, running from Jerusalem through Ramallah, Nablus and Nazareth to Syria.

Israel is expected to insist on keeping this territory to eliminate the danger described by one official as using a sling shot to attack Tel Aviv from Jordanian soil. This area includes all the religious pilgrim attractions Jordan had, a source of considerable income from tourism.

Insurance Firm Refuses Business Reply Card

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Postal officials said a Denver insurance firm refused to accept one of its business reply postal cards from a Tucson, Ariz. man.

The card was pasted on brown paper wrapped around a brick. The postage due was $4.57. The encased brick, weighing more than five pounds, carried no return address.

Red Cross to Pick Officers At Clintonville

Annual Chapter Meeting July 12 At National Bank

CLINTONVILLE — The annual meeting of the Clintonville Chapter of the American Red Cross will be at 8 p.m. July 12 at the Clintonville National Bank.

Reports will be given and officers elected. A slate of officers will be presented by a nominating committee made up of Lyle Harrison, Jim Lindow, Mrs. Keith Beggs and William Martens.

Martens told the board of directors' meeting Tuesday at the bank that the annual contract with the Clintonville Community Hospital for its participation in the Badger Red Cross Blood program had been signed.

The board authorized the payment of $540 to the Badger Red Cross Blood Center, Madison, as the chapter's prorated share for the 1967-68 fiscal year. One-fourth of this cost will be returned to Clintonville by the Marion branch of the chapter. The bloodmobile visits Clintonville three times a year and Marion once a year.

School Board Now Salaried

Members to Get $10 Per Meeting At Waupaca

WAUPACA — The school district no longer has an unsalaried board of education. The board voted, Tuesday, to establish a salary for board members at $10 for regular and special meetings.

Until now board of education members received no pay for their services.

In addition to granting themselves a salary, the board voted to grant janitors of the district a 6 per cent pay increase and four of the regular members of the clerical staff, $25 per month increases. The secretary to the board was granted a $35 per month increase because of the extra work load.

All salary increases and the salaries for board members will become effective Saturday.

Golf, Tennis Instructions Begin at Chilton

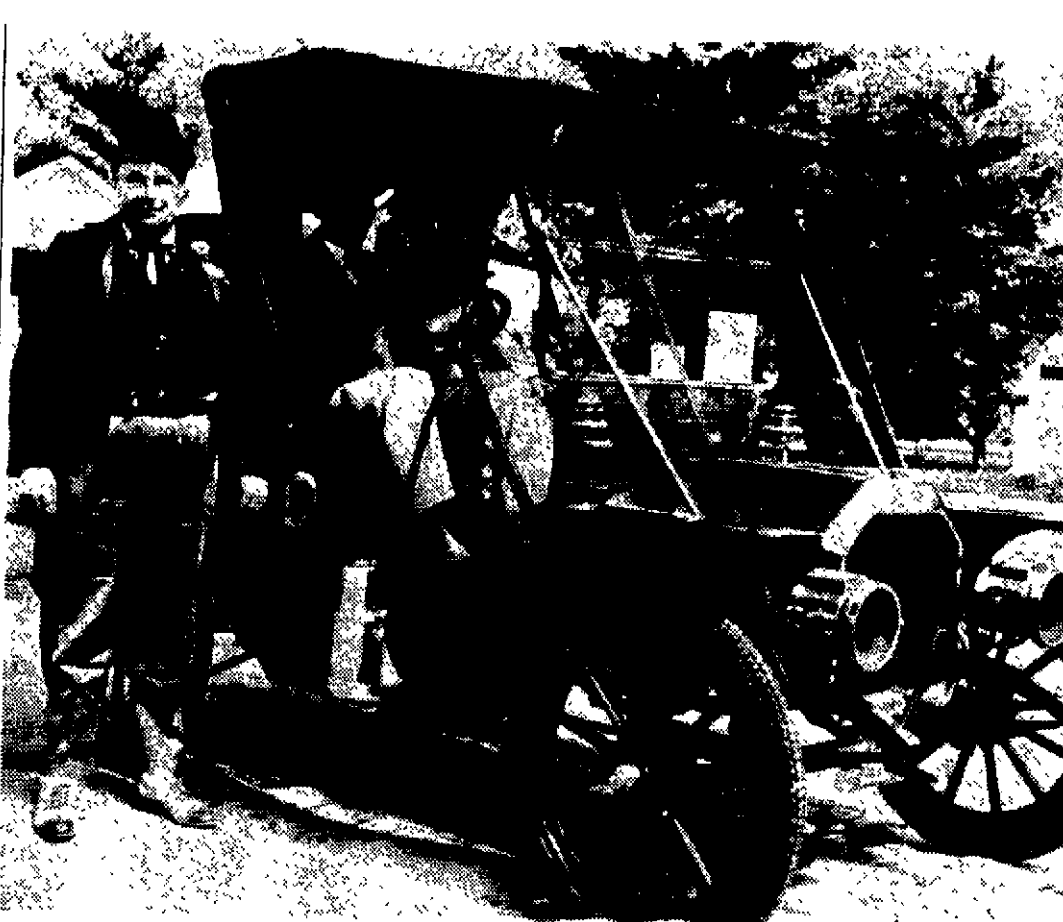

CHILTON — The youth instruction programs in golf and tennis sponsored by the recreation department began this week. Golf lessons are given at 10 a.m. Wednesdays at the high school athletic field. Students need only to bring one or two clubs. The recreation department will furnish the plastic balls.

Tennis lessons are being given at 10 a.m. Tuesdays and Thursdays at the high school tennis courts. Students must furnish their own rackets. The recreation department will again furnish tennis balls for the instruction.

Persons who still wish to take part in either the golf or tennis class should come to the first convenient practice session. For information call the recreation office at 849-2358.

Advise New London to Seek Aids for Intersection Project

City, State, Federal Government Would Share $429,000 Costs

NEW LONDON — The planning commission has recommended the council apply for state and federal aid for a $429,000 improvement project at the U. S. 45 and State 54 intersection.

The State Highway Commission estimated the total cost for plans, construction and storm sewers. The city would be responsible for approximately $100,000 of the total project.

Receive Help

State or federal money would pay 85 per cent of the construction cost, estimated at $387,000. Area involved is along U. S. 45 (Shawano Road) from the Green Bay and Western Railway Co. right-of-way, north to Henry Street — a distance of about two-thirds of a mile.

City officials and highway commission members have met during the past months to discuss the improvement of the intersection.

Plans are to widen the 40-foot roadway to 48 feet and to install curb and gutter, and storm drains at the intersection.

Vern Volz received the senior master key award, which is given to Lions who have signed 25 members.

Clem Schumacher Installed Calumet Legion Commander

STOCKERIDGE — Clem Schumacher, a member of the local American Legion Post, was installed as commander of the Calumet County American Legion Council Thursday at Darboy.

Sixth district vice-commander, Lloyd Habermann, Brillion, was installing officer. Other county officers are Ivan Novak, Hilbert, vice commander; Mrs. Norman Bechler, Chilton, chaplain, and Alfred N. Hertel, Chilton, service officer. The new commander will appoint an adjutant.

All officers from the seven posts in the county also participated in installation rites, with the Darboy post serving as host. The group agreed to ask county officials that the U.S. flag be flown at county highway department garages.

The next meeting will be Sept. 28 at New Holstein when Schumacher will announce the schedule for next year's meetings.

Waupaca Buys 65 Acres For New High School

School District Change to be Aired July 18

Manawa Petitioner Asks for Transfer To New London

MANAWA — A public hearing on a petition to transfer 960 acres of Little Wolf (Manawa) School District land to the New London School District has been set for 8 p.m., July 18, at Manawa High School. The hearing will be conducted by the Cooperative Educational Service Agency (CESA) 8 school reorganization committee.

Kenneth Poppy, CESA 8 coordinator, received the petition for annexation from Robert O'Brien, route 3, June 16. The land is located in the Town of Lebanon near the northeast corner of the New London district.

The Manawa, New London and Bear Creek districts all have territory in the Town of Lebanon.

The reorganization committee has three choices: to deny the petition, pass it or hold it for study.

Lute Soloist Will Present Concert In Clintonville

CLINTONVILLE — The Rev. Lennert Sandbergh, who was born and raised in Sweden but who now makes his home in the United States, will present a special concert at 8 p.m. Thursday at the Bethany Evangelical Free Church.

His presentation will include piano selections, accordion selections and selections on the lute. The Rev. Mr. Sandbergh also is a recording artist.

After the service if time permits, the Rev. Mr. Sandbergh will play request numbers. The concert is open to the public.

Chester Racine

Hire Administrative Aide at Clintonville

Chester Racine, Kimberly, Starts Saturday as Assistant to Rawson

CLINTONVILLE — Chester Racine, Kimberly, was hired by the board of education Tuesday night as an administrative assistant to Supt. K.O. Rawson at an annual salary of $11,000. The contract is for one year. He starts Saturday.

Racine has just completed the school year as an administrative intern at Kimberly, under a program sponsored by the National Secondary School Principals' Association. He was one of 50 in the nation to participate in the program. Racine has been in education for the past 13 years and has wide experience in administrative and guidance work.

Plans To Retire

He has been an administrative assistant at Marinette and Brookfield. Racine was interviewed by the board June 13 and later met with its personnel committee.

Board members for some time have expressed interest in securing an administrative assistant to Supt. Rawson who could do more in curriculum and schedule building than was possible in the past.

Rawson is expected to retire July 1, 1969, and the 1967-68 school year will be the last year in which Mrs. Sophia Johnson will serve as an elementary supervisor.

The Racine family will reside at 81 Torrey St.

Youth Tries To Steal Radar Unit

WAUPACA — An 18-year-old Chicago youth, who attempted to steal a radar unit from a Waupaca County squad car early Sunday morning, started serving a 30-day jail sentence Monday when he was unable to pay a $100 fine.

Barton L. Burdick, who pleaded guilty of disorderly conduct, attempted to take the radar set from the squad car which had been parked near the Casino dance hall in the Town of Farmington.

County Patrol Capt. John Penney said he had left his squad car to investigate a disturbance when the attempted theft occurred. Shortly after Penney left the car he saw Burdick take the set, which was packed in a case, and start to run.

Penney gave chase and apprehended the youth a short distance away.

Clintonville Church Setting of Special Vietnam Program

CLINTONVILLE — A special program on Vietnam will be presented at 8 p.m. today at the Bethany Evangelical Free church.

Thomas W. Johnson, who has been a medic and chaplain's assistant with the Army serving in Vietnam for 8 months, will provide a unique 45-minute presentation of color slides on Vietnam. This same presentation has been seen by well over 3,000 people as Johnson has toured churches, youth organizations and service clubs.

Board Picks Up Options For $50,575

WAUPACA — A 65-acre site for a new high school was purchased Tuesday by the board of education at a cost of $50,575.

Located south of East Clark Street and north of the Waupaca River in the southeast corner of the city, the site is comprised of four parcels of land formerly owned by Harry Shoemaker, William Villwock, Ervin A. Dorschner and Leland Crushinski.

The board of education had options on the land which were to expire July 1. After board member Laurie Anderson explained that one of the landowners had contacted him and indicated he probably would not be interested in renewing the option, the board voted to purchase the property.

Inspect Sites

In recent months the board has been seeking land for a new high school, as well as a site for a new elementary school in the King area. Several pieces of property on the edge of the city were inspected by the board, but because of the rolling terrain at most of the sites, it was decided to select the one purchased. The board is still considering the purchase of land in the King area for an elementary school.

It was explained that the state recommends at least 38 acres of land for a high school. The site selected will allow for future expansion.

The amount of acreage purchased from each of the landowners was not outlined in the parcels but the prices of each parcel was stated. Shoemaker and Villwock each will receive $20,000; Dorschner, $9,000, and Crushinski, $1,575.

Authorize Survey

Laurie Anderson was authorized by the board to hire a surveyor to survey the property.

The board also voted to negotiate with the Trinity Lutheran Church and St. Mary Magdalene Catholic Church for the renting of rooms for needed classrooms for the coming school year. Preliminary discussions have already been held with officials of both congregations. If it is agreeable with the congregations, three rooms will be rented at the new Catholic church educational wing and one at the Lutheran church.

One of the rooms will be used for a kindergarten class, and the others for grades one, two and three. In addition to relieving crowded school conditions, the added classroom space will permit moving the special education room from Gards Corner School to the Central School, William Williams, elementary school principal, said.

Rent will be approximately $600 per month for the church rooms.

Near School

Both churches are one block west of the Central School and students will be able to walk to the school for a hot lunch at noon, Supt. George Hendrickson explained.

Because there may be objections from some parents who do not want their children attending a church classroom, Hendrickson said letters will be sent to all parents of children involved in the move. If any have objections the student will be transferred to a class in one of the regular schools.

All members of the board voted in favor of renting the rooms from the congregations with the exception of Laurie Anderson.

The motion to rent the rooms was made by Mrs. Ward Fonstad, and in her motion she included that the move was just a stop-gap to relieve crowded conditions, and that a building program is to start immediately.

Wauashara County Gets Grant for Health Clinic

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Public Health Service approved grants totaling $71,037 to Wisconsin communities for migrant workers health clinics, contingent upon fiscal 1968 funds being made available by Congress. Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., said Tuesday.

A grant of $24,902 was approved for a Wauashara County migrant health clinic operated by the Wauashara County Committee for Equal Opportunity.

St. Joseph's Hospital, Beaver Dam, will receive $18,500 for a migrant family health clinic.

A grant of $27,549 was approved for a migrant family medical aid program to be operated by a Catholic agency in Endeavor.

Miss New Holstein Looks Back

BY JOAN COENEN

Post-Crescent Correspondent

BRILLION — Cheri Lynn Dohr, Miss New Holstein of 1966 and third runner-up in the Miss Wisconsin pageant at Oshkosh, is packing this week in preparation for a summer job at Lake Geneva and tucked into the suitcases are warm memories of pageant week.

"I just couldn't believe it when they called my name among the 10 finalists Saturday night," the 5-foot, 4-inch beauty said this week while relaxing in the route 1, Brillion, farm home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Dohr.

"I walked forward slightly and then peeked behind me to make sure someone else was not coming forward. I thought maybe I had been wishing so hard to be called that I might have misunderstood the name. And then when I was chosen as one of the five finalists, I was all the more delighted. It was terrific," Cheri said.

Will to Try

Participation in the Miss Wisconsin pageant taught Cheri to maintain the will to keep on trying. "I learned how to walk, talk and stand properly and can now concentrate on the finer points necessary for a queen candidate," she said.

As a result she intends to enter the Miss Oshkosh competition next year. In the meantime, she has been asked to make appearances at the Miss Two Rivers and Miss Lake Geneva pageants this summer. She and the other three runners-up at last Saturday's Miss Wisconsin finals have already been invited to participate in next year's Miss Green Bay festivities.

'Mock-Pageant'

Additional highlights of pageant week, according to the blue-eyed brunette, are the lasting friendships made and Saturday's after-coronation "mock-pageant" when chaperones acted as contestants.

"We all just relaxed in the dorm and had a marvelous time," Cheri remarked.

She was thrilled to receive a royal welcome at New Holstein Sunday evening from a contingent of New Holstein and Brillion pageant followers.

New Holstein Mayor James H. Maurer presented her with a gold key to the city.

Career Therapist

Cheri will be a junior at Wisconsin State University-Oshkosh in the fall and plans on pursuing a career as a speech and hearing therapist. Her hobbies include self-taught hair styling and she is an accomplished pocket billiards player. Shyly she admitted to beating male billiard opponents "quite often." Her own attractive hairdo as well as those of other pageant participants were a result of Cheri's efforts.

Cheri gave a dramatic interpretation as her talent presentation.

Proudly rooting for Cheri Saturday in the audience were her parents, her two married sisters from Fond du Lac and Sheboygan Falls and an older brother from Sheboygan. Her 11-year-old brother Jim watched the event at home on television.

A $250 scholarship, a huge trophy and personal stationery along with the "wonderful" went to the third runner-up experience of just being a participant.

Pageant Week a Warm Memory

Union Vote Set at Waupaca Foundry

Teamsters, Molders Involved In NLRB Supervised Election

WAUPACA — Employees of the Waupaca Foundry, Inc., will vote on union representation in an election ordered and supervised by the National Labor Relations Board (NLRB). Date of the election has not been determined but is expected to be announced soon by the NLRB.

Involved in the voting will be two unions, General Drivers and Dairy Employees Union, Local 563, a Teamsters affiliate seeking to represent the firm's five over-the-road drivers, and the International Molders and Allied Workers Union, AFL-CIO, which seeks to represent the firm's 210 production and maintenance employees.

The company originally petitioned the NLRB for a representation vote, specifying the International Molders and Allied Workers Union, for all production and maintenance employees, including truck drivers. The Teamsters, however, also filed a petition asking to take in the truck drivers and exclude all other employees. The NLRB concurred.

On one other point the NLRB ruled in favor of the Molders by excluding 12 leadmen from the list of qualified voters on the grounds that they were supervisory personnel. The company wanted them included.

In both classifications, the employees will vote for the specified union or for no union.

Clem Schumacher Installed Calumet Legion Commander

STOCKERIDGE — Clem Schumacher, a member of the local American Legion Post, was installed as commander of the Calumet County American Legion Council Thursday at Darboy.

Sixth district vice-commander, Lloyd Habermann, Brillion, was installing officer. Other county officers are Ivan Novak, Hilbert, vice commander; Mrs. Norman Bechler, Chilton, chaplain, and Alfred N. Hertel, Chilton, service officer. The new commander will appoint an adjutant.

All officers from the seven posts in the county also participated in installation rites, with the Darboy post serving as host. The group agreed to ask county officials that the U.S. flag be flown at county highway department garages.

The next meeting will be Sept. 28 at New Holstein when Schumacher will announce the schedule for next year's meetings.

Mid-Town Site Selected for Brillion Recreation Center

Council Accepts Advice Of Comprehensive Plan

BRILLION — A midtown 1½-acre site was unanimously approved by the city council Monday for the proposed $500,000 recreation center and swimming pool.

The parcel is located directly behind the city hall, fronts on Beach Street and was recently recommended in conjunction with an urban renewal plan by Candeb, Fleissig and Associates, Madison, as an ideal location for the structure.

Ten other locations were also considered for the recreation center.

The planning commission endorsed the Beach Street plot last week when its members recommended that the city council accept the site. Situated on the land now are the American Legion Hall and several garages on the west end (not the Mrs. John Vechar Sr. home as previously reported).

Increase Parking

Off-street parking in the midtown area should be increased from the present 1 acre to a proposed 10 acres during the next 20 years, the planning recommendation shows, and land abutting the recreation center site will have to be purchased to accomplish this.

City funds and private solicitations will help finance the recreation building. "Modernization tax credits," in conjunction with the city's forthcoming urban renewal program, are expected to be applied against the city's cost.

The City Board of Public Works will meet soon to discuss land acquisition and arrangements for preliminary architectural and engineering aide.

Sell Booklets

"General Plan" and "Action Plan" booklets prepared by the planners will be sold for $5 a set, the city council decided. Complimentary copies will be given to city schools, civic groups, clubs and newspaper representatives.

According to a letter read from the Madison consultants who updated the city's 1962 comprehensive plan for $9,200, their firm is arranging a meeting here soon with representatives of the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) to "expedite Brillion's urban renewal plan."

In other council action Monday, a license for Krizesky's Bar was granted after city tavern regulations were thoroughly explained to the proprietor. Krizesky's license application was withheld earlier this month, awaiting his appearance before the city council to air accusations he allegedly made against the police commission and council regarding tavern regulations and policies.

'Borderline Operation'

Warnings were received for violations during 1966 and 1967 were discussed and Mayor Clarence Wolf said the city will not tolerate a "borderline operation" and "the laws will be adhered to in all city taverns."

One alderman suggested "no more warnings — let's make arrests — and I mean youngsters riding bikes on sidewalks."

dogs running loose as well as tavern violations."

Mayor Wolf requested Police Chief Reuben Huntington to inspect the Krizesky premises "once daily for the next month and report back to me personally."

The Brillion Athletic Association's applications for 1-day beer licenses on July 2 and 9 were approved as were bar-tenders licenses for William Robinson, Alfred Burich, Barney Mullins, Norbert Kratz, Gerald Piper, Roger Raschke, Leo Burns, John A. R. Behnke, Anton Mieke, Phil Mattes, Alvin Reese, Elroy Petrie, William Struebing, Kermit Cmelja, Robert J. Decker and Norbert Schuh.

In other action the council:

—Passed a resolution authorizing installation of sidewalks on S. Parkway Drive on land abutting the David Wothe property. Wothe, who is not in favor of the sidewalk installation, has 20 days to contest the action, according to City Atty. Thomas Lucas.

License Issued

—Approved a wholesaler's beer license for Hendricks Beverage, Inc. The license replaces the one originally issued to Harwood Hendricks, before his firm was incorporated.

—Authorized the city clerk to inform Pittsburgh Des Moines Steel Co. that the $250 being withheld will be paid when valves recently installed in the water towers are tested and proven to be in working order.

—Authorized a switch-over of funds from the local Vocational and District 12 Area Vocational Technical School.

—Confirmed the mayor's appointments of Eleanor Schmitz and Gerald Lanphear to the library board for three-year terms and Attorney Howard Leppia to the Brillion Housing Authority for five years.

—Referred the sidewalk backfill problem to the city attorney for advisement.

At Jensen Memorial Pool

All-City Swim Meet Scheduled at Chilton

CHILTON — The fourth annual all-city swim meet is scheduled Saturday morning, July 8, at the Margaret Jensen Memorial Pool. The meet takes place earlier this year in an attempt to attract more entrants.

There will be 46 events in five age groups for both boys and girls. The age groups are eight and under, 9-10, 11-12, 13-14, and 15 and over. Competition will be in free style, back crawl, breast stroke and butterfly. Entry can be made by stopping at or calling the recreation office.

With area boys and girls in their fourth year of swim instruction, many records are expected to be broken. Many of the record holders will be back to defend their titles. Rotary Club awards ribbons will be given for first, second, and third place finishers in each event. A trophy also will be given to the boy and girl in each age group accumulating the most points.

Spectators are invited. Admission is free.

Events Listed

Events for ages 8 and under include 25-yard free style, 25-yard back crawl and 50-yard free style.

Ages 9-10: 25-yard free style, 25-yard back crawl, 25-yard breast stroke, 25-yard butterfly and 50-yard free style.

Ages 13-14: 50-yard free style, 50-yard back crawl, 50-yard breast stroke, 50-yard butterfly and 100-yard free style.

Ages 15 and over: 50-yard free style, 50-yard back crawl, 50-yard breast stroke, 50-yard butterfly and 100-yard free style.

There will be separate competition for boys and girls.

New London Man

Jailed for Drunkenness

NEW LONDON — James M. Burns, 60, Waupaca Street, was sentenced to 15 days in the Waupaca County jail Tuesday by Municipal Justice Charles G. Egli, when he pleaded guilty to a city police charge of drunkenness.

Burns was arrested Monday and held at the city jail until his court appearance.

Steiger at Chilton

CHILTON — Donald Schwobe, Calumet County Clerk, announced Monday that Sixth Dist. Rep. William A. Steiger, R-Oshkosh, will hold office hours at the Calumet County Courthouse from 1 to 2:30 p.m. Thursday, July 6.

Decision Stalled on Rezoning Property On Chain O' Lakes

Regional Planning Commission Opposes Commercial Designation

WAUPACA — A request to rezone a 7½-acre parcel of property on Limekiln Lake in the Chain O' Lakes area from residential to commercial was argued at length Tuesday at a Town of Farmington public hearing, but no decision was reached. One is expected at a future town board meeting.

Fred Jensen, town chairman, said the board will study the request and objections to the change thoroughly before giving ruling.

The property is owned by Gordon Doerfler who also owns Ding's Dock across the lake from the property in question.

Doerfler said at the hearing that he has requested the zoning change so he can expand his facilities. The expansion plans call for a parking lot plus storage facilities for his boats, Doerfler said.

Opposes Change

William Morris, executive director for the Northeastern Wisconsin Regional Planning Commission, opposed the zoning change and requested that the town board delay any decision until after a new country zoning plan goes into effect sometime before the first of the year.

The planning commission has already started work on preparing the planning and zoning program which is required under the new state water quality law.

Richard McDaniel, owner of commercial property in the area, said the lakes belong to the residents of the state and are for everyone, so the zoning change should be granted to provide more facilities for the vacationing public.

Morris argued the site should remain residential until a "higher class business" such as a large motel or restaurant is planned for it, or used as residential sites. Doerfler objected to his business as not being considered "high class."

Cause Traffic

Several cottage owners objected to the rezoning of the land because it would cause more traffic on the lakes. One resident claimed that the lakes have already become overcrowded to the point where they are no longer safe for boaters or swimmers. Rueben Nelson, cottage owner, said, "If you can't better the lakes with a zoning change, don't make the change."

Another property owner who favored the zoning change stated the children of cottage owners cause more trouble in the lakes area than the weekend visitor.

Jensen said after the public hearing that the town board would study the proposed changes and also meet with the planners from the regional planning commission before reaching a decision on the zoning change.

Clintonville, Weyauwega Beaten; Suffer First Loss of BABA Season

Previously unbeaten Clintonville and Weyauwega were both upended in weekend play in the Beaver Amateur Baseball League.

Marion trimmed Clintonville 7-1, on just three hits off losing pitcher Jim Norder. All came in the sixth inning when four runs scored on singles by Dave and Jamie Brandenburg and a double by Ken Lodewegan.

Take First Place

Waupaca shoved Weyauwega out of first place in the south-central loop, 8-4, with a powerful hitting attack. Pitcher Gary Potts had four hits in as many trips to the plate, Bob Hansen belted a two-run homer, and Dick Davidson batted in two runs with a brace of doubles.

Dave Koehler was the losing pitcher. Jim Billington and Guy Langford each had a pair of hits for Weyauwega.

Waupaca now holds a half-game lead with a 6-1 slate, while Weyauwega is 5-1.

The only team still unbeaten in the BABA is Gresham with a 5-0 record. Gresham will be at Shawano Wednesday night with star pitcher Dan Nuemier, who has 49 strike-outs, in 27 innings, slated to be on the mound.

In other south-central action Buena Vista blanked Rosholt, 7-0. New London walloped Lanark, 13-1, and Symco downed Scandinavia, 6-3.

No Walks

Joe Dernback pitched a three-hitter for Buena Vista as he fanned 15 and didn't walk a batter. Ron Berry homered for the winners with one on in the eighth.

Dernback, Ralph Turzinski, Dave Roman and George Trebowski had two hits apiece for Buena Vista. Gary Bestul got the loss.

Pete Schlise blasted two triples and a double for six RBIs to pace New London. Russell Rusch and John Moriarity also had two hits, while Garv Glocke and Jim Ehle each rapped doubles.

Carl Kalbus fanned eight to seven hits and Almon two runs win on a five-hitter. Jerry Meronek was the loser.

Bill Testin slammed a three-run homer and Larry Lucht rounded the bases on a solo shot to head Symco. Bill Carew, who had two hits, was the winning pitcher on a three-hitter.

Dave Nelson doubled in a pair of runs for Scandinavia. Paul Nelson was the losing pitcher.

In eastern-western division play, Menominee nipped Shawano, 8-7. Tigerton beat Big Falls, 7-5. Leopold whipped Bowler, 8-2, and Caroline ripped Tilleda, 10-2.

Roger Waukau and Guy Grignon homered for Menominee, and Dick Frechette and Grignon each had three hits as the winners came from behind scoring a pair of runs in both the eighth and ninth innings.

Hits 2 Homers

Marv Wiesnicht had two home runs for Shawano, Jerry Senzig homered and Ken Seering pounded three doubles.

Leon Penass was the winning pitcher, while Frank Wegner took the loss. Both came on in relief.

Big Falls led 5-2 but Tigerton scored a run in the sixth, one in the seventh and three in the eighth to win. Al Anderson was the winner allowing six hits.

Bill Radies was the loser allowing 10 hits and fanning 11. Mike Krolow had two hits for the Tigers.

Leopold Pitcher Greg Stezinski allowed eight hits and struck out 15 for the win, while losing hurler Mike Zienert also gave up eight safeties.

Get 3 Hits

Al Steinke and Orv Westphal each had three hits for Leopold, while Roger Murphy, Mike Zienert and Dan Marquardt each had two for the losers.

Tilleda led 2-1 until the seventh when Caroline came up with nine runs. Tim Olson was the winner allowing only three hits and fanning eight. Faye Mehler paced the Caroline hitting with three hits.

Ron Malueg was the loser allowing nine hits. Louie Lecterman homered for Tilleda.

In the northern division of the BABA this weekend it was Eau Claire Dells over Almon 9-2 and Elderon over Eland, 8-1. Birnamwood was idle.

Sunday Games

The Dells scored nine runs on seven hits and Almon two runs on six hits. The winning pitcher was Jerry Bauman and the loser Rick Zienert. Hillmar Bauman homered for the Dells and Darwin Zienert for Almon.

Dick Swanson was the winner for Elderon and Roger Breske the loser.

Sunday's pairings will have Elderon (2-2) and Almon (3-3) and Eland (3-3) at Birnamwood (3-2). The division all-star game will be played at Almon July 4.

In eastern and western loop action this Sunday, Big Falls (1-2) will be at Clintonville (5-1), Marion (4-2) will be at Tilleda (0-6), Caroline (4-2) at Tigerton (3-3), Bowler (0-6) at Menominee (3-3) and Gresham (5-0) at Leopold (3-2). Shawano (3-2) is idle.

In south-central games, Weyauwega (5-1) is at Lanark (1-6), Symco (2-4) at Buena Vista (5-2), New London (1-5) at Rosholt (0-6) and Waupaca (6-1) at Scandinavia (4-3).

Thursday under the lights Weyauwega will be at New London. Symco will play a makeup game at Rosholt, July 4.

Helicopter Crashes Near Oneida

Pilot Suffers Minor Injuries in Tuesday Mishap

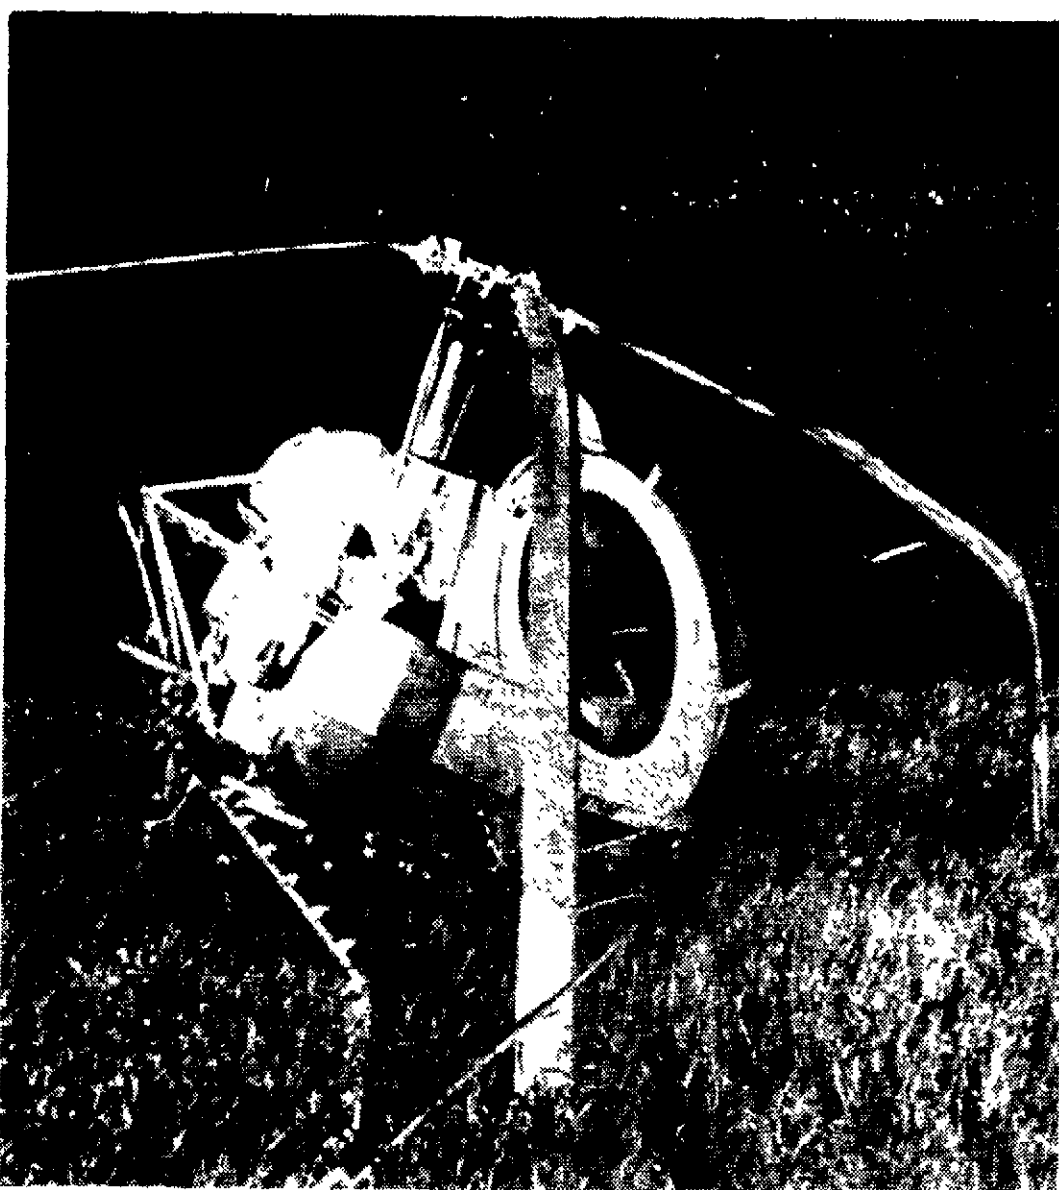

ONEIDA — Minor injuries were suffered about 7:30 p.m. Tuesday when a helicopter piloted by Roger Tetzner, Green Bay, crashed while spraying a corn field on the Wisconsin State Reformatory Honor Farm north of here.

Tetzner told Outagamie County sheriff's authorities that he was approximately 30 feet in the air and making a turn when the craft's motor stopped, and it plummeted to the ground.

Tetzner was taken by Brown County authorities to St. Vincent Hospital, Green Bay, where he was treated for lacerations on the upper left and lower right eyelids and scratches to the right side of his face and chest.

The incident occurred near Outagamie County Trunk U, which marks the boundary between Outagamie and Brown counties.

Authorities said an inspector from the Milwaukee office of the Federal Aviation Agency was expected to check the details of the incident sometime today.

2 Men Charged In Connection With Shooting

Men Gave Beer to Minor Shot During Seymour Incident

Two Green Bay men have been charged with procuring and furnishing beer to minors in connection with a vandalism-shooting incident Monday which resulted in a gunshot wound to a 17-year-old rural West De Pere youth.

Wayne J. Williquette, 18, and Robert Williquette, 24, pleaded guilty to the charges in Outagamie County Court Branch 2 late Tuesday afternoon and each was fined $100 and costs or 48 days in jail.

Another youth involved in the incident, Robert Manders, 17, route 2, West De Pere is in St. Vincent Hospital, Green Bay, in fair condition.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Manders suffered a gunshot wound in the abdomen during an incident at the Gerald Nagel home, route 1, Seymour, about 1:30 a.m. Monday.

Wayne Williquette also was fined $100 and costs or 48 days in jail on a charge of criminal damage to property, resulting from the breaking of two glass windows at the Nagel home.

Involve Minors

Four minors were involved in the drinking charges, including Manders.

Nagel, 24, told Outagamie County Sheriff's authorities that he and his family were awakened about 1:30 a.m. Monday by a noise on the roof and saw vandalism being caused in the front yard.

When the youths causing the damage returned to the Nagel home, Nagel reportedly came out of the house with a .22 caliber rifle and shouted to the fleeing youths to stop.

He told authorities he fired one shot, and thought it was low. Investigators later discovered Manders was getting in the rear seat when he was struck in the side.

12-Ounce Pigeon Nearly Wrecks Transport Plane

ALAMEDA, Calif. (AP)—A Navy transport plane flying at 9,400 feet collided with a 12-ounce pigeon the night of April 20. The collision 50 miles south of here near San Jose put a fist-sized puncture in the plane's skin and two heavy bulkheads.

The mangled bird "stopped next to my foot," said the pilot, Lt. Joseph Rozic of Butler, Pa.

"My first assumption was that we'd had a collision with another plane. There was a loud, slightly muffled explosion. The whole plane shuddered, but there was no decompression. The damage to the plane was terrific."

He landed the C2A transport with 10 men aboard at Alameda without further incident.

The bulletin of the Golden Gate Audubon Society printed Rozic's account Monday in an article by Oakland Park naturalist Paul F. Cove. He identified the pigeon as a bandtail and said it can fly at 9,400 feet but usually doesn't, especially at night.

Study Refugee Aid

Appleton Couple Will See Post-Crises Israel

An Appleton couple will be among the 60 persons to participate in the first United Jewish Appeal mission to visit Israel since the crisis to survey the welfare programs being aided by the appeal's emergency fund.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Shiff, 1121 E. Glendale Ave., will part in the seventh annual mission of the Young Leaders' ship Cabinet's 26-day tour, which will leave July 3.

The group will study the needs in Israel and the refugee aid programs in France, Italy and Spain, all aided by funds from the organization.

Shiff, campaign chairman of the Appleton United Jewish Appeal Chapter, is an attorney with the firm of Sigman, Sigman and Shiff. He is a former secretary of the Outagamie County Bar Association and an Associate member of the Appleton Board of Realtors.

In Paris the group will visit one of the temporary shelters maintained for Jewish refugees and will lunch at a canteen where hot meals are served to migrants en route to Israel. In Italy they will tour refugee installations in Naples and Rome.

During their two-week visit in Israel, the visitors will see how Jewish newcomers are helped through the organization's programs of absorption to adjust to Israel's social and economic life. They also will witness the arrival of immigrants at Lydda Airport and Haifa Harbor and inspect development towns typical of those housing more than 250,000 of Israel's unabsorbed newcomers. They will have an opportunity to talk with President Zalman Shazar, Prime Minister Levi Eshkol and other high ranking officials of the government, as well as visit with families.

Sightseeing tours will include new agricultural border settlements, cooperative farms and ancient cities of historic interest dating back to biblical times. Other tours will take them to schools and homes for the aged, built by Jewish appeal funds. The group will also attend a memorial service at Yad Vashem in Jerusalem, dedicated to the six million Jews killed by the Nazis, before leaving for Madrid and Toledo, Spain.

The report came from John Finlator, director of the FDA's drug abuse control bureau, in testimony Tuesday before a House Government Operations subcommittee.

Finlator also indicated the criminal organization known as Cosa Nostra is becoming involved in the distribution of LSD, the so-called mind-expanding drug.

Finlator said that the only word his agency has on STP consists of rumors that the drug 250,000 of Israel's unabsorbed newcomers. They will have an opportunity to talk with President Zalman Shazar, Prime Minister Levi Eshkol and other high ranking officials of the government, as well as visit with families.

Tax Increase Could Bring More Troubles

AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — A tax surcharge, which the head of the Federal Reserve Board suggested this week is the main need of the economy, could turn out to mean more economic headaches—and less revenue than is hoped for.

This is a tricky measure. Expert as the tax technicians may be in this era of the manipulated economy, they cannot foresee all the consequences of the surtax plan. This probably explains the hesitancy in putting the plan into action.

It was first proposed by the administration early this year as a six per cent surcharge on all corporate and personal income taxes—in effect a tax on your taxes. The reasoning behind the proposal was that a vigorous 1967 economy would need a restraining influence.

Inflation Threat

It is being advocated now—by William McChesney Martin, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board—as a revenue builder that might help offset a deficit in government financing and lessen the threat of inflation.

But the 1967 economy has not been as strong as anticipated, even though Martin referred to "the recovery under way." A surtax could shrink the tax base by slowing business. And if the base shrinks, so will the revenue produced from it.

Problems such as this are what lead to recurring opinions that the Johnson administration has few options. The needle on the compass points to some unpleasant weather in any direction.

Other Policies

As Martin indicated, the big problem is the government's big deficit, estimated at somewhere between $13.5 billion and $29.2 billion and which, in some ways, is a contradiction to other federal policies.

For example, both the Johnson administration and the Federal Reserve have been using all their efforts this year to make credit more easily available and at lower rates. The reason: to prod the economy.

However, not all interest rates have gone down. Long-term rates—the charges on loans for periods of many years—actually have risen, and now some business loans are being made at record-high charges.

Easy Money

The fear now is that these high interest rates may develop also in consumer loans and in the home-mortgage market. This would abort completely the Federal Reserve's easy-money policy, which already has been less than successful.

As Martin indicated, the contradictory behavior of interest rates is based on a fear of the big government deficit, a deficit that means the government will have to borrow money.

When the government goes into the market for huge sums of money, it can cause additional upward pressure on interest rates. Some corporate treasurers, therefore, are borrowing now in advance of requirements to avoid a future shortage or higher rates.

One solution would be to spur the economy to new heights once again, lifting production, consumption, and incomes. Revenue then also would be higher.

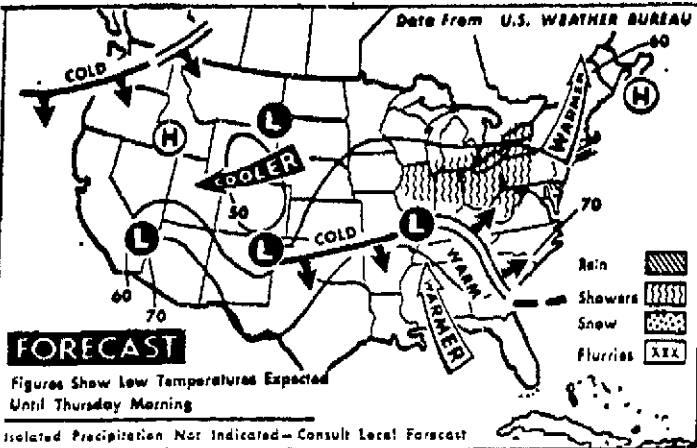

Plans Announced

Another would be to cut spending, a solution that seems to have possibilities chiefly among Republicans and Vietnam doves. But this option is not one the administration can do very much about gracefully now that its budget plans have been announced.

It could cut domestic spending, but that would be contrary to several goals. And it could not cut spending on the Vietnam war without a turnaround in its military philosophy.

The alternatives open are not at all pleasant, for none of them offers clear sailing without a few squalls to begin with. Nevertheless, as Martin indicated, a course must be chosen.

In advocating prompt action, Martin perhaps has in mind the experience of last year when, despite constant prodding, the administration failed to use fiscal measures, such as taxes, to cool an overheated economy.

Showers and Thundershowers are forecast tonight in the Great Lakes and Ohio Valley. It will be warmer along the central Pacific coast, New England, lower Great Lakes region, the lower Ohio Valley and the Carolinas. (AP Wirephoto Map)

Shareholders Pass Merger

3-Way Union Would Form One of Largest Firms in Country

OSHKOSH — Shareowners of all three companies Tuesday approved of the North American Aviation, Inc., Rockwell-Standard Corp., and Draper Corp. merger to form a broadly diversified new company, North American Rockwell Corp.

Special meetings were held in Los Angeles for North American Aviation's shareowners; in Pittsburgh for Rockwell-Standard's shareowners, and in Portland, Maine, for Draper's Shareowners.

Rockwell-Standard Operates a large plant in Oshkosh, which is the city's largest employer and taxpayer.

North American Rockwell will manufacture products for over a dozen major markets — space, electronics, atomic energy, oceanography, aircraft, trucks, buses, passenger cars, farm machinery, construction equipment, textile machinery, filters, gears and other industrial products.

At the Rockwell-Standard meeting, which came after the other two, shareowners listened in on an amplified three-city telephone hook-up in which the three companies' presidents exchanged reports of favorable votes.

The three-way merger would create one of the 20 largest industrial firms in the nation, based on the companies' combined 1966 sales of $2.7 billion. North American Rockwell will have 116,000 employees working in 77 plants in 33 states and Canada and approximately 100,000 shareowners. Assets total $1.1 billion.

Disability Plan Unaffected By Medicare; Changes Noted

Two major changes in the requirements for disability payments under social security have been made by the 1965 amendments of the social security law, according to Frank M. Donnick, manager of the Appleton social security office. He emphasized, however, that the disability program is in no way affected by the advent of medicare.

In the first change, workers who have received retirement payments on the basis of being age 62 or over can now receive disability benefits if they can establish a disability beginning more than six full months before the attainment of age 65. Under the previous law a worker accepting a retirement benefit could not establish a disability beginning at a later date than the first month in which a retirement benefit was paid.

12-Month Disability

Second, monthly cash benefits can now be made to insured workers if their disability is expected to last for at least 12 months. The old law required that the disability be expected to be permanent.

In addition to having a physical or mental impairment which prevents him from doing any substantial work, the person must have worked in covered employment for five out of the 10 years ending with the calendar quarter in which the disability began. There must be sufficient medical evidence available to support a determination of disability and there can be no payments made for the first six full months after the onset of the disability.

When the above requirements are met, the worker can receive monthly cash benefits. If he has a minor child, a disabled adult child, or a child under age 22 attending an accredited school on a full time basis, the child can also receive a benefit. If the worker has a wife age 62 or over, or who is taking care of his minor child or his disabled adult child, the wife can receive a monthly benefit.

Further information may be obtained at the Appleton social security office, 401 S. Elm St.

$55,000 Cost To Railroad for Coffee Break

CABAZON, Calif. (AP) — A Southern Pacific fireman and engineer stopped for a cup of coffee Tuesday at this little desert community, parking their train at the station.

Fifteen minutes later they found the train, which consists of four engines and no cars, had disappeared.

This is what happened, a railroad spokesman said: The unmanned train started coasting down the steep Whitewater grade, reaching between 90 and 140 miles an hour, on the railroad's main line.

A dispatcher in Los Angeles, 150 miles away, noticed the light flashing on her electronic control board. She pressed a switch that diverted the train to a siding.

The train tore up the main line and one engine derailed as it headed onto the siding, about 22 miles east of Cabazon.

Traffic on the main line was held up for four hours.

The engineer, Deslin S. Waldram, and fireman P.S. Fishbeck, said the brakes were set before they left the train.

Officials estimated damage to the derailed engine alone at $55,000.

Propose to Extend Aids for Full 4-Year Study, Out-of-State Work

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — The expansion of the state honors scholarship program by almost $700,000 to a $2½ million level has been proposed to the state Senate by the state Higher Educational Aids Commission.

The program would allow the extension of the special tuition aids to students attending non-profit out-of-state academic institutions and would allow students to win the special assistance throughout four years of college, instead of only for the freshman year, as now offered.

Cost of the program is estimated at $698,000. The program now operates at a biennial cost of just less than $1.8 million.

Alter Method
The new program would also alter the manner of awarding the assistanceships by the state agency, to allow larger high schools to win additional scholarships for their better students.

Under the program as now administered, state high schools are granted two, four or six scholarships for their best students, depending on the size of the graduating class.

The new proposal would allow the schools two, four, or one scholarship for every 50 students for the larger schools, while not altering the total number of scholarships offered.

MANOR HOUSE

The new system will allow more of the larger schools in the heavily populated Green Bay - Madison - Kenosha triangle to receive more of the scholarships, said Thomas Moran, commission director.

The out of state provisions, he said, will especially aid high school students in western Wisconsin seeking to attend Minnesota schools.

To qualify for the grants, which can assist in the payment of tuition to a maximum level of $400, a student must be in the top 10 per cent of his class. Under the provisional rules of the commission, a student could re-apply for the scholarships, if the new program wins approval, if his academic average at the school was at least a "B" during the freshman semesters.

Hazards Exist In Oversized Rubbish Cans

KAUKAUNA — Donald Schaeffer, street department foreman, has reported to the board of public works, occupational hazards are being experienced by garbage and rubbish crews because of citizens using containers too bulky or heavy.

City statutes require garbage to be placed in metallic, water-tight containers of not more than 20 gallons capacity with a separate, close fitting cover and handles thus making it possible to be handled by one man. Ashes and other rubbish are to be placed in containers not greater than the size of a bushel basket, with handles, so that it can be handled by one man. Violators of the ordinance are subject to a fine for each violation.

$200,000 Ice Rink Project May be Halted

Planners Discover Costs for 4 Phases Could Total $650,000

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — A $200,000 completion project for the West Allis state fair Olympic ice rink which was given preliminary approval almost two months ago may now be endangered because state planners have found that the total cost could reach almost $650,000.

The action is pending before the state Building Commission, which has been asked to approve a request for $198,625 for completion of the rink. A mail ballot of the commission members is now in progress, with votes due Friday.

Included in the project is a request for $108,000 for completion of the floor of the rink by laying concrete, the construction of a 2,500 seat bleachers section, and the addition of a $16,000 building for judges and timers. Associated costs bring the project to the $198,000 total.

Almost two months ago the commission approved the allocation of $2,500 for the preparation of building plans for the project.

But state planners have informed commission members that the project, assumed to be all that is necessary to complete the ice rink, is only the first phase of a four-phase project that could total $645,775.

The second phase of the expansion project would include the landscaping of the rink area to provide a "beautiful winter wonderland" and the construction of a shadow wall on the roof of the structure to hide unsightly machinery. Cost of the projects would be $51,200. Phase III, the construction of a hockey rink and a pavilion roof, could total $234,450, according to the estimates in the plan.

And the final phase, the construction of a refrigerated toboggan slide, would add $161,500 to the total cost.

The belated discovery of the additional projects has thrown a shadow over the original approval of the preliminary step in planning the projects, since some commission members are afraid the first phase of the project would in turn require approval of the entire proposal.

Finance Committee to Air Insurance Bids

KAUKAUNA — The finance committee of the common council will meet at 6:30 p.m. Monday to open bids on fleet insurance after which the purchasing committee will meet to discuss routine department requests.

Pentecostal Church to Hold Camp Meeting at Shawano

SHAWANO — More than 800 persons are expected to attend the seventh annual Wisconsin District campmeeting of the United Pentecostal Church Friday through July 7 at its campgrounds about 7 miles southeast of here on Long Lake.

According to the Rev. Richard S. Davis, Eau Claire, district superintendent, the tone of the camp meeting is evangelistic with emphasis on repentance, baptism by immersion, separation from worldliness and healing.

The Rev. W.I. Black, St. Louis, will be camp evangelist and will speak at 7 p.m. each evening. Mrs. Lyndal Whitt, Hot Springs, Ark., will conduct young people's services at 10 a.m. daily. The district Sunday school department will operate a camp school at the same time for younger children and Bible studies will be conducted at 2 p.m. each day.

Since the campground was donated, a tabernacle seating 600 persons, dining hall, boys' dormitory and married couples' dormitory have been constructed. The district also is planning a youth camp from July 31 to Aug. 4 at the campgrounds.

Intrastate Movers Get Rate Increase Approval

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — The household-goods carriers of Wisconsin have won approval of the public service commission for rate revisions estimated to generate additional revenues of about 45 per cent for intrastate hauling.

The new rate order replaces temporary increases asked and received more than a year ago, and will be the first general rate revision in a decade, the commission said.

Cover Intrastate
The prescribed tariffs do not cover local or interstate hauling. The latter are under the control of the Interstate Commerce Commission, a federal agency.

Officials said commission staff made a thorough examination of the economics of the intrastate household-goods moving business, and concluded that some raises of as much as 80 per cent, and some decreases, were required for a balanced tariff system.

Rates Disparity
The commission order also commented that the disparity between rates for service within the state, and between states, has resulted in a more favorable atmosphere for interstate movements "which is prejudicial to intrastate movements."

The regulatory order also revised rules for special classes of service, including exclusive use of a single vehicle, expedited service and space reservation. The earlier emergency surcharges authorized for the carriers are cancelled with the publication of the order approving the permanent rate revision. The Wisconsin Household Goods Carriers Bureau has about 115 members engaged in the transportation of used household goods and business equipment for persons changing their places of residence or business.

Tipsy Driver Fined $150

Second Arrest In 2 Days for Clintonville Man

CLINTONVILLE — Charles R. Terrio, 30, route 3, appeared before Municipal Justice Nathan Wiese Tuesday on a charge of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicants, pleaded guilty, and was fined $150 and costs, or 60 days in the Waupaca county jail. He also lost his driving privileges for one year.

Terrio was unable to pay the fine.

He had been arrested on the charge Monday by Clintonville police.

Terrio had also been arrested by the Clintonville police and charged with imprudent driving on Sunday, and when he appeared in court Monday he pleaded no contest and was found guilty by Judge Wiese. On that charge Terrio was fined $25 plus costs of $6.70.

Little Interest Noted in School Board Election

KIMBERLY — To date, no applications have been received by Eugene Schelfhout, clerk of the school district, from residents interested in running for the board of education. Persons desiring to have their names on the ballot for possible election to the board on July 24 must notify the school district clerk by July 5 of their desire to run for election. Notifications must be made in writing. The terms of Eugene Schelfhout, Kimberly representative, and Francis Gossens, rural representative, are expiring.

The Warren Report: Was There a Gunman on Grassy Knoll?

EDITOR'S NOTE — The defendant is a book. So is the prosecutor. On trial is the Warren Commission Report, indicted by men whose own books find it guilty. Guilty of haste. Guilty of bias. Guilty of a cover-up. But neither critic nor commissioner is the jury. The public is. It, ultimately, will find where it thinks truth lies. But before considering its verdict, the public must ask for the facts. All the facts. Has it heard them? All of them?

One technique which the critics use to discredit the autopsy report is what might be called reverse English.

In a usual medical situation, if a person died during an operation, say for removal of a wart on his finger, the cause of death would be determined by an autopsy. If the autopsy attributed death to heart failure, critics such as Lane, Weisberg and Epstein—if they are judged by their performance—would say ignore the autopsy, look at the wart.

This is what they've done on focusing on what happened when the president was taken to Parkland Memorial Hospital. Again, they show how they pick and chose to get what they did—an entrance wound at the throat.

Support Argument

Lane needs this to support his argument that there was a shot (or shots) fired from the grassy knoll—the greensward parallel to the presidential motorcade—rather than solely from Oswald's perch on the sixth floor of the Texas School Book Depository.

"Although every doctor who had seen the throat wound prior to the tracheotomy and expressed a contemporaneous opinion had said that it was a wound of entrance," Lane says on Page 53 of his book, the commission chose to dismiss these as erroneous conclusions stemming from a doctor's observations to the press.

Let's see.

Dr. Charles J. Carrico, Lane doesn't name him as one of the doctors saying there was an entrance wound at the throat. But Carrico was the first doctor to see the president. In a written report dated at 4:20 p.m. on the day of the assassination, Carrico described the wound as a "small penetrating wound of the neck in the lower 1-3." "Penetrating" in medical terminology can mean either entrance or exit. In his testimony, Carrico further said that "not having completely evaluated all the wounds, traced out the course of the bullets, this wound would have been compatible with either entrance or exit wounds depending upon the size, the velocity, the tissue structure and so forth."

Dr. Malcolm Perry, he performed the tracheotomy. So he saw the wound before it had been touched. In a press conference in which he had the burden of trying to answer most of the questions ("It was bedlam," he later testified) he was quoted as saying the throat wound was an entry wound.

Asked about what questions he was asked and what replies he made, Perry testified:

"Well there were numerous questions asked, all the questions I cannot remember of course. Specifically, the thing that seemed to be of most interest at that point was actually trying to get me to speculate as to the direction of the bullets, the number of bullets, and the exact cause of death."

"The first two questions I could not answer, and my reply to them was that I did not know, if there were one or two bullets, and I could not categorically state about the nature of the neck wound, whether it was an entrance or an exit wound, not having examined the president further—I could not comment on other injuries."

Entrance Wound

Dr. Ronald C. Jones. His report described the wound as an entrance wound. He testified as to his reasons for his belief, and Lane quotes his testimony from Page 55, Vol. VI—up to a point, an important point. In Lane's book, Jones says in part "You would expect more of an explosive type of exit wound, with more tissue destruction than this appeared to have." Three words were then dropped after "have." They were "...on superficial examination."

Lane doesn't mention that none of the doctors knew there was a wound at the back of the neck.

Lane and Weisberg also emphasize that the little entrance hole on the back of the president's skull was not seen by the doctors. Lane's treatment of this deserves a close look.

"These eight physicians examined the right occipital-parietal area; each testified that he did not see a bullet hole which the commission said was there," Lane writes. Then he gives this version of the questioning of Dr. William Kemp Clark, director of neurological surgery at Parkland Memorial Hospital:

"Q: Now you described the massive wound at the top of the president's head, with the brain protruding; did you observe any other hole or wound on the president's head?"

"Dr. Clark: No, Sir. I did not." And that is where Lane stops. But not Clark. His answer was:

"No sir; I did not. This could have easily been hidden in the blood and hair."

None of the seven other doctors saw such a hole. But none said there was no such hole. And there is good reason—a reason the critics elect to ignore.

The president remained on his back, with great care taken not to move his head, all the time he was at the hospital.

Why wasn't the president turned over at Parkland?

"This man was in obvious extreme distress and any more thorough inspection would have involved several minutes—well, several—considerable time which at this juncture was not available. A thorough inspection would have involved washing and cleansing the back, and this is not practical in treating an acutely injured patient. You have to determine which things, which are immediately life threatening and cope with them, before attempting to evaluate the full extent of the injuries."

"Q: Did you ever have occasion to look at the president's back?"

"Dr. Carrico: No sir. Before—well, in trying to treat an acutely injured patient, you have to establish an airway, adequate ventilation and you have to establish adequate circulation. Before this was accomplished the president's cardiac activity had ceased and closed cardiac massage was instituted, which made it impossible to inspect his back."

Was this done after the president died? No. Not one doctor ever said this was done. Why not, Carrico was asked.

"I suppose nobody really had the heart to do it."

IV—The Grassy Knoll

It happened in a small park called Dealey Plaza, named in honor of a famous Dallas publisher. Its central landmark used to be a bronze statue of that citizen, George B. Dealey. Now there are others: the yellow brick mass of the Texas School Book Depository and, close by, an embankment now called "the grassy knoll."

Some saw a rifle in a building window.

The Warren Commission decided it was from there the assassin fired.

Some saw a puff of smoke on a grassy knoll.

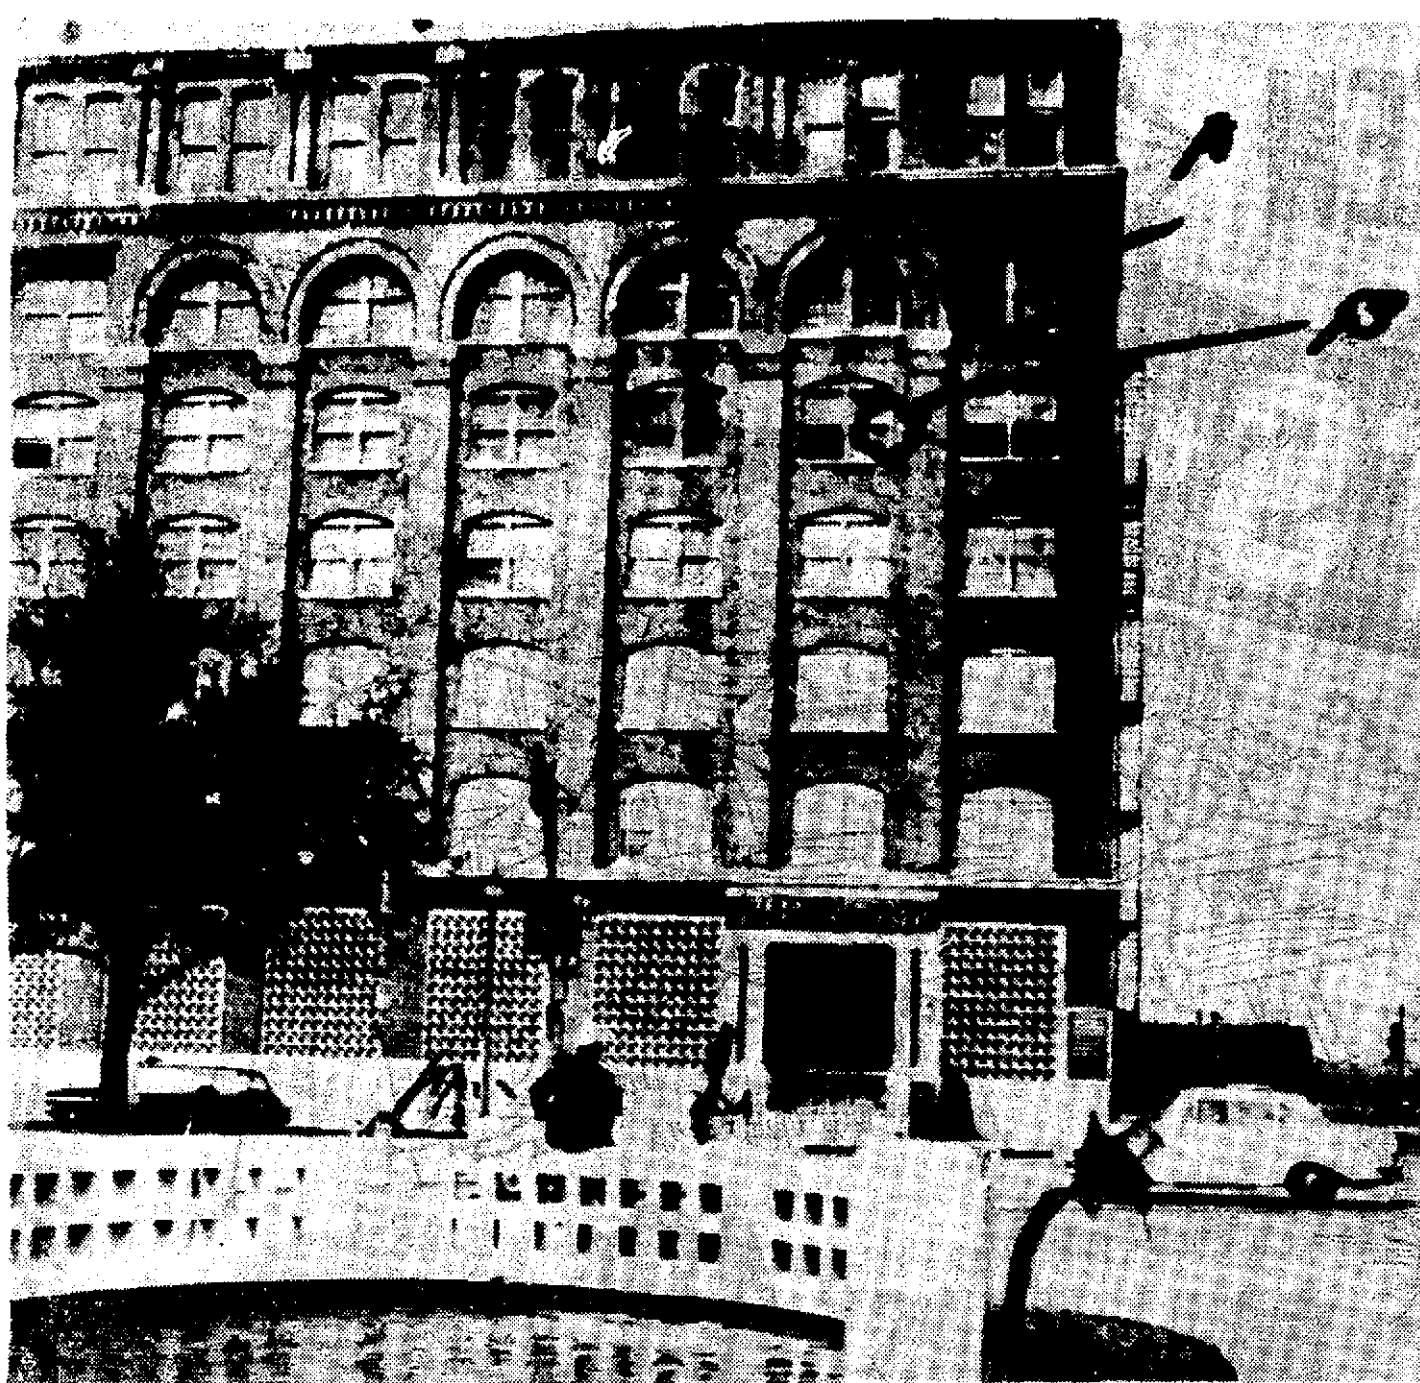

Critics have decided it was from there an assassin fired.

The grassy knoll is a slope of greensward running southwest away from the Texas School Book Depository. There is an arcade on its ridge, then a picket fence, shoulder high. The knoll runs along the north side of Elm Street on which Kennedy was slain. It ends at a railroad overpass which Elm Street goes beneath.

Several men on the overpass saw smoke near the fence as the president fell. If the smoke came from the assassin's rifle, Kennedy could not have been shot in the back, as the autopsy doctors decided. It is as simple as that: he was facing obliquely toward the knoll.

If he was shot from the knoll, the throat wound must be one of entry, not exit even though doctors said it was of exit. The fabric of the hole in the back of his jacket could not have been bent inwards, even though it was. Gov. Connally could not have been shot in the back by the same bullet, even though doctors said he was. Lee Harvey Oswald would not have been a lone assassin.

The commission gave less attention to the knoll than it did the overpass. It ruled out the overpass in favor of the depository as the assassin's lair for many reasons, one being that no one on the overpass saw a rifle being fired from there. No one saw a rifle fired from the knoll, either.

Yet the knoll abides. It does so because critics stress what people saw and heard there. They have not, however, stressed everything that people heard or saw there. Or did not hear or see.

Consider S. M. Holland.

Holland was standing on an overpass above Elm Street as the motorcade approached. The grassy knoll was slightly to his left in the foreground. The Texas School Book Depository, from which the commission says the shots were fired, was also slightly to his left but behind the presidential limousine.

Holland heard a noise like a firecracker. "I looked toward the arcade and trees and saw a puff of smoke come from the trees." That is what Holland told sheriff's deputies right after the assassination, and that is how Mark Lane quotes him in "Rush to Judgment."

But there is more to the sentence, although Lane does not include it. It reads: "And I heard three more shots after the first shot, but that was the only puff of smoke I saw."

If one puff of smoke suggests someone shot a gun from the knoll, what does the absence of three subsequent puffs suggest? The jury, the reading public, was not asked to decide. Mark Lane did it for them. He decided not to raise the question.

Epstein wrote "...Six out of seven of these witnesses (on the overpass) who gave an opinion as to the source of the shots indicated that the shots had come from a 'grassy knoll.'" They did?

The six cited are James Simmons, Austin Miller, Thomas Murphy, Frank Reilly, J.W. Foster and Holland.

This is what they say in the report volumes:

Simmons (paraphrased by the FBI): "(He) advised that it was his opinion that the shots came from the direction of the Texas School Book Depository."

Miller: "It sounds like it came from the left. I would say from right there in the car. Would be to my left, the way I was looking at him, over toward that incline (the knoll)."

Murphy: "These shots came from a spot just west of the Texas School Book Depository."

Reilly: "(The shots came from that) park where all the shrubs is up there, to the north of Elm Street, up the slope."

Foster: "It (the sound) came from back in the corner of Elm and Houston streets." (The depository is at the corner of Elm and Houston).

No Suspicious Persons

Holland, who also picked the knoll, testified he immediately ran to that area. He saw no one suspicious.

Those are the six who "indicated the shots came from a 'grassy knoll.' Two, actually, picked the depository area. One who indicated the knoll also thought the shots sounded like they came from Kennedy's car."

Besides Holland, Lane says six others on the overpass saw smoke. Austin Miller is one. In an affidavit Nov. 22, 1963, he said he saw "smoke or steam" coming from the knoll area. When Miller was later questioned by commission counsel, Lane writes, Miller was "dismissed before he could mention the crucial observation contained in his affidavit."

Actually, at the end of his interrogation, during which he indeed did not mention any smoke, Miller was asked if he could add anything "that might be of any help to the commission or to the investigation of the assassination."

Miller: "Offhand, no sir, I don't recall anything else."

Maybe he forgot the smoke, maybe not. But it is hardly accurate to convey the impression that the commission had turned Miller off before he could give testimony against the depository theory by "dismissing" him.

Lane goes on. "Clem Johnson told FBI agents that he had observed 'white smoke.'" That is ALL he says about Clem Johnson. But Johnson's full statement as paraphrased by the FBI was:

"Johnson stated that while smoke was observed near the pavilion (arcade) but he felt this smoke came from a motorcycle abandoned near the spot by Dallas policemen." Who, does it seem, is dismissing what?

The other four who Lane says saw smoke—Richard Dodd, Walter Windborn, Simmons and Murphy—were interviewed by him in 1966. Whatever the told Lane then, only on—Simmons—mentioned smoke to the FBI when questioned during the assassination investigation.

Simmons said he thought he saw "exhaust fumes" of smoke near the embankment in front of the Texas School Book Depository. He ran toward that building with a policeman, first looking over the knoll fence. Two years later the "exhaust fumes" by the depository have become "a puff of smoke" near the fence. Lane saves the reader the trouble of having to decide which recollection is accurate. The first, given to the FBI, is not included in his book.

Whether they saw smoke or not, it apparently did not aid Dodd or Windborn in placing the source of the shots. They told the FBI they couldn't tell where they came from.

Other Aspects

There are three other aspects of smoke, not dwelled upon by Lane or Epstein in connection with the knoll.

1—There was a steam pipe in the area.

2—FBI tests showed the alleged assassination rifle produced only a "small amount" of smoke when fired: modern military gunpowder is smokeless.

3—NONE of the approximately 200 assassination witnesses questioned other than the four on the overpass mentions seeing ANY smoke, anywhere.

Lane says only those on the overpass could see smoke from the knoll because of its elevation and the bushes around it. But those persons on the south side of Elm Street should have seen it, if there was any. They, not those on the overpass, were in a direct line of fire. None of them mentioned smoke).

Lane cites what people heard as well as saw to pinpoint the knoll. He quotes O. V. Campbell, vice president of the depository, who believed the shots came from "the railroad tracks near the viaduct overpass." This could be construed as the knoll area.

Campbell was standing in front of the depository, as Lane mentions. He does NOT mention that at his elbow stood Mrs. Robert Reid, a fellow employee. Lane does NOT mention that Mrs. Reid testified:

"I turned to Mr. Campbell and afraid those (sounds) came from our building" because it sounded like they came just so directly over my head."

Two witnesses. Two versions. Both appear in the Warren report. Only one does in "Rush to Judgment."

"Many other persons scattered throughout Dealey Plaza (through which Elm Street runs and the knoll and depository overlook) placed the origin of the shots (on the knoll)," Lane observes. And so they did. Jean Hill did. Billie Joe Lovelady did. William Newman did. John and Faye Chism did. Roy Truly did.

At least 34 people did, although it is difficult to pinpoint from some of their statements. It is also not always easy to pinpoint the more than 60 witnesses who thought the shots came from the depository.

Such as:

F. Lee Mudd—"From the direction of the depository."

Charles Hester—"It appeared to be a building on the corner of Elm and Houston streets."

Charles Brehm—"One of two buildings on Elm and Houston."

Marion Baker—"High up, pretty sure from the depository."

T. E. Moore—"From a high area."

Allan Sweatt—"Vicinity of Elm and Houston."

Or the 15 people of the motorcade itself who thought the shots came from the "right rear."

Since almost none of such witnesses is mentioned in Lane's book, perhaps that is why he felt no need to mention such others whose testimony is helpful in locating the source of the shots.

Such as Mrs. Earle Cabell, the Dallas mayor's wife, who looked towards the depository at the sound of shots and "saw a projection" in an upper window. Or Bob Jackson, a press photographer, who also looked up at the depository and told colleagues in a motorcade press car "there is the gun!" Or James Crawford who looked up at the sound of the third shot and "saw a movement" in the southeast window of the sixth floor of the depository and told a friend "if those were shots, they came from that window" and then advised police to search around some boxes he saw in the window. Police did. They found three rifle shells that were fired by a rifle also found on that floor—by that rifle and no other. Bullet fragments found in Kennedy's car also came from that rifle and no other.

'Some Evidence'

Maybe Lane had the Mrs. Cabells and Bob Jacksons in mind when he said there is "some evidence" shots came from the depository. There is "some" evidence. No one saw a puff of smoke there. Only a rifleman.

Epstein thinks there is "compelling" evidence shots were fired from the depository. But he faults the commission for not looking more thoroughly into the possibility of the knoll. He asks why the commission did not call the 10 witnesses who stood between the knoll and the president's car because nine of them "thought the shots had come from the knoll directly behind them."

Witnesses Confused as To Origin of the Shots

If the commission did not call them, it did have their statements.

This is what they said:

A. J. Millican: He said he heard three shots from the depository area, two from the arcade and three more from the arcade but further away.

Charles Hester: He said "the shots sounded like they... definitely came from in or around the (depository) building."

Abraham Zapruder: "I thought it (the shots) came from in back of me. Of course you can't tell when something is in line—it could be from anywhere."

Q: Did you form any opinion about the direction from which the shots came by the sound....?

"A: No, there was too much reverberation. There was an echo which gave me sound all over."

Mary Elizabeth Woodward: She told the FBI the shots came "from possibly behind her" or from the overpass. "However, because of the loud echo, she could not say where the shots had come from other than they had come from above her head."

Mrs. Hester: She was standing near the overpass approximately in line with Kennedy's car and the depository. She said she could give no position for the shots other than to tell the FBI she believed she and her husband were in the line of fire.

The other four of the nine Epstein said identified the knoll did, indeed, think the shots came from there.

Epstein continues: "Eight witnesses were standing across the street from the knoll: all eight said they thought the shots had come from the knoll."

Actually four of them did. One said she couldn't determine the source. Two thought the shots came possibly from the depository area. One said they came from one of two buildings at the corner of Elm and Houston. There are three buildings there, one the depository.

In the second chapter of his book, Lane writes: "Twenty-five witnesses are known to have given statements or affidavits on Nov. 22 and Nov. 23—the day of and the day after the assassination—about the origin of the shots. Twenty-two said they believed that the shots came from the knoll."

Should one check the commission volumes, he would find that, yes, 23 people did give statements to law officials on those two days. Nine cited the knoll. Twelve cited the depository. Two indicated it could have been either.

There is a witness mentioned in another context by Lane whose testimony has some relevance as to the conflicting opinions of where the shots came from. He is Lee E. Bowers. He was working in a signal tower in the railroad area behind the knoll. His testimony is in Volume VI.

Depository or Underpass

Bowers: "The sounds came either from up against the school book depository building or near the mouth of the triple underpass."

Q: "You were not able to tell which?"

Bowers: "No, I could not."

Q: "Well, now, had you had any experience before being in the tower as to sounds coming from these various places?"

Bowers: "Yes: I had worked this same tower for some 10 or 12 years, and was there during the time they were renovating the school depository building, and had noticed at that time the similarity of sounds occurring in either of those two locations."

Bowers testimony doesn't rule out the knoll. It doesn't rule out the depository. It does help those investigators trying to explain why witnesses to the assassination gave conflicting opinions as to the sound of the shots. If Bowers was helpful in this regard to Lane or Epstein, they didn't mention it.

Apart from what witnesses heard or did not hear from the knoll, Lane attaches significance to what they did there.

"Many officers said that as soon as the shots were fired, they ran directly to the knoll and behind the wooden fence and began to search the area, some passing the book depository on the way."

Why did people converge on the knoll?

The Hesters ran toward it to seek shelter from the gunfire. Miss Patricia Ann Lawrence, who had been standing at Elm and Houston, ran "along with the crowd" to where the president's car had been when he was hit. So did Mrs. Charles Davis. "I just ran along with them," said Danny Arce.

Curtis Bishop, on the overpass, saw people "running in every direction." Geneva Hine, on the second floor of the depository, saw people running east on Elm, away from the knoll.

Ralph Walters, a deputy sheriff, ran toward the overpass where he had last seen the presidential limousine. "We couldn't get any information."

L. S. Smith, another deputy, ran toward the depository. A woman said the shots came from the knoll. So Smith ran there. John Wiseman, a deputy, ran to the knoll where he saw police having trouble with a motorcycle. Then a woman pointed to the depository. So he ran there. Deputy W. W. Mabry saw people running toward the overpass area "so I ran that way." Motorcycle patrolman Clyde Haygood drove toward the overpass area "because people were pointing." Then a man mentioned the depository and at 12:34 p.m., four minutes after the assassination, he radioed the police dispatcher:

"I just talked to a guy up here who was standing close to it and the best he could tell it came from the Texas School Book Depository."

Deputy Allan Sweatt could not tell which way to run because one man told him the shots came from toward the knoll and another said the depository. A colleague with him stayed at the depository while he ran on toward the knoll. Deputies Jack Faulkner and A. D. McCurley ran toward the railroad yards behind the knoll because they saw other officers running there. Officer D. V. Harkness went to the railroad yards because he saw "everybody hitting the ground" there.

In other words, people were running in many directions for many reasons. Most of the sheriff's deputies had been in front of their office around the corner when the shots were fired and ran in the directions they did because of what bystanders told them, because they saw others running that way or because of where they thought the sounds came from.

"Everybody was just running around in circles," said Deputy Eddy Raymond Walters.

Undeniably, the knoll area was widely searched by officers immediately after the shots. And what was found?

"There wasn't anything over there," said Patrolman E. L. Smith.

"We didn't see anything there," said Deputy Luke Mooney who thought the shots came from the knoll.

Saw No One

John and Faye Chism, standing in front of the knoll, had looked around when they heard the shots. They saw no one.

Harold Elkins, another deputy, ran into Bowers in the railroad yard. Bowers said he had seen three out of state cars driving around the parking area behind the knoll just before the assassination. Two drove off before the shots. Lane mentions this. And the third? Lane leaves the reader to conjecture what the driver might or might not have done there.

"The last I saw of him he was pausing just about in—just above the assassination site."

Lane has this quote of Bowers. He doesn't have this one: "He left this area just about 12:25 p.m." The assassination occurred at 12:30 p.m.

(Bowers also said he saw two men watching over the fence about the time of the shots which arouses Lane's suspicions. Not, however, to the extent of mentioning Bowers saw "at least" one of them still there as police began fanning out over the area.)

In any event, Patrolman Charles Polk Player searched cars in the lot for two hours. He didn't report finding anything. Several hoboos found in freight cars were questioned. Seymour Weitzman found footprints "that didn't make sense because they were going different directions."

"Holland saw muddy footprints on a car bumper. Had an assassin stood there?"

No one had seen one. If he had, he had been able to gather up any shells from the ground in the brief time before police arrived because none was found. No rifle was found. Nothing. Nothing to add to what some people said they heard and saw around the knoll: some shots and a puff of smoke.

After searching the knoll area for a while, Weitzman went over to help at the depository. On the sixth floor, behind a rifle with a telescopic sight. The gun had been purchased by some one named A. Hidell whose handwriting was identical with Lee Harvey Oswald's.

Two persons said they saw a rifle being fired from the sixth floor of the depository. One was Howard Brennan. To weaken the case for the depository, it is important for the critics to weaken Brennan's testimony. This they try to do.

Epstein says Joseph Ball, a commission lawyer who investigated the identity of the assassin, "had several reasons to doubt Brennan's testimony."

Epstein lists them: "Brennan's 'difficulty seeing a figure' in the depository window during a re-enactment of the assassination; Brennan's failure to identify Oswald on "prominent points" of his clothing; Brennan's "major error" in testifying the assassin was standing while firing and "the fact that Brennan had lied at the police lineup."

Epstein notes, correctly, that Brennan testified the assassin was standing in the window as he shot. He does not note that Brennan also thought that three onlookers a floor beneath the assassin were also standing. They weren't. They were kneeling. So must the assassin have been to fire through the window. A small point. A small rebuttal — too small, evidently, to include in "Inquest."

Brennan Doubted

At a police lineup the day of the assassination, Brennan said he could not positively identify Oswald as the assassin. Four months later, he told the commission he could. He said he hadn't done so earlier because he feared Communist reprisal. Epstein uses this discrepancy to attack Brennan's credibility. He doesn't mention that the commission agrees with him.

Because Brennan declined to make positive identification of Oswald at the lineup, the commission said it "does not base its conclusion concerning the identity of the assassin on Brennan's subsequent certain identification."

The Post-Crescent A 9

The commission, however, does not question Brennan's credibility that he saw a man firing a rifle from a depository window because near that window were found not only a rifle but shells and fingerprints of Lee Harvey Oswald. (I might also be noted, although Epstein does not, that while on Nov. 22 Brennan said he could not make positive identification, he did then say that man No. 2 in the lineup "most closely resembled" the man he saw in the window. Lee Harvey Oswald was man No. 2).

There is also more to Epstein's allegation that Ball was "extremely dubious" about Brennan's testimony.
